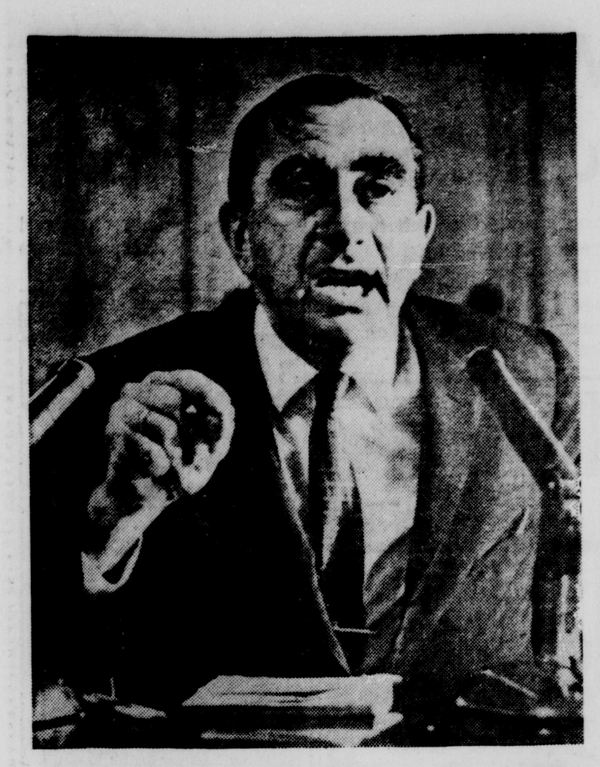
Teller Calls Treaty 'Dreadful Mistake'



OPPOSES TREATY RATIFICATION—Dr. Edward Teller testifies publicly today in opposition to ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty. The physicist told three Senate committees he believes the treaty was "possibly a step toward war." (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Edward Teller said today he believes the Soviet Union wants the limited nuclear test ban treaty because it has learned how to defend against oncoming missiles and hopes to prevent the United States from obtaining similar knowledge.

Ratification of the treaty would be "a tragic and dreadful mistake," he declared.

Teller, University of California nuclear physicist, told senators considering the pact that failure to ratify the treaty now that it has been signed would be a small mistake in the diplomatic field, but would not, however, endanger U.S. security.

Ratification, he added, would be "an enormously bigger mistake."

Teller said he believes the treaty is "not a step for peace but rather a step from safety, possibly a step toward war."

The last quarter of a century, he said, has been a time of "extremely rapid development, full of surprises."

"At no time have we known what the next step will bring," he said. "What we are now trying to do, essentially, is to predict the future."

Teller was the first outright opponent of the treaty to testify at hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, at which members of the Armed Services and Atomic Energy Committees are sitting in.

Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, testified against ratification of the treaty yesterday at closed hearings being conducted simultaneously by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, a unit of the Armed Services Committee.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, the Air Force chief of staff, expressed misgivings about the treaty at the Foreign Relations Committee's hearings yesterday, although he went along with the other service chiefs in supporting ratification provided specified security safeguards are carried out.

Teller, one of the creators of the hydrogen bomb, said the treaty banning tests in the atmosphere, in space, and under water would prohibit the United States from acquiring knowledge about the effects of nuclear weapons that he termed vital to the development of a missile defense.

Teller said that one of the many surprises in the nuclear field was the announcement by the Russians after their moratorium-breaking test series in 1961 that they had made "great strides toward a missile defense."

He said their test series gave the Russians every chance to make observations in the atmosphere for the development of an effective, or even a half effective, missile defense system.

Court Rejects State Senate Districts Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Supreme Court today turned down the request of Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty to order reapportionment of state senatorial districts.

The court also today ordered the Monterey County Board of Supervisors to reapportion the supervisorial districts of the county to "make them nearly equal in number of electors."

Yorty and Los Angeles County Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli, as taxpayers and qualified voters, had asked the court to order the state Reapportionment Commission to realign the boundaries of the 40 senatorial districts.

They asserted that, under present districting, the urban citizens, were far in the majority, were not adequately protected from the rural areas, which had the majority of senators.

The unanimous decision writtheten by Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson, said the Legislature, having acted on reapportionment after the 1960 census, barred the court from ordering the reapportionment commission to act.

The state constitution provides that if the Legislature acts, that settles the matter.

The court pointed out that in 1961 the Legislature had reapportioned the senatorial districts and, at present, there are 27 one-county districts, eight two-county districts and five three-county districts.

The Assembly reapportionment put a majority of the assemblymen in the city areas.

The court said however, that Yorty and his fellow petitioner were not barred from further court action.

In the Monterey case, Allen Griffin, publisher of the Monterey Peninsula Herald, had asked the court to order the supervisors to act, claiming there was broad inequality in the district representation on the board.

Griffin said the supervisors had been asked to change the districts but had refused.

Griffin said the Fifth District had more than 53 per cent of the population of the county, whereas the Fourth District had less than 1 per cent. He said less than 17.3 per cent of the registered voters elect a majority of three supervisors.

Tax Rate Cut By Two Cents In San Rafael

San Rafael's tax rate for 1963-64 fiscal year will drop two cents, to 94 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

City fathers last night set the 94-cent rate in a 3 to 2 vote.

The present tax rate is 96 cents—63 cents for general fund, 12 cents for parks, 11 cents for library, and 10 cents for retirement.

For the new fiscal year, two cents can be eliminated because the Albert Field bonds have been paid for, Councilman Louis H. Baar pointed out. Baar moved for a cut in tax rate to 94 cents, and Councilman Fred E. Jensen seconded the motion.

"I'm not going to vote for this, unless we can reduce the tax in a meaningful way," said Councilman Charles W. Aby.

"I think it is meaningful,"

Mill Valley Delays Action On Tax Rate

Mill Valley City councilmen last night adopted an ordinance setting the revenue for the city to be raised by property taxes at $480,900 but decided to hold a special meeting Saturday to set the tax rate.

The tax rate, councilmen said, may be 32 cents above last year's rate, or $2.30 per $100 assessed valuation.

Two reasons were given for the special meeting:

A need for mayor Joseph E. Sheeks and councilman Michael Wornum, who have been on vacation, to study the revised 1963-64 budget and a request from Wornum that a proposed fund of $2,500-$3,000

HERE'S PLACE TO GET ICE COLD LEMONADE

Young Mill Valley lemonade merchants were spared taxation last night when the city council agreed it would not require a $1 license to permit children to sell the juice of the lemon in front of their homes.

Harold Soule, administrative assistant, said the license had been inadvertently left off the list when the council considered all licenses to be upped in price by one third in recent budget sessions. The license, also to take in children selling cookies and Christmas cards, was proposed at $1 to last a six month period.

"Are you really serious?" asked Councilman Michael Wornum. "I can't see kids running around getting a license to sell cookies or run a lemonade stand."

San Rafael Puts City Hall On Sale

The present San Rafael City Hall site will be put up for public sale, and the proceeds used to develop the newly purchased city hall site on Fifth Avenue next to the city library.

The San Rafael city council so decided last night in a 4 to 1 decision, over the growling objections of Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

The Independent-Journal, which has its plant next to the city hall, has offered to purchase the site and allow the city to use a portion of it for parking for 10 years.

The terms of the sale, such as minimum price and conditions on the use of the site for city parking, will be drafted by the city manager and city attorney.

Councilmen asked that a draft of the terms be presented at the next meeting.

Councilman Jensen bitterly protested the sale of the city hall site. "I think we should sell it to the parking district instead of selling it to someone else. Then we'd still own it."

But Mayor John F. McInnis and councilmen Charles W. Aby, Louis H. Baar and Harry Barbier all agreed that the old site should be sold since the city has already purchased a site for the new city hall.

When it became evident he was in the minority, Jensen snapped: "I'm licked 4 to 1 already. I knew it when I came to the meeting tonight."

"My heart bleeds for you," said McInnis.

"You've been having meetings every day on this and I'm the only one who has not been invited," Jensen complained. He said he is the only one who is representing the "wishes of the people."

"Wait a minute!" interjected Aby. Aby said there were no daily meetings, and he went to the Chamber of Commerce at the chamber's invitation. "They are also citizens and taxpayers."

Mayor McInnis explained he had been invited to expose his views before the Chamber of Commerce and merchants. "Both committees were concerned with getting additional parking areas before the Northgate Shopping Center opens."

Councilman Baar said the competition from Northgate shopping center is the big reason why he is in favor of the immediate sale of the city hall site and development of additional parking areas.

Publisher Roy A. Brown and attorney Albert E. Bagshaw, representing the Independent-Journal, attended the meeting last night.

When the voting was over, Jensen turned to Brown: "If we were selling this to anyone else, you'd be yelling for our recall."

"You are not selling to Mr. Brown," replied attorney Bagshaw. You are merely putting it up to public bid, and Mr. Brown is exercising his right to bid along with anyone else."

Draper Buys Marin Bay In 10-Million-Dollar Deal

Option To Buy More Acreage

By HARRY CRAFT

The rolling hills, valleys and all improvements of Marin Bay have been purchased by the Draper Companies.

The announcement was made jointly by Jerome C. Draper Jr., president of the development firm and Chinn Ho, president of the Capital Investment Co. of Honolulu, at a breakfast meeting this morning at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club for Marin County civic leaders.

The transaction involves immediate purchase of approximately 1,000 acres of the 2,000-acre project for $10,000,000. The remaining 1,000 acres has been optioned for purchase within two years for an additional $3,400,000.

Included in the first parcel are 500 acres of residential lands already improved, the 150-acre Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club and 160 acres of potential residential and lands fronting on San Pablo Bay, along with the area known as China Camp.

SECOND PARCEL

The second parcel covers the lands described as the "north valley."

The Draper Companies, already a principal land owner in Marin, is the developer of the Northgate Regional Shopping Center in San Rafael and the Northgate Industrial Park on Highway 101 at Lucas Valley Road.

The San Francisco real estate firm of Cox and Carskadon represented both parties in the transaction. The Capital Investment Co. was further represented by San Francisco attorney Peter Hunt, and the Draper Companies was represented by Lloyd W. Dinkelspiel Jr. of Heller, Ehrman, White and McAuliffe.

Fox and Carskadon will be in charge of all land sales at Marin Bay for the Draper Companies, and Lawrence Halprin has been appointed to handle all land planning and landscape architecture.

IN CHARGE

Draper Companies vice president A. G. Michaud will be in charge of Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club activities. Michaud said no change in the club's personnel is contemplated.

$30,000 Marin Study On Industry Proposed

Freshman Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker electrified his board colleagues today by proposing compilation of a $30,000 study on what industries might be attracted to Marin County with approval of residents.

At the same time he revealed that he had a pledge of $15,000 toward such study from a single company.

He said he thought Marin might pay at least part of the remaining $15,000 but volunteered to raise the whole amount privately if it seemed necessary.

Everybody seemed both startled and charmed by this set-up but it was finally decided to take one week for investigation of what might be best. Chairman William D. Fusselman named Leydecker chairman of the investigating committee.

The study would be made, according to Leydecker's idea, by the Stanford Research Institute which Supervisor Peter Behr was prompt to term "a sound choice, almost a quasi-government group."

The $15,000 initially pledged is from the Draper Companies of San Francisco, which said in a letter that "with Northgate Industrial Park the first planned architecturally con-

$5,000 Given To Beautify San Rafael

Chinn Ho, president of Capital Investment Co., retiring developer of Marin Bay, kept a promise to the City of San Rafael this morning.

In making a short farewell address to assembled city councilmen, Marin County supervisors and civic leaders at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, Ho said he had not forgotten his statement that he would do something for the beautification of San Rafael.

"I'm going to keep that promise right now," he announced, "and write a check for $5,000 to do with as you see fit. I'll make it out to Mayor John F. McInnis and Roy Brown of the Independent-Journal, who can act as trustees."

Ho signed the check after the breakfast meeting was concluded and handed it to city councilman Fred Jensen "for safe keeping."

"Just because we have sold Marin Bay to the Draper Companies, this does not mean we have lost interest in Marin County," Ho told the group. "You'll probably be seeing us around—perhaps sooner than you think."

He included in this statement his vice president and former Marin Bay manager Edwin Lee. Lee will now be headquartered at the San Francisco offices of Capital Investment Co.

Ho said the company had other interests in Northern California, and some day may be back in Marin.

Kennedy May Take Trip Of West's Nature Sites

Political Exposure Seen In Advance Of Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John E. Kennedy is considering a swing into the West that would give him a chance too look over efforts to preserve natural resources, natural wonders and wilderness areas—and to get some political exposure in advance of the 1964 campaign.

Under present planning, he would venture into Arizona, the home of Sen. Barry Goldwater, regarded as the top contender for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Nothing has been settled, but the talk has reached the point that the White House is reported on reliable authority to have asked the Interior Department several weeks ago to outline a possible journey. And some advance work on a trip may be undertaken shortly.

The trip may be undertaken in October and might take Kennedy by plane, train, and auto from Grand Coulee Dam in the Northwest to Glen Canyon Dam in Arizona. Ceremonies are on tap at each place in October.

Kennedy recently canceled an engagement to appear Oct. 7 in Atlanta at the celebration of the 75th anniversary of Georgia Tech.

The White House gave a rather vague explanation that Kennedy might be busy elsewhere at that time.

The trip, one administration official said, would be "oriented primarily to conservation." It might last four or five days.

And while conservation might get the obvious emphasis, Kennedy still would be showing up in an area where he would hope to do better politically next year than he did in 1960, particularly since some Southern Democrats are saying the President might not fare so well in their realm.

Kennedy carried Nevada, New Mexico, and Washington in 1960. He lost Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah and Wyoming.

Apparently there is no thought that Kennedy might be able to visit anywhere near all of these states this fall. Some of those familiar with the preliminary work say he could be expected to go to Washington, Utah, Colorado and Arizona.

While California has not received serious consideration, one administration authority said that "we know people who are pressing for the inclusion of California and possibly it will be worked in."

A visit to the Columbia River basin in Washington probably would be in connection with the 30th anniversary of the start of construction of Grand Coulee Dam. And at Glen Canyon Dam in northern Arizona, just south of the Colorado border, the ceremony of "topping it off" also is an October goal. Topping off is the construction term for finishing the top of the dam.

While he is in the area, if he goes, Kennedy might have a look at the Grand Canyon.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, from Arizona, would be expected to travel with Kennedy. So would Sen. Clint P. Anderson (D-N.M.).

And Kennedy was urged by the senator last May to go West and see some of the areas involved.

South State Governors Put Off Fight

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Southern governors adopted today a unanimity rule which forestalled a possible fight over anti-civil rights proposals.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, in a surprise act, not only agreed to the rule change but also seconded the move at the Southern Governors Conference.

Eleven governors voted for the change, which means that any resolution will need a unanimous vote for adoption.

Wallace's anti-civil rights resolutions had threatened to divide the conference.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, chairman, appointed four moderates and one segregationist, Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi, to the resolutions committee.

Others named were Govs. Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware, chairman; Carl Sanders of Georgia; John B. Connally of Texas, and Terry Sanford of North Carolina.

Wallace explained he favored the unanimity rule because it gives him veto power over any resolutions he does not like. He did not elaborate.

The rules change followed a marching demonstration yesterday by some 100 Negroes and several white persons to the gate of the Greenbrier Hotel where the governors were in session. They carried signs denouncing Wallace and Barnett.

Liz, Guests See 'Cleopatra'

LONDON (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor saw her movie "Cleopatra" last night for the first time.

Richard Burton, her co-star on and off screen, was not among her 43 guests, members of Russia's Bolshoi Ballet troupe who have been touring Britain.

Liz and Burton were absent from the London premiere of "Cleopatra" last month.

Successor To Kefauver Chosen

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Herbert S. (Hub) Walters, a conservative Democrat and a self-made millionaire, was appointed to the Senate succeeding the late Estes Kefauver.

Walters

Walters, 71, democratic national committeeman from Morristown, Tenn., was named by Gov. Frank Clement who took time out from the southern governors conference to return here and make the announcement.

Walters, who parlayed a team of mules into a giant road-building firm, is a close friend of Clements, but his politics are more conservative and described by friends as similar to those of Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.)

Kefauver was regarded one of the most liberal of Southern Democrats.

Mrs. Merryman had a birthday cake in her hotel room.

She said a major ingredient of her recipe for a long and hppy life is to "learn to laugh at the world and learn to laugh at yourself."

Goldwater Not Seeking Nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), has said he would be "inclined" to stay out of state primary races, if he decided to make a bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

Goldwater

However, Goldwater said he was not trying to capture the Republican nomination.

"At this moment I have no intention" of running, Goldwater said.

In a question and answer session before a group of college students, Goldwater said he liked his Senate job.

The real challenge of government was in Congress where the will of the people could be be expressed, Goldwater said.

Queried on the civil rights march scheduled for Aug. 28, Goldwater said he was in favor of the Negro demonstration.

"I think it's wise if they can control it," he said.

Truck Driver Pays Drunk Fine

Jack Huff, 45, a Tiburon truck driver, paid $166 fine yesterday for drunken driving. It was his first offense.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 near Corte Madera last Saturday. For the next three months, Huff may drive only for work.

He lives at Hilarita Housing in Tiburon.

Plain Writing Advice Given To Diplomats

Ball Also Suggests Better Relations With Press Corps

Stop cluttering up your memos with obscure wording, the No. 2 man at the State Department told U.S. diplomats at a recent American Foreign Service Assn. meeting.

And cultivate "a discreet but serious relation with the press—no matter in what remote post you may find yourself," Ball advised.

CRITICISMS

A former lawyer and a political appointee of the Kennedy administration, Ball voiced general admiration for the performance of career foreign service officers, but he tossed in some criticisms. His views were printed today in the State Department's monthly newsletter, distributed to employees here and abroad.

The days are long past when diplomacy could be conducted in pure secrecy, Ball said. Public interest in foreign affairs is so great that "we should be wise enough to take account of the public nature of our diplomacy rather than merely deplore it," he said.

PRESS RELATIONS

While "many a high and serious enterprise has been undone by a foolish lead," he said, on other occasions worthy negotiations have lost much of their success because of press misunderstanding or misrepresentation.

"In more cases than not, this failure has resulted from the fact that our diplomats . . . have neglected . . . to inform the press adequately, yielding that particular field of battle to the adversary," he said.

OBSCURE MEMOS

As for "the documents that you ladies and gentlemen draft and which, after 87 clearances, find their way to my desk," Ball said he has found little sympathy in the State Department for the straight-forward sentence.

He suggested some memo writing figure that language is to be used for concealing ideas, rather than expressing them.

"And while I have unlimited admiration for the linguistic achievements of the foreign service, I do wish you would not constantly send me memoranda that appear to have been literally translated from one of the more obscure vernaculars you have mastered," he added.

Board To Meet

The board of directors of the Marin County branch of the Henry George School of Social Sciences will meet tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Dr. Arthur R. Ablin of 43 Culloden Park Road, San Rafael.

Inflation, Money Shortage Causes Grumbling In Egypt

CAIRO (AP) — An unsettling burst of inflation, coupled with a growing hard-currency shortage, is causing concern among top officials and grumbling among the population of Egypt.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser's socialist regime has been able, until now, to stabilize the cost of living. For 11 years it was almost unchanged. The people got used to it. They are complaining now in the coffee houses about increased prices and the belt-tightening which the government hints might follow.

The problems are being taken up in the controlled press—a sure sign they are serious. Price increases are being blamed largely on wholesalers and small merchants in the food industry.

This is the last big segment of Egypt's economy in private hands.

Supply Minister Ramzy Stino has broadly threatened to take it out of private hands unless the price line is held. But at the same time, experts say, Stino must weigh any nationalization plan carefully because the food distribution system is complicated.

There are no official figures revealing how sharply prices have risen.

Meat, fruits and vegetables inched up in private stores. Barbers, tailors and small shopkeepers followed suit.

Even minor price increases are serious since vast numbers of workers raise families on $15 a month or less.

However, real wages have been creeping up, despite bursting population growth. Since imports are sharply restricted and local production insufficient, the inflationary pressure is obvious.

In addition, the war in Yemen has been soaking up a minimum of $30 million annually in hard money. Prestige projects like rockets and jet plane development are costly.

Mrs. Azevedo Suggested For Transit Study

Mrs. Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon has been recommended to Gov. Edmund G. Brown by the Marin Council for Civci Affairs for appointment to the proposed San Francisco Bay Area Transportation Study.

The council has recommended that Mrs. Azevedo, a member of the council's board of directors, serve on the 37 member Regional Study Policy Committee. The committee will consist of 30 government officials, three labor representatives and four citizens.

Mrs. Azevedo, a former member of the Democratic County Central Committee and the Marin County Planning Commission, is vice president of the newly formed Congress of Bay Area Citizens' Organizations. She is also a member of the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council.

"I would accept this appointment with willingness," said Mrs. Azevedo. "Anyone serving on the study from Marin should try to preserve Marin's beauties while accommodating himself to regional demands. We can't ignore the fact we're a pathway from the north.

"I'd ilke to see a transportation plan for the entire Bay Area that is politically and financially feasible and still comes as near as possible to preserving the environment we want."

COUNCILMEN TAKE DIM ANNEX VIEW

Tam High School Would Mean Increase In Mill Valley's Costs, Revenue Cut

"We're not anxious to proceed with annexation (of Tamalpaisalpais High School) but we're open to discussion, feeling certain conditions would have to be imposed," Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks of Mill Valley said last night voicing the opinion of his fellow councilmen.

Annexation has been discussed favorably by Tamalpais Union High School District trustees.

"I don't think we should take action until a petition is presented," Councilman George Blackwell stated. He also brought out that city engineer Stanley M. Bala has said annexation would mean the school would have to pay $17,800 as its share for sidewalks along property from Camino Alto to the Almonte Junction.

"I'm not in favor of annexation," said Councilman Michael Wornum, adding "We will have fire, road and police problems and lose $3,780 in cash." This amount, he said, would be lost because the school would stop paying sewer charges it now pays if it annexes.

"If they press annexation, Blackwell said, "we would have to consider an annual levy to compensate us for the services the city offers."

Councilman George D. with "what has been said."

Police chief Dan Terzich, in a letter, said annexation would increase tremendously the work load of his department and increased personnel would become a "must."

He said the sheriff's office averages four to six calls a week on complaints to the school, many of which would necessitate follow-up calls to places such as Bolinas, Muir Woods, Sausalito, Stinson Beach, Belvidere, Tiburon, Marin City, Larkspur and Corte Madera.

The council also instructed Bala to prepare plans and specifications for a bird centrifuge, a piece of equipment for dewatering sludge at the sewage treatment plant, and agreed that future work at the plant should be referred to Bala, replacing Trotter and Associates. Total cost of the centrifuge is estimated at $50,000, of which Almonte would pay $3,620, Kay Park, $1,315; Alto, $1,680 and Mill Valley the remainder.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Introduced and read by title only an ordinance to annex 5.8 acres of land in Scott Valley, Scott III, to be used as a swimming pool and tennis courts.
2. Authorized signing of a contract for Marin Avenue repairs of $13,026 but said work is not to start until three easements are signed.
3. Adopted an ordinance stating that utilities for new subdivisions may be placed underground and continued discussion on a proposed ordinance to put utilities underground on lower Miller Avenue.
4. Introduced a new tree ordinance and accepted a parks and recreation commission recommendation that Lt. Col. Mark E. Cory may cut down one tree and trim the rest near his property at 7 Robertson Terrace. cost to be borne by Cory.
5. Instructed acting city attorney Hadden Roth to write a new contract leasing the city's bus depot to Greyhound Lines for $125 a month starting in November for one year, $150 the second year, on a two year lease. Present fee is $68 per month. Greyhound is to police the building area outside and paint inside within six months.
6. Restated policy that city not accept any sewer line for maintenance until a maintenance bond has been provided.
7. Adopted resolution accepting Gerald A. Kott deed for a strip of land about 400 feet long for Three Wells trail.
8. Introduced ordinance read by title only to increase planning fees by one-third.
10. Asked Bala for information regarding sewer installation in Camino Alto-Miller Avenue extension area following Herb Shapiro's request for city engineering for sewerage for that area.
11. Voted 3-2, Sheeks and Wornum voting "No," to ask Roth to draft an ordinance setting up the cost for property owners to annex to the city.
12. Heard from city auditor Frederic D. Kerr that the finance department is "adequately staffed but not overstaffed."
13. Authorized Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to install five lights on Fairway Drive.
14. Heard that completion of dredging in the small craft harbor will be three to six months later than originally estimated because of problems with tides and that filling the sides of the channel will begin between January and April of 1964.
15. Asked the library board for a recommended library site by Sept. 3.
16. Asked city manager A. E. Almcrants to determine if pay day for city employees every other Friday instead of bi-monthly as at present would be a good idea.
17. Approved $44,891 in warrants.

Mill Valley Boy Leads Chase, Hides 2 Hours

A 16-year-old Mill Valley boy led California Highway patrolmen on a chase up to 60 miles an hour through Strawberry early today—then hid for two hours before surrendering.

The boy was cited for wreckless driving, speeding, failing to observe stop signs and failing to drive on the right side of the road.

CHP officers Samuel Thomas and John Halligan said they spotted the boy about 12:30 a. m. on a frontage road of Richardson Flats and chased him northbound.

The officers said that as they chased him west on Reed Boulevard he tried to turn sharply into Richardson Drive and cut up the lawn of W. G. Young at 105 Richardson. They said he turned around and fled west down the hill on Reed Boulevard.

The officers chased him to his home where they found his car in the driveway. But they said he hid for two hours before phoning the CHP and surrendering.

The boy was ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court, juvenile session, Sept. 3.

San Rafael Council Denies Apartment Zone

San Rafael city councilman denied apartment zoning last night for John Moran, two lots at the end of Jewell Court.

About 40 residents of the Belle Avenue area, packed the city hall to protest the rezoning of the lot, which contains a landmark commonly known as Eagle Rock.

Moran has an adjacent lot on Valencia where he plans 20 units of apartments. This is already zoned for apartments.

He wanted apartment zoning for two more lots at the end of Jewell Court.

Moran's son, Lance Moran, spoke for the rezoning last night. Mrs. Gedge Knopf of 23 Belle Avenue and Wendell Slayton of 10 Belle Avenue were the chief spokesmen opposing the rezoning. The opponents gave congestion and invasion of privacy as reasons for protesting the rezoning.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Continued until Sept. 16, an appeal for a two-lot subdivision at 2122 Fourth Street.
2. Gave property owners permission to landscape a traffic island at the corner of Scenic Avenue, Crescent Drive and Bayo Vista Way.
3. Gave Edward H. Maxwell of 241 Coleman Drive an encroachment permit to install a culvert and driveway.
4. Granted Richfield Oil Co. an encroachment permit for a sign to overhang into the city right of way at East Francisco Boulevard and Tiburon Street.
5. Passed a resolution accepting a deed to Bordenave property at 98 Shaver Street. This will be needed for extension of Third Street. City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen reported that the city negotiated purchase of the Bordenave land for $17,000.
6. Promoted James P. Kelly from maintenance man to equipment operator, with a salary of $512; appointed J. F. Caputo as yard clerk at $297 per month; and W. D. Purton as assistant building inspector at $525 per month.

Police Believe Story About Baby

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Police say they believe the story of a San Carlos mother who told them she tossed the dead body of her 2-year-old daughter off the Golden Gate Bridge in June.

San Mateo County District Attorney Keith Sorenson said Monday, "there will be no charges placed against" Mrs. Ann Buckleman, 36. She has been in a hospital psychiatric ward since being returned from New York City in June.

She said that she went there after throwing Julia Ann, her daughter, off the bridge after the child died in a fall at home. The body hasn't been recovered, however, and the case isn't considered closed, police said.

Police Tear Gas Chanting Negroes

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP)—State troopers, armed with tear gas, today stood watch over the streets of this Louisiana town where blistering tear gas volleys drove back some 400 chanting Negroes.

Police arrested 17 marching demonstrators last night. Then, they hauled all but one in a school bus to jail in nearby Donaldsville. A local doctor doctor was released on $300 bond.

Officers said the group—which included James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality—would have overburdened the crowded jail in Plaquemine where Negro leaders are pushing a voter registration drive.

County Planners Puzzled By Floating Mobile Homes

When is a houseboat a trailer?

Marin County Planning Commissioners puzzled over this question yesterday in an effort to determine whether "floating mobile homes" might fall under the zoning ordinance classification regulating trailer camps.

Principal planner Sidney Shaw told the commission that the ordinance is "so broad that it can include almost anything." He asked for a definition because of impending requests to install a new kind of floating home in the Richardson Bay area.

The homes, including several rooms and built on wood or concrete barges, are larger than the usual houseboat and their "mobility" is limited.

"I'm familiar with these new homes," said commissioner Felix M. Warburg, "and I think they may offer a great potential for people in Marin to live on the mud flats without filling in any tidelands." He said the homes "are not designed to be moveable" and should probably come under the subdivision ordinance rather than trailer park regulations.

Shaw said the fact that the homes do not have wheels may be of some significance, but a number of court decisions have held that "trailers without wheels are still trailers."

The problem is whether the floating homes fit the ordinance's definition of a dwelling "occupied by persons traveling by automobile or otherwise."

Keeping in mind Warburg's assumption that the homes on barges are not intended for travel, Shaw said he would look for a more complete definition.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

1. Approved an amendment to the Loma Verde master plan which would allow construction of a 136-unit apartment development instead of the planned 85 units on 7.25 acres of land south of San Jose Boulevard between Alameda Del Prado and San Jose Creek.
2. Continued to Sept. 16 consideration of John Sekulich's request to construct a house eight feet from the rear property line, instead of the required 25 feet, at the end of Maestro Road in Novato. Fifteen adjacent property owners protested the request.
3. Approved a use permit allowing placement of a house trailer for a night watchman at Marin County Airport near Novato for a period up to five years. Commissioner Warburg dissented.
4. Approved a use permit for construction of the Church of the Nativity on the extension of Ellen Drive, near Lucas Valley Road in Marinwood. The request had been continued from earlier meetings to adjust parking requirements.
5. Allowed an adjustment to permit construction of two three-story duplexes 12 feet from front property lines, where 25 feet is required, at 2079 Paradise Drive, Tiburon. The duplexes will be part of Lyford's Hygeia and will include garages on the lower floors.
6. Approved construction of another duplex in Lyford's Hygeia, at 1990 Centro West Street, Tiburon. The lot was included as a "public reservation" site in the Tiburon master plan, because of the view from the hilltop, but planning director said the land was inaccessible an dnot likely to be purchased for any public use.
7. Granted a use permit to the San Geronimo Valley Community Presbyterian Church to operate a nursery school for 14 children in the church education building at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and San Geronimo-Nicasio Road in San Geronimo.
8. Allowed Lloyd Kahn, Jr., of 11 Walker Road, Alto, to build a nine-foot-high fence around his property. The usual limit for fence height is six feet but would not be high enough to screen Kahn's view of traffic on Highway 101.
9. Denied George Rubino permission to build additions to a cottage at 61 Linden Lane, Homestead Valley, because of lack of parking spaces and heavy traffic on the narrow street. If the building were rented, the extra cars on the street would be a hazard, neighbors said.
10. Set Oct. 21 for a public hearing on amendments to industrial zoning ordinances which would prohibit residential construction in such zones.
11. Set Sept. 16 for further discussion of the need for a county-wide trailer ordinance and possible dates for public hearings. The commission will not meet before Sept. 16 because of the Labor Day holiday.

Forde Bids Low For Street Job

E. A. Forde Co. of Corte Madera will resurface several streets in San Rafael for a total cost of $24,287.

That bid by Forde was the lowest of four submitted last night to the San Rafael City Council. The other offers were $25,573 by Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael; $25,643 by Ghilotti Bros. of San Rafael; and $28,842 by Lee Mac Paving Co. of Corte Madera.

The job calls for resurfacing of Canal Street, a portion of Harbor Street, Louise and Medway in East San Rafael and a portion of Knight Drive and Dellwood Court in Glenwood subdivision.

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin's 11,000-man Allied garrison moved into defense positions throughout the Western half of the divided city today on a practice alert.

Police Believe Story About Baby

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Police say they believe the story of a San Carlos mother who told them she tossed the dead body of her 2-year-old daughter off the Golden Gate Bridge in June.

San Mateo County District Attorney Keith Sorenson said Monday, "there will be no charges placed against" Mrs. Ann Buckleman, 36. She has been in a hospital psychiatric ward since being returned from New York City in June.

She said that she went there after throwing Julia Ann, her daughter, off the bridge after the child died in a fall at home. The body hasn't been recovered, however, and the case isn't considered closed, police said.

Police Tear Gas Chanting Negroes

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP)—State troopers, armed with tear gas, today stood watch over the streets of this Louisiana town where blistering tear gas volleys drove back some 400 chanting Negroes.

Police arrested 17 marching demonstrators last night. Then, they hauled all but one in a school bus to jail in nearby Donaldsville. A local doctor doctor was released on $300 bond.

Officers said the group—which included James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality—would have overburdened the crowded jail in Plaquemine where Negro leaders are pushing a voter registration drive.

*Methyl—® trademark for antiknock compound

We'll gladly patch up your punctured pride.

Anytime your traveling companion comes down with a limp, the man at the sign of the Chevron will get you back on the road fast.

He'll also give you bumper-to-bumper service, and your choice of three grades of gasoline. Why three? So you can choose a gasoline made to fit the requirements of your car—without paying for extra power you can't use.

All three gasolines have Methyl* power—a research breakthrough in antiknock compounds that stands up under the extreme temperatures of high compression engines. Unlike others, Methyl spreads evenly to all cylinders, giving uniform antiknock performance. And it combines with all the other ingredients required for the best performance a car can deliver.

For the very highest-powered cars, use Custom, highest-powered gasoline in the West. For all other high-compression cars, fill up with Supreme. For cars designed to run on regular, choose Chevron.

PUTTING OUT CHICKEN NOW ON FIRE LIST

Marinwood firemen rushed to the N. G. Hill home at 275 Ironstone Court yesterday, not to put out the fire, but to put out the chicken.

The Hills, who went on vacation Saturday, accidentally left the pet chicken, "Inky," locked in the garage. Nancy, 18, and Laura Rikles, 14, of 2718 Heatherstone Drive, commissioned to take care of the Hills' pets during the vacation, said they heard the chicken scratching in the garage.

Firemen cut a padlock on the door to let the chicken out. They then closed the garage and put a new lock on it.

North Marin Unification Report Set

Members of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization will get their first look at the detailed report on North Marin School district unifications tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center.

The final report from Booz, Allen and Hamilton, management consultants, will be presented to the committee at its regular meeting. A preliminary report indicated the area should be made up of two unified districts, one including Dixie and San Rafael districts and the other including Novato and San Jose districts.

Specific proposals, maps and charts related to the unification schemes will be included in the final report. The committee will also continue discussion of planned public hearings on the proposed unification of the entire Tamalpais High School District.

Denver Police Catch Suspect

Denver police have notified San Rafael police that they have picked up a 40-year-old man over the weekend wanted for passing a forged $125 check in San Rafael on March 18.

Stephen F. Hazlett, a former waiter at the Cellars, 534 Fourth Street, San Rafael, forged restaurant owner Al Stanley's name to a check which he cashed at the restaurant's bar, according to police.

Hazlett is also wanted for forging a $100 check in Berkeley, police said.

College Board To Try To Cut Building Cost

Marin Junior College District trustees and their architects and engineers agreed yesterday to try to reduce the cost of a College of Marin physical education complex by 10 per cent to avoid a two to three month delay that would result from new bidding.

Such a cut would reduce the cost to about $160,000 less than the low bid of $1,618,313 by Ralph Larsen and Son of South San Francisco. The bid exceeded the college district's estimate by $334,739.

Whether the 10 per cent reduction can be made awaits a conference between Falk and Booth, architects and engineers, with the Larsens.

The conference with six firm members at their office in San Francisco was attended by trustees Robert Oliver, Kent Seymour and Mrs. Elizabeth Deedy and college president Stephen Epler, business manager Norman Bird and physical education director Harry Peiper.

They studied a long list of possible cost cuts.

After this meeting, Mrs. Deedy visited the Marin County counsel's office. She was informed that four trustees must approve the changes sought in the contract. Changes of more than 10 per cent would require rebidding, causing delay in construction.

Falk and Booth will make recommendations to trustees after talking with the Larsens.

replied Baar. "We've eliminated the Albert Field bond payment, so we can cut it off the tax rate."

Councilman Harry Barbier said he would prefer to see a two-year plan worked out before any tax cut is made. "If we waited until next year, maybe we could reduce the rate further. I wouldn't want to knock it down two cents now and bring it back up the next year."

Aby and Barbier voted to retain the 96 cents rate. Mayor John F. McInnis joined Baar and Jensen to vote for the two cents cut.

Police Blocked In Streetcar Investigation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police said today they are unable to get further information on yesterday's streetcar collision in Twin Peaks tunnel which injured 11 persons.

They said Muny railway policy permits giving the Police Department only the barest facts while railway investigators conduct their own probe.

One crowded car rammed the rear of another 420 feet inside the west entrance to the tunnel. The forward car was knocked 135 feet ahead. The second skidded more than 85 feet, police reported.

Passengers screamed as sparks flew from the trolley poles and short-circuited overhead wires.

The injuries were said not to be serious.

3 Girls Injured In 2-Car Wreck In San Rafael

A two-car accident at Mission Avenue and Irwin Street yesterday at 9:46 p. m. resulted in injuries to three young girls.

In satisfactory condition today at San Rafael General Hospital was Lavonne Marie Smith, 20 of 23 Oakwood Drive, San Rafael, with a cut right eyebrow and a bruised rib cage and right knee.

Sandra Sue Bates, 19, of 40 Idlewood Road, Kentfield, was treated for sprains of both hands and a broken finger and Paula Jo Glantz, 18, of 602 Wakerobin Lane, Terra Linda, was treated for a bruised shoulder and ribs.

Miss Bates was driving west on Mission Avenue and Eudora Ann Tribble of 11 Unionstone Drive, Marinwood, was driving north on Irwin Street. Miss Glantz was a passenger in the car being driven by Miss Tribble, while Miss Smith was in the car being driven by Miss Bates, San Rafael police said.

British, U.S. Agree On Naval Cooperation

LONDON (UPI) — Britain and the United States have agreed to tighten naval cooperation in the Caribbean to prevent further use of British-owned islands by rival Cuban bands, it was announced today.

The announcement came less than 12 hours after minority leaders in the Bahaman legislature at Nassau demanded a special session to discuss last week's capture by Castro commands of 19 Cuban refugees from British-owned Anguilla Key and request their return.

Corte Madera Drug Store Needs Vote

A move to put a professional pharmacy into the Bank of America building in Corte Madera appeared blocked today by failure of a sufficient town council majority favoring it.

Councilmen Albert E. Kogler and Robert I. La Dow were absent last night.

After nearly one hour of debate the council last night voted 2-1 to adopt an ordinance affirming a 3-2 planning commission decision approving an application for the pharmacy.

But 10 minutes later Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis said state law required three council votes to pass an ordinance. Mayor Edward W. Colthurst had voted "no" on the motion by Councilman Norman R. Barnett seconded by Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Robert F. Vogel, who had left the council chamber at 9:50 p.m. thinking he could open his pharmacy, was phoned by Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow and told of Davis' opinion.

A later council meeting, if council wishes it, may reconsider the matter when Councilman Kogler is present. If a later meeting approves the ordinance by a majority of three the application will be granted.

Colthurst said he thought granting the application would "violate the agreement," adding, "Sanford wanted to keep as much commercial and retail use out as possible."

Pendleton and Barnett held that the application could be approved under a clause in the agreement "providing for professional and administrative activities of semi-commercial character."

trolled, industrial park in Marin County, the Draper Companies has a vested interest in attracting industry — the right kind of industry for Marin and for our development of the county."

Leydecker stressed fine work already done by others, notably the Marin County Development Assn. But said resources thus far have been limited as compared with what the research institute could do in studying "the types of industry, and employees, that people here would be interested in having come to us, and which we could attract, as well as the specific steps we might take."

An example of "How we are losing out" at present, Leydecker said, is the decision of State Farm Insurance Co. to go to Santa Rosa rather than Marin after removing its western regional headquarters from Berkeley.

"Marin may not have had a chance," said Leydecker, "but I am satisfied everyone in Marin would have been happy if they had come here."

Farm Fire Cause Can't Be Found

It will probably be impossible to determine the cause of a fire which burned a garage and killed farm animals Sunday afternoon on the ranch of Joseph Sequeira, Marinwood Asst. Fire Chief Joseph D. Medley said today.

He said members of the Sequeira family were on the ranch, near Miller Creek Road, when they saw the large garage in flames, but none had any idea what may have started the fire.

The fire killed a colt, calf, two turkeys and about 75 chickens. Also destroyed in the blaze were three vintage automobiles owned by Sequeira.

Ludy Finds Fence Piled On Driveway

Working under the cover of darkness, a handful of Inverness residents stole to the bottom of Balmoral Way, cut down the controversial chain link fence that has blocked the foot path, and dumped it in a heap in the front drive of county supervisor George H. Ludy.

Ludy said today he knows who the culprits are and has had the fence put back up. "Shall I take further steps?" he asked. "Well, I rather think I may."

Last month 105 Inverness residents signed a petition asking the board of supervisors to take down the fence and reopen the path, which has been used for 50 years.

Ludy ordered the path shut down because "it created too much risk for the county to take, and it (the county) would be liable."

Ludy said today he woke up to discover the 50-foot fence in his driveway.

"At first I thought nothing of it because I have some similar fencing nearby and thought it had been accidentally dragged out. But when I examined it closely I found it had been cut so I jumped in my car, went to the path and found it was the county fence.

"I got in touch with the sheriff's office and the department of public works and the fencing was replaced.

"I know who did it and now realize it was brought to my home by pickup truck about 11 o'clock last night."

said, "Our company's business is land development and making money for our investors. We were able to sell at a profit and it would have been unfair to our investors if we had failed to do so. It's as simple as that."

The Marin Bay property was bought in March, 1956 from the Stegge Development Co. for less than $4,000,000. At that time the land covered more than 2,200 acres. John Stegge had purchased it from the McNear family in 1955.

Later the Perini Corp. of San Francisco purchased an interest in the project and the developing firm was known as Latipac-Perini, Inc. The Capital Investment Co. repurchased the joint venture Perini interest last April.

In commenting on Draper's plans for the property, vice president Michaud said the company will proceed immediately with projected capital improvements for the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, including the installation of a swimming pool and pool house, and professional tennis courts for club members. "The entire Marin Bay development will be accelerated," he said.

be in the budget to help people set up assessment districts to repair streets.

Money raised from property taxis now 52 per cent of the city income, councilman George D. Monardo said and he believes it should be held at 48 to 50 per cent. (Other money is raised from sales and gas tax and licensing.)

The special session, to be at 9 a.m. in city hall, was set when it was learned that the tax rate must be fixed prior to the last Tuesday in August.

Wornum said he would like to be sure the budget includes some money to assist people on Del Casa Drive to repair their street. He acknowledged that this would up the tax rate, now tentatively set at $2.29 by one cent. Last year's rate was $1.98. The total budget for 1963-64 is tentatively set at $920,130.

reactionary forces which desire to throw the world into a new castastrophe," Tito said.

Khrushchev, in reply, thanked Tito for inviting him to Yugoslavia and said he was looking forward to continuing talks begun during Tito's visit to Moscow last December.

In an open affront to the Red Chinese, Khrushchev again paid tribute to Yugoslavia as a socialist country.

The Chinese denounce Tito as a deviationist and agent of imperialism who has sabotaged socialism in Yugoslavia.

The Red Chinese snubbed Khrushchev by sending a second secretary to the airport instead of a top embassy official. They merely said the Chinese charge d'affairs, who is in Belgrade, was unable to come.

The two-week schedule for Khrushchev's visit leaves ample time for the leaders to explore the growing reconciliation between their brands of communism and its effect on Khrushchev's relations with Red China and Tito's with the West.

'Logger' Gets Tickets

Vern Bristol, Mill Valley's "boy logger," was given three citations yesterday afternoon by police for parking a trailor on the city street across from his home at 321 West Blithedale Avenue. Report of the alleged violation was made by K. R. Danison of 309 Corte Madera Avenue.

OBITUARIES

Carl Burton Dies At 65 In His Home

Carl H. Burton, 65, a retired inspector for the Army Engineers, died at his home at 203 Auburn Street, San Rafael, today after a long illness.

Burton, who was ill for the past four years, had been home from the hospital about a month and was due to return.

He had been active in construction work all his adult life, first in Missouri and later in California. His last job was as inspector at the Marysville Dam project.

A native of Glasgow, Mo., he had been a resident of San Rafael for the past 21 years. He came to work at Marinship during World War II. He was a member of the Christian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Dottie, of the home address; three daughters, Mrs. John Prola of San Leandro, Mrs. James W. 30-DAY FORECAST

Slightly above normal temperatures and dry weather are predicted for the San Francisco Bay Area according to this map based on the United States Weather Bureau's forecast.

PUTTING OUT CHICKEN NOW ON FIRE LIST

Marinwood firemen rushed to the N. G. Hill home at 275 Ironstone Court yesterday, not to put out the fire, but to put out the chicken.

The Hills, who went on vacation Saturday, accidentally left the pet chicken, "Inky," locked in the garage. Nancy, 18, and Laura Rikles, 14, of 2718 Heatherstone Drive, commissioned to take care of the Hills' pets during the vacation, said they heard the chicken scratching in the garage.

Firemen cut a padlock on the door to let the chicken out. They then closed the garage and put a new lock on it.

North Marin Unification Report Set

Members of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization will get their first look at the detailed report on North Marin School district unifications tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center.

The final report from Booz, Allen and Hamilton, management consultants, will be presented to the committee at its regular meeting. A preliminary report indicated the area should be made up of two unified districts, one including Dixie and San Rafael districts and the other including Novato and San Jose districts.

Specific proposals, maps and charts related to the unification schemes will be included in the final report. The committee will also continue discussion of planned public hearings on the proposed unification of the entire Tamalpais High School District.

Denver Police Catch Suspect

Denver police have notified San Rafael police that they have picked up a 40-year-old man over the weekend wanted for passing a forged $125 check in San Rafael on March 18.

Stephen F. Hazlett, a former waiter at the Cellars, 534 Fourth Street, San Rafael, forged restaurant owner Al Stanley's name to a check which he cashed at the restaurant's bar, according to police.

Hazlett is also wanted for forging a $100 check in Berkeley, police said.

College Board To Try To Cut Building Cost

Marin Junior College District trustees and their architects and engineers agreed yesterday to try to reduce the cost of a College of Marin physical education complex by 10 per cent to avoid a two to three month delay that would result from new bidding.

Such a cut would reduce the cost to about $160,000 less than the low bid of $1,618,313 by Ralph Larsen and Son of South San Francisco. The bid exceeded the college district's estimate by $334,739.

Whether the 10 per cent reduction can be made awaits a conference between Falk and Booth, architects and engineers, with the Larsens.

The conference with six firm members at their office in San Francisco was attended by trustees Robert Oliver, Kent Seymour and Mrs. Elizabeth Deedy and college president Stephen Epler, business manager Norman Bird and physical education director Harry Peiper.

They studied a long list of possible cost cuts.

After this meeting, Mrs. Deedy visited the Marin County counsel's office. She was informed that four trustees must approve the changes sought in the contract. Changes of more than 10 per cent would require rebidding, causing delay in construction.

Falk and Booth will make recommendations to trustees after talking with the Larsens.

replied Baar. "We've eliminated the Albert Field bond payment, so we can cut it off the tax rate."

Councilman Harry Barbier said he would prefer to see a two-year plan worked out before any tax cut is made. "If we waited until next year, maybe we could reduce the rate further. I wouldn't want to knock it down two cents now and bring it back up the next year."

Aby and Barbier voted to retain the 96 cents rate. Mayor John F. McInnis joined Baar and Jensen to vote for the two cents cut.

Police Blocked In Streetcar Investigation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police said today they are unable to get further information on yesterday's streetcar collision in Twin Peaks tunnel which injured 11 persons.

They said Muny railway policy permits giving the Police Department only the barest facts while railway investigators conduct their own probe.

One crowded car rammed the rear of another 420 feet inside the west entrance to the tunnel. The forward car was knocked 135 feet ahead. The second skidded more than 85 feet, police reported.

Passengers screamed as sparks flew from the trolley poles and short-circuited overhead wires.

The injuries were said not to be serious.

3 Girls Injured In 2-Car Wreck In San Rafael

A two-car accident at Mission Avenue and Irwin Street yesterday at 9:46 p. m. resulted in injuries to three young girls.

In satisfactory condition today at San Rafael General Hospital was Lavonne Marie Smith, 20 of 23 Oakwood Drive, San Rafael, with a cut right eyebrow and a bruised rib cage and right knee.

Sandra Sue Bates, 19, of 40 Idlewood Road, Kentfield, was treated for sprains of both hands and a broken finger and Paula Jo Glantz, 18, of 602 Wakerobin Lane, Terra Linda, was treated for a bruised shoulder and ribs.

Miss Bates was driving west on Mission Avenue and Eudora Ann Tribble of 11 Unionstone Drive, Marinwood, was driving north on Irwin Street. Miss Glantz was a passenger in the car being driven by Miss Tribble, while Miss Smith was in the car being driven by Miss Bates, San Rafael police said.

British, U.S. Agree On Naval Cooperation

LONDON (UPI) — Britain and the United States have agreed to tighten naval cooperation in the Caribbean to prevent further use of British-owned islands by rival Cuban bands, it was announced today.

The announcement came less than 12 hours after minority leaders in the Bahaman legislature at Nassau demanded a special session to discuss last week's capture by Castro commands of 19 Cuban refugees from British-owned Anguilla Key and request their return.

Corte Madera Drug Store Needs Vote

A move to put a professional pharmacy into the Bank of America building in Corte Madera appeared blocked today by failure of a sufficient town council majority favoring it.

Councilmen Albert E. Kogler and Robert I. La Dow were absent last night.

After nearly one hour of debate the council last night voted 2-1 to adopt an ordinance affirming a 3-2 planning commission decision approving an application for the pharmacy.

But 10 minutes later Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis said state law required three council votes to pass an ordinance. Mayor Edward W. Colthurst had voted "no" on the motion by Councilman Norman R. Barnett seconded by Councilman Charles F. Pendleton.

Robert F. Vogel, who had left the council chamber at 9:50 p.m. thinking he could open his pharmacy, was phoned by Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow and told of Davis' opinion.

A later council meeting, if council wishes it, may reconsider the matter when Councilman Kogler is present. If a later meeting approves the ordinance by a majority of three the application will be granted.

Colthurst said he thought granting the application would "violate the agreement," adding, "Sanford wanted to keep as much commercial and retail use out as possible."

Pendleton and Barnett held that the application could be approved under a clause in the agreement "providing for professional and administrative activities of semi-commercial character."

trolled, industrial park in Marin County, the Draper Companies has a vested interest in attracting industry — the right kind of industry for Marin and for our development of the county."

Leydecker stressed fine work already done by others, notably the Marin County Development Assn. But said resources thus far have been limited as compared with what the research institute could do in studying "the types of industry, and employees, that people here would be interested in having come to us, and which we could attract, as well as the specific steps we might take."

An example of "How we are losing out" at present, Leydecker said, is the decision of State Farm Insurance Co. to go to Santa Rosa rather than Marin after removing its western regional headquarters from Berkeley.

"Marin may not have had a chance," said Leydecker, "but I am satisfied everyone in Marin would have been happy if they had come here."

Farm Fire Cause Can't Be Found

It will probably be impossible to determine the cause of a fire which burned a garage and killed farm animals Sunday afternoon on the ranch of Joseph Sequeira, Marinwood Asst. Fire Chief Joseph D. Medley said today.

He said members of the Sequeira family were on the ranch, near Miller Creek Road, when they saw the large garage in flames, but none had any idea what may have started the fire.

The fire killed a colt, calf, two turkeys and about 75 chickens. Also destroyed in the blaze were three vintage automobiles owned by Sequeira.

Ludy Finds Fence Piled On Driveway

Working under the cover of darkness, a handful of Inverness residents stole to the bottom of Balmoral Way, cut down the controversial chain link fence that has blocked the foot path, and dumped it in a heap in the front drive of county supervisor George H. Ludy.

Ludy said today he knows who the culprits are and has had the fence put back up. "Shall I take further steps?" he asked. "Well, I rather think I may."

Last month 105 Inverness residents signed a petition asking the board of supervisors to take down the fence and reopen the path, which has been used for 50 years.

Ludy ordered the path shut down because "it created too much risk for the county to take, and it (the county) would be liable."

Ludy said today he woke up to discover the 50-foot fence in his driveway.

"At first I thought nothing of it because I have some similar fencing nearby and thought it had been accidentally dragged out. But when I examined it closely I found it had been cut so I jumped in my car, went to the path and found it was the county fence.

"I got in touch with the sheriff's office and the department of public works and the fencing was replaced.

"I know who did it and now realize it was brought to my home by pickup truck about 11 o'clock last night."

said, "Our company's business is land development and making money for our investors. We were able to sell at a profit and it would have been unfair to our investors if we had failed to do so. It's as simple as that."

The Marin Bay property was bought in March, 1956 from the Stegge Development Co. for less than $4,000,000. At that time the land covered more than 2,200 acres. John Stegge had purchased it from the McNear family in 1955.

Later the Perini Corp. of San Francisco purchased an interest in the project and the developing firm was known as Latipac-Perini, Inc. The Capital Investment Co. repurchased the joint venture Perini interest last April.

In commenting on Draper's plans for the property, vice president Michaud said the company will proceed immediately with projected capital improvements for the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, including the installation of a swimming pool and pool house, and professional tennis courts for club members. "The entire Marin Bay development will be accelerated," he said.

reactionary forces which desire to throw the world into a new castastrophe," Tito said.

Khrushchev, in reply, thanked Tito for inviting him to Yugoslavia and said he was looking forward to continuing talks begun during Tito's visit to Moscow last December.

In an open affront to the Red Chinese, Khrushchev again paid tribute to Yugoslavia as a socialist country.

The Chinese denounce Tito as a deviationist and agent of imperialism who has sabotaged socialism in Yugoslavia.

The Red Chinese snubbed Khrushchev by sending a second secretary to the airport instead of a top embassy official. They merely said the Chinese charge d'affairs, who is in Belgrade, was unable to come.

The two-week schedule for Khrushchev's visit leaves ample time for the leaders to explore the growing reconciliation between their brands of communism and its effect on Khrushchev's relations with Red China and Tito's with the West.

be in the budget to help people set up assessment districts to repair streets.

Money raised from property taxis now 52 per cent of the city income, councilman George D. Monardo said and he believes it should be held at 48 to 50 per cent. (Other money is raised from sales and gas tax and licensing.)

The special session, to be at 9 a.m. in city hall, was set when it was learned that the tax rate must be fixed prior to the last Tuesday in August.

Wornum said he would like to be sure the budget includes some money to assist people on Del Casa Drive to repair their street. He acknowledged that this would up the tax rate, now tentatively set at $2.29 by one cent. Last year's rate was $1.98. The total budget for 1963-64 is tentatively set at $920,130.

Animal Outpatient Clinic Is Approved

An animal "outpatient clinic" will go up in the Montecito Shopping Center across the street from the Marin County Humane Society shelter in San Rafael.

The San Rafael City Council last night approved the animal clinic, requested by Terra Linda veterinarians M. B. Shenson and W. E. Rushworth, The San Rafael Planning Commission had turned down the request last month.

Dr. Shenson assured the councilmen his clinic will be quiet, clean and odorless. No animals will be boarded at the clinic or kept overnight. "The function is merely to make it more convenient for people to bring their animals in for minor treatment — vaccinations, minor abrasions, etc.," said Dr. Shenson. "Anything more serious will go to the vet hospital."

"I visited Dr. Shenson's veterinary hospital in Terra Linda unannounced," said City Planner James R. Garrett. "And I found it very quiet and very clean."

The only objection to the animal clinic came last night from Dorothy Mae Kendall and her partner, who operate the Encore of Marin at 349 Third Street. A letter of protest by Mrs. Kendall cited several reasons for her opposition—sanitary problem, noise, odors, and nuisance. Her letter was endorsed by signatures representing 13 businesses in the Montecito Shopping Center.

However, at last night's hearing, no other merchant got up to protest. Several spoke in favor of the veterinary clinic.

Abe Blumenfeld, representing the shopping center, said he knows of five or six instances in California where animal clinics are located in shopping centers. "None of them have caused any problems," Blumenfeld asserted.

City councilmen approved the clinic unanimously.

New Atomic Acid For Doctors

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI)—Radioisotopes, a byproduct of research on the atom bomb, are finding new uses in the war on sickness and injury.

A new device called "hemolitre" uses the principle of radioisotope dilution to measure the circulating blood volume of surgical and other patients.

According to its developer, Picker X-Ray Corporation, it can tell the surgeon at a glance if internal bleeding in a patient requires an immediate blood transfusion, and also can give important clues in treatment of cardiac and other ailments.

Colonel Lund Takes Post In Philippines

Col. Harold G. Lund of San Francisco has assumed the post of deputy chief of staff for plans, Headquarters, 13th Air Force, at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines.

Lund formerly was stationed with the 9th Aerospace Defense Division at Ent AFB in Colorado. His wife, Muriel, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Nolan of 228 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael.

Student Body, Faculty Grow At Terra Linda

There will be more students, a larger faculty and more cars at Terra Linda High School this fall when school opens Sept. 4.

More than 300 freshmen and new students will have a chance to become acquainted with the school Aug. 27 and 29 in two orientation programs.

About 1,675 students are expected at the school this fall, up from 1,300 students of last year. The school was opened three years ago with a freshman-sophomore population of only 440. The jump in the enrollment this year for the school, now housing freshman through senior classes, means a rise in teaching and administration personnel from the 69 of last year to 84 this fall, said Margaret Rattray, dean of girls.

Because of the rise in enrollment there probably will be room only for faculty and senior student cars in school parking lots, Mrs. Rattray said.

Letters will be mailed to nearby homeowners explaining that student cars may be parked on the street in front of their homes.

Orientation for new students will begin Aug. 27 with a big and little sister day sponsored by Associated Girl Students who will be hosts to the incoming girls.

On Aug. 29 all freshmen and new students will attend an orientation period in the afternoon.

Transportation to the orientation program will be furnished by buses leaving at 12:30 p.m. Aug. 29 from Hamilton Air Force Base and the Roger Wilco Market for San Jose School District students; from the intersection of Miller Creek Road and Idylberry Drive and Lee Brothers Market in Marinwood; and in Santa Venetia, from Tweedie's General Store and from Littleman's Market.

Any new students in the district who plan to attend the high school but have not registered are asked to call the school and come to either or both programs, Mrs. Rattray said.

All students will be getting up earlier this fall to get to school on time: Classes will run from 8:15 a.m. to 2:55 p.m.

Viet Nam Reds Injure Navy Man

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—An American lieutenant became the U.S. Navy's first casualty in South Viet Nam's war against the Communist guerrillas yesterday.

His name was withheld.

A U.S. military spokesman said the lieutenant was shot in the stomach by Communist small arms fire while accompanying a landing by Vietnamese naval units at Cam Ranh, 190 miles north of here.

KLM Airline Reports Big Quarterly Loss

THE HAGUE (UPI) — KLM Royal Dutch Airlines today reported a net loss of 5 million dollars in the second quarter of 1963.

The company's quarterly report showed seat-occupancy during the second quarter of 1963 was 44.7 per cent against 45.5 per cent for the first and second quarters combined. Loss for the corresponding period of 1962 was 4.5 million dollars.

Stabbed Inmate Condition Reported 'Fair' At Prison

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said the assailant has not been identified. There were 200 men in the gymnasium at the time of the stabbing about 2 p.m. and about 25 men near Washington.

The weapon, a file or flat steel ground down on both edges with a white adhesive tape handle was found outside the gymnasium window.

Washington is serving a sentence of from one year to life for second degree robbery in Los Angeles County. He has been at the prison since December, 1961.

Animal Outpatient Clinic Is Approved

An animal "outpatient clinic" will go up in the Montecito Shopping Center across the street from the Marin County Humane Society shelter in San Rafael.

The San Rafael City Council last night approved the animal clinic, requested by Terra Linda veterinarians M. B. Shenson and W. E. Rushworth, The San Rafael Planning Commission had turned down the request last month.

Dr. Shenson assured the councilmen his clinic will be quiet, clean and odorless. No animals will be boarded at the clinic or kept overnight. "The function is merely to make it more convenient for people to bring their animals in for minor treatment — vaccinations, minor abrasions, etc.," said Dr. Shenson. "Anything more serious will go to the vet hospital."

"I visited Dr. Shenson's veterinary hospital in Terra Linda unannounced," said City Planner James R. Garrett. "And I found it very quiet and very clean."

The only objection to the animal clinic came last night from Dorothy Mae Kendall and her partner, who operate the Encore of Marin at 349 Third Street. A letter of protest by Mrs. Kendall cited several reasons for her opposition—sanitary problem, noise, odors, and nuisance. Her letter was endorsed by signatures representing 13 businesses in the Montecito Shopping Center.

However, at last night's hearing, no other merchant got up to protest. Several spoke in favor of the veterinary clinic.

Abe Blumenfeld, representing the shopping center, said he knows of five or six instances in California where animal clinics are located in shopping centers. "None of them have caused any problems," Blumenfeld asserted.

City councilmen approved the clinic unanimously.

New Atomic Acid For Doctors

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI)—Radioisotopes, a byproduct of research on the atom bomb, are finding new uses in the war on sickness and injury.

A new device called "hemolitre" uses the principle of radioisotope dilution to measure the circulating blood volume of surgical and other patients.

According to its developer, Picker X-Ray Corporation, it can tell the surgeon at a glance if internal bleeding in a patient requires an immediate blood transfusion, and also can give important clues in treatment of cardiac and other ailments.

Colonel Lund Takes Post In Philippines

Col. Harold G. Lund of San Francisco has assumed the post of deputy chief of staff for plans, Headquarters, 13th Air Force, at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines.

Lund formerly was stationed with the 9th Aerospace Defense Division at Ent AFB in Colorado. His wife, Muriel, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Nolan of 228 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael.

Student Body, Faculty Grow At Terra Linda

There will be more students, a larger faculty and more cars at Terra Linda High School this fall when school opens Sept. 4.

More than 300 freshmen and new students will have a chance to become acquainted with the school Aug. 27 and 29 in two orientation programs.

About 1,675 students are expected at the school this fall, up from 1,300 students of last year. The school was opened three years ago with a freshman-sophomore population of only 440. The jump in the enrollment this year for the school, now housing freshman through senior classes, means a rise in teaching and administration personnel from the 69 of last year to 84 this fall, said Margaret Rattray, dean of girls.

Because of the rise in enrollment there probably will be room only for faculty and senior student cars in school parking lots, Mrs. Rattray said.

Letters will be mailed to nearby homeowners explaining that student cars may be parked on the street in front of their homes.

Orientation for new students will begin Aug. 27 with a big and little sister day sponsored by Associated Girl Students who will be hosts to the incoming girls.

On Aug. 29 all freshmen and new students will attend an orientation period in the afternoon.

Transportation to the orientation program will be furnished by buses leaving at 12:30 p.m. Aug. 29 from Hamilton Air Force Base and the Roger Wilco Market for San Jose School District students; from the intersection of Miller Creek Road and Idylberry Drive and Lee Brothers Market in Marinwood; and in Santa Venetia, from Tweedie's General Store and from Littleman's Market.

Any new students in the district who plan to attend the high school but have not registered are asked to call the school and come to either or both programs, Mrs. Rattray said.

All students will be getting up earlier this fall to get to school on time: Classes will run from 8:15 a.m. to 2:55 p.m.

Stabbed Inmate Condition Reported 'Fair' At Prison

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said the assailant has not been identified. There were 200 men in the gymnasium at the time of the stabbing about 2 p.m. and about 25 men near Washington.

The weapon, a file or flat steel ground down on both edges with a white adhesive tape handle was found outside the gymnasium window.

Washington is serving a sentence of from one year to life for second degree robbery in Los Angeles County. He has been at the prison since December, 1961.

COUNCIL THANKED IN CORTE MADERA

Christmas Tree Hill Residents Say Improved Stairs 'Very Satisfactory'

Christmas Tree Hill residents thanked the Corte Madera Town Council last night for completion of asphalt and redwood stairs and a sidewalk from Crescent Road to Morningside Drive.

Last Sept. 4 about 25 residents complained the 56-year-old, 210-foot path, Ridgeway, was blocked by a fence and patio erected in the yard of a home at 124 Crescent Road owned by Carl J. Kalb of Larkspur.

Improvement of the path after removal of the obstacles was disclosed last night by Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow when he asked that the path and certain portions of Baltimore and Redwood Avenues be added to the town's street maintenance system. The council agreed 3-0, councilmen Robert I. La Dow and Albert E. Kogler absent.

The Christmas Tree Hill Dwellers Assn. termed the improved path "very satisfactory" and also wrote asking that Portola Path between Crescent Road and Edison Avenue be maintained by the town. The request was referred to Brandow and the council's public works committee, consisting of councilman Norman R. Barnett and mayor Edward W. Colthurst, the latter substituting for La Dow, who is ill.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Adopted a fiscal 1964 budget of $482,840 and set a town tax rate of $1 per $100 of assessed valuation—80 cents general tax, 15 cents special park tax and 5 cents bond interest and redemption.

2. Introduced an ordinance to annex three homes on Palm Hill after all residents had signed agreements for this and set Sept. 3 for public hearing.

3. Adopted an ordinance amending the zoning ordinance to permit addition of permitted uses in professional zones.

4. Awarded a contract to Ames Ford Sales Co., low bidder at $2,092.10, for a 122-inch wheelbase six cylinder one-half ton pickup truck.

5. Awarded Ames a contract for two 1964 custom Ford four-door sedans for the police department at a cost of $4,426.96 after making $808.75 allowance for trade in, cars to be delivered in 45 days as specified.

6. Received resignation of asst. public works supt. Frank Halbe and heard Brandow's report he was seeking a successor.

7. Instructed town atty. Sherrod S. Davis to draft a subdivision ordinance amendment requiring developers to post bonds as guarantee to repair damage when they use certain town roads.

8. Voted to seek bids Sept. 12 on a backhoe tractor at about $7,500 to save $3,000 a year spent renting such equipment.

9. Received report from Brandow that Solon Clark Co. had started to connect illegally to a town owned utility pole in town park for power for the Park Madera Shopping Center; Brandow said the matter is being negotiated with the firm and Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

10. Voted to have the planning commission review the zoning ordinance and have town employees revise it before printing new copies: there are no more copies of the old ordinance.

11. Instructed town atty. Davis to take legal action against Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bliss for continued refusal to remove an illegal shed from their property at 534 Tamalpais Drive.

12. Set 8 p.m. Sept. 3 for public hearing on planning commission decision disapproving addition of real estate, insurance and employment agency offices to the list of permitted uses in C-4 commercial districts.

13. Decided to set a date on Sept. 3 for a council field trip to Paradise Drive and the Corte Madera interchange where the planning commission recommends underground-served street lighting instead of wooden poles at the site of a forthcoming branch of Campbell Bishop Chevrolet Co.

14. Asked Brandow to redraft plans for annexing the Marin Royal Apartments in the Meadowsweet area.

15. Reappointed Kogler to the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission.

16. Set Sept. 3 for naming a successor to Curtis P. Kamai, who has resigned from the board of adjustments.

Finance Plan Held Over On Building

Corte Madera councilmen said last night they are in no hurry to approve a plan for financing a public safety building, which eventually will enable five to 10 town employees to evacuate the rickety old town hall annex and work in a revamped town hall.

Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow, who has branded the annex a fire and earthquake hazard, offered a plan under which Schwabacher and Co. would serve as consultants for a lease-purchase plan for the public safety building.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said he preferred "keeping the financing plan open until the building plans are completed and we have a concrete figure" on the cost. Brandow acknowledged the plans are not yet completed. Councilmen decided to continue discussion.

When Brandow said there is no restroom in the annex for women, violating state law, Colthurst said, "Let them go 350 feet west" to the firehouse and town hall building. Before the meeting Colthurst told a reporter he always thought the annex "rather nice." He added with a grin, "the help is always complaining."

Old Mill Hurler Gets No-Hitter In S.R. Softball

Bob Wade of the Old Mill Tavern pitched a no-hit, 1-0 victory over Dempsey-Tegler team last night in the San Rafael Adult Softball League's Class B Division.

In last night's Class A game Lou Perazzo pitched Sohner Tree Service to a 3-1 victory over the Fairchild team.

TOKYO (AP)—Wreckage of a Japanese airliner which disappeared Saturday with 19 Japanese aboard was located today on a mountain top on Hachijo Island, 100 miles south of Tokyo. National Police said all aboard had been killed.

Council Delays State Request For Tax Funds

Though they eagerly look forward to the money from the recently passed state increase of one cent a gallon on gasoline for roads, Corte Madera town councilmen last night delayed voting to request the money.

The council got a letter from the state Division of Highways saying there will be no appropriation to any city that does not pass a resolution saying it wants to use the money provided by the hike.

The division inclosed a form resolution for the council to pass. On suggestion of Councilman Charles F. Pendleton the council instructed Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow to ask the League of California Cities whether it approves the wording of the suggested resolution and continued the matter to Sept. 3.

Eighty per cent of the 200,000-citizen city of Skopje, Yugoslavia, was destroyed in the July 26 earthquake.

Corte Madera Compromise Offered On Sanitary Rule

The Corte Madera Town Council a compromise last night in a dispute between county sanitarian William Desmond and the Corte Madera Sanitary District Board.

With one change it passed a resolution submitted by Desmond for county health department regulation of septic tanks. Desmond suggested new houses within 400 feet of sewer lines be hooked up with the sewer system.

The council specified the houses be hooked up to the sewers only when within 300 feet of a sewer line, as requested by the sanitary board.

When retail outlets plug in, merchandise moves

Sales success can be electric when advertisers "connect" with consumers through the Independent-Journal. Ask Macy's, Wards, Penney's. Ask Ames Ford, United Markets. Ask hundreds of smaller businessmen who consistently advertise in the I-J.

They use Marin's only daily newspaper for one reason only: results. They've tried it, tested it. They've found that the I-J's "32,217 volts" is the responsive readership of our 32,217 subscriber families—the most concentrated buying force in Marin County.

When you, as an advertiser, "plug in" the I-J's direct sales current, here's what happens:

Your merchandise, your services, are immediately in contact with 2/3 of all families in Marin County.

Your message enters homes through a wanted medium, not a throwaway, not a shopper. People buy the I-J because they want it and read it; it's "their" newspaper, not a doorstep publication with no home.

You know what you're buying in circulation. No guesswork. No claims. The I-J is Marin's only newspaper certified by the Audit Bureau of Circulations—the "gold standard" of circulation measurement in the U.S.

Your advertising works in the buying climate of cover-to-cover readership...with an audience that prefers to read advertising in the I-J. For example, Marin households prefer to read food advertising in the I-J 84% to 4% over that in any other daily newspaper.*

You reach more of Marin's larger, "big consumer" families—7 out of 10 homes of 3 or more members, and 72% of households with 5 or more.*

Your message "gets home," stirs buying action . . . because the I-J is close to its readers, close to their interests.

The division inclosed a form resolution for the council to pass. On suggestion of Councilman Charles F. Pendleton the council instructed Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow to ask the League of California Cities whether it approves the wording of the suggested resolution and continued the matter to Sept. 3.

Corte Madera Compromise Offered On Sanitary Rule

The Corte Madera Town Council a compromise last night in a dispute between county sanitarian William Desmond and the Corte Madera Sanitary District Board.

With one change it passed a resolution submitted by Desmond for county health department regulation of septic tanks. Desmond suggested new houses within 400 feet of sewer lines be hooked up with the sewer system.

The council specified the houses be hooked up to the sewers only when within 300 feet of a sewer line, as requested by the sanitary board.

When retail outlets plug in, merchandise moves

Sales success can be electric when advertisers "connect" with consumers through the Independent-Journal. Ask Macy's, Wards, Penney's. Ask Ames Ford, United Markets. Ask hundreds of smaller businessmen who consistently advertise in the I-J.

They use Marin's only daily newspaper for one reason only: results. They've tried it, tested it. They've found that the I-J's "32,217 volts" is the responsive readership of our 32,217 subscriber families—the most concentrated buying force in Marin County.

When you, as an advertiser, "plug in" the I-J's direct sales current, here's what happens:

Your merchandise, your services, are immediately in contact with 2/3 of all families in Marin County.

Your message enters homes through a wanted medium, not a throwaway, not a shopper. People buy the I-J because they want it and read it; it's "their" newspaper, not a doorstep publication with no home.

You know what you're buying in circulation. No guesswork. No claims. The I-J is Marin's only newspaper certified by the Audit Bureau of Circulations—the "gold standard" of circulation measurement in the U.S.

Your advertising works in the buying climate of cover-to-cover readership...with an audience that prefers to read advertising in the I-J. For example, Marin households prefer to read food advertising in the I-J 84% to 4% over that in any other daily newspaper.*

You reach more of Marin's larger, "big consumer" families—7 out of 10 homes of 3 or more members, and 72% of households with 5 or more.*

Your message "gets home," stirs buying action . . . because the I-J is close to its readers, close to their interests.

HERO, BURGLAR

Convict Considered For Carnegie Award

John A. Le Chappelle, 23, was a hero in November, 1961, when he saved four children from a burning garage in Newark, Alameda County.

Eleven months later he was convicted of a second degree burglary which he had committed in August, 1962, and sentenced to six months to 15 years in San Quentin Prison.

He is still there, but his luck may be about to change. Earlier this month, La Chappelle received a visit from Irwin M. Urling, a representative of the Andrew Carnegie Hero Fund Commission in Pittsburgh, Penn.

Urling told him that he was being considered for the Carnegie Hero Award because of his courageous deed, in which he suffered first, second and third degree burns which required eight months of hospitalization. Later, Urling wrote La Chappelle a letter in which he seemed optimistic that the inmate would receive the award.

In two weeks La Chappelle will go before the California Youth Authority for the first time to seek parole.

Summer Rec Expanded In Fairfax

A record number of youths took advantage of activities offered in the expanded Fairfax summer recreation program which ended Friday, according to director Ronald C. Samet.

About 50 youths a day visited the Fairfax Pavilion to play table tennis, pool and basketball. Tennis and tumbling classes also drew large numbers.

Trips to Stinson Beach, Tamalpais and Phoenix Lake were held. A teen dance on July 19 drew 100 youths.

Winner of the pool contest was Charles Locati. Michael Courtz won the snooker contest for high school age youths.

Play day winners were: accuracy throw, Terry Bozzio, Alby Watson and Larry Gillespie; distance throw, Alby Watson, Stan Liljenquist and Michael Wardell; distance kick, Dean Sutherland and Alby Watson, and 50-yard dash, Terry Bozzio, Stan Liljenquist and Alby Watson.

LAMB CURRY*

3 pounds boneless lamb (1-inch cubes cut from leg of lamb)
3 green apples
2 onions
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons imported curry powder (more or less, depending on taste)
1½ teaspoons powdered ginger
1 cup consomme'
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup dry red wine

Heat bacon drippings in a heavy skillet, add the sliced onions, garlic, and lamb. Brown lamb over hot fire, reduce heat and add, apples which have been peeled and diced. Mix flour with a little bit of the consomme' and add to meat mixture. Slowly add remainder of consomme' and the seasonings. Now add the lemon juice and wine. More ginger may be added if you like things hot. Simmer two hours. Serve with rice and the following condiments: Major Grey's Chutney, chopped hard-boiled egg whites, chopped hard-boiled egg yolks, chopped peanuts, chopped green onion, unsweetened shredded coconut, raisins, Kumquats. Serves 6 to 8. Make this dish the day before. Curry is always better when allowed to "ripen" a day.

GANGWAY FOR HISTORY

Mrs. Robert Murgatroyd, life member of the Marin County Historical Society, sits at the wheel (or rather tiller) of the society's 1904 Oldsmobile which members are trying to fix up through an appeal for parts and money. The car, donated to the society by the late Wilbur Thayer, a San Rafael garageman, was once used to deliver newspapers. The car is at Scripture Oldsmobile, 740 Francisco Boulevard, where James Scripture has donated engine repair. Later the car will be placed in the society's museum at Boyd Park.

Planners Approve Marin City Co-op

Marin County planning commissioners approved 56 new cooperative apartments in Marin City yesterday but were reluctant to approve a large, lighted sign advertising the apartments.

The new apartments, to be constructed on Drake Avenue, Donahue Avenue and Park Circle, are part of the apartment area included in the Marin City master plan for redevelopment. Most of them will be two-bedroom apartments.

Barrett Homes Inc., developers of the new apartments and "pole houses" in Marin City asked the commission for permission to put a 40-square-foot sign near Highway 101 and the entrance to Marin City for the purpose of attracting attention to the new development called Oak Knolls of Marin."

The sign would be placed on one of the poles used in construction of the controversial houses.

Chairman Niels Schultz Jr. said the sign was much larger and more elaborate than those usually allowed to advertise subdivisions. Other commissioners agreed the sign might set a precedent.

San Geronimo Zoning Causes Meet Uproar

A meeting of the San Geronimo Valley Assn. was broken up last night with the threatened resignation of one director and several members as the association voted in favor of retaining commercial zoning.

After the 20 to 4 vote was taken cries of "stacked meeting" rose from the floor, according to president Larry Moulton.

Moulton said "two or three people said, "I resign" and director Jean A. Bevans said "you can have my resignation." They then walked out of the meeting. Moulton said he would not consider Bevans resignation official until he got a letter.

The charge of a "stacked meeting", Moulton said, was a "moot point." The businessmen who attended were members of the association, he said.

Slightly more than 30 persons attended the three-hour meeting.

Moulton said the motion for a vote was made from the floor to clear up an "indication" in the minutes of the July 15 Marin County Planning Commission meeting that the association felt that there was too much commercial zoning in rezoning proposals made by county planning director B. D. Dobbs.

The county planning commission yesterday said that some commercial property in the Forest Knolls and Lagunitas areas might be kept commercially zoned. The commission will take final action on Oct. 7.

Meet Set Today On School Rooms

Trustees of the San Anselmo School District will meet at 8 p.m. today in the faculty room at Isabel Cook School to consider a contract with Richard Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross for classroom additions at Wade Thomas School.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said the state has approved the low bid from Zoellner.

Finding a sixth grade teacher for Isabel Cook School to replace Elizabeth Starkey, who has married, will be discussed. Trustees will also discuss a tax rate of $1.80 per $100 assessed valuation for the 1963-64 year and will hear reports on the bond and tax election scheduled for Oct. 15.

Man 'Improving' After Knifing

Willie Davis, 42, of 419 Drake Avenue, Marin City, who was knifed in the stomach Sunday night, was reported "improving" at Marin General Hospital today.

His wife, Mrs. Lee Ella Davis, 44, was arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Witnesses told sheriff's investigators the couple had argued about use of the family car, but no one reported seeing the actual knifing.

More Milk Advertising Authorized By State

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An expanded advertising campaign to sell more milk has been approved by California dairymen and milk handlers, the Department of Agriculture said yesterday.

Both groups approved raising the present $500,000 authorized for advertising to 1.5 million dollars.

Animal Control Law Approved In Mill Valley

Wayward cats and riddance of dead animals on private properties gave Mill Valley City councilmen troubles last night, but, despite this, the council introduced an animal control ordinance designed to be used on a county-wide basis.

The ordinance asks that dog licenses, now $3 remain at that fee. Councilman George Blackwell stubbornly urged this figure saying Marin County supervisors Peter Behr and William D. Fusselman "said they were not about to change the rate."

"What about cats?" asked a woman in the audience who refused to give reporters her name. "Every dog must have a license but what does that have to do with control?" she queried. She added that a neighbor's cat with seven kittens recently moved into her house.

"What do I do with them?" she asked. "Take care of them because I love them?" She said she does love cats and has her own.

The Marin County Humane Society isn't about to recommend cat licenses, said Blackwell "because of the very nature of the beasts. Another thing," he added, "cats are not considered personal property."

"Would I be within my legal rights to take the cat and kittens to the pound?" the woman asked. "I have waited seven years for this answer."

"If I were you I'd kit-nap that mother cat," commented Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks.

Councilman Michael Wornum asked for an official policy on dead animals on private property saying the Humane Society will not remove them and if you put them in a garbage can you might wait a week. "Is this handled by the street department?" he asked.

"The street department picks them up when on a city street but not on private property," said Ross Benson, head of the public works department. "That's a ridiculous state of affairs," Wornum said. "It's a health problem. We have had dead cats, dogs, deer."

"If you have a dead animal," suggested Blackwell, "you put it on the street and the street department removes it."

Council Asks 'Essential' Repair Cost

The Novato City Council building committee last night decided to get an estimate of the essential repairs for the community building to bring it up to the basic public safety requirements before presenting the program to the full council.

Fire Chief George Cavallero and Fire Commissioner Peter Ferrarese met with the committee along with Gordon Phillips, San Rafael architect, who is drawing the plans for the refurbishing.

The city has $18,500 budgeted for capital improvement to the community house. The committee wanted to keep the electrical, heating, fire proofing and new roof repairs within that figure, said city administrator J. Julien Baget.

Phillips originally had estimated $50,000 to do all the necessary repairing and repainting the building.

The committee agreed to have Fred Westfall, head of the city building department, go over the plans and report back to the committee before any recommendations would be made to the full council.

Sullivan To Replace Tobias In Marinwood

Glenn D. Tobias resigned last night from the Marinwood Community Services District board and was immediately replaced by Dr. William C. Sullivan, the district's parks and recreation commission chairman.

Tobias told the district board that his job requires him to be out of town often and he does not have enough time for meetings. The board unanimously agreed to Sullivan's appointment. Sullivan resides at 290 Elvia Court in Marinwood and was named to the commission last year.

Boyd F. Wells of 2101 Las Gallinas Avenue, former president of the Marinwood Assn., was named to replace Sullivan on the parks and recreation commission.

The CSD board approved $1,300 to be paid to Sohner Tree Service of San Rafael for pruning of oak trees at the community center site at Miller Creek and Lucas Valley roads.

The board adjourned until Sept. 11 at 8 p.m. in the Mary E. Silveira School when it will meet to consider a petition requesting annexation of sewer facilities for the new community center by the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

Muir Beach Water Meet Set Monday

Muir Beach Community Services District directors will hold a special meeting at 8 p. m. Monday "to clarify the planning in regard to water for Muir Beach and to discuss proposals for the immediate and long range solution of the water problem."

Mrs. Gates R. King, acting president, announced the meeting today saying it will be held at her home and urging people "to come out and hear the issues from the people involved rather by rumor and insinuation." She added: "This may be our last chance to work together as a community."

Mrs. King stressed the fact that the board is faced with decisions which will effect the future of the community financially as well as its "possible chances to obtain better water.

One of the proposals to be discussed is the proposed formation of the Seascape Mutual Water Co. by the Miwok Corp. which plans a 54-single family residential subdivision at Muir Beach.

Man Reports Dog Bite

Jerry Carver of 238 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, reported to police at 5:18 p.m. yesterday that while walking past a vehicle a collie dog leaned out the window of the car and bit him on the left elbow. Police said the dog is owned by Elizabeth Bates of 1441 Casa Buena, Corte Madera.

B-52 Modification Program Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said yesterday it will start a two-year, multi-million dollar modification program on virtually all of the United States' 700 B-52 bombers next month.

The program, designed to correct weaknesses in a rear fuselage bulkhead, discovered during a 3-year series of tests during which three of the bombers crashed.

A Defense Department spokesman said the weaknesses occurred because the bombers were used in ways other than had been anticipated, including low level high speed flights and flights in severe clear air turbulence.

Burglars Take Change From San Rafael Firm

Burglars took $4 in change from an ice box at the New Mission Heating and Ventilating Co. at 32 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, over the weekend, according to police.

Entry was made between 4 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 a.m. Monday by forcing back a piece of tin covering a window of the office.

Subdivision Map Granted In Novato

The tentative map of the Yanke subdivision of 17 lots on five acres south of Center Road as requested by Emil Yanke was approved last night by the Novato City Planning Commission in a special meeting to complete the previous week's agenda.

The commission also approved the preliminary map of the John A. Lee's division of 24,318 square feet of land on Simmons Lane into three lots and the Robert Ryan division of 8.5 acres of land into two parcels.

Grading plans for St. Francis Heights Units 3 and 4 and Ka Den Park (formerly Debbi Lynn) adjacent to Monte Maria subdivision, were given approval by the commission.

Purity Stores was granted a sign of 125 square feet where 218 square feet had been requested, for the store in the Nave Shopping Center.

Sept. 11 was set for the consideration of amendments to the Novato Fair master plan and to consider a request by August S. Bonsignore to rezone from duplex to multiple, a lot at 1025 Third Street.

Wounded Pastor Still In 'Fair' Condition

Rev. Ralph Claude Shanks, pastor of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, was reported still in "fair" condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Shanks, 50, suffered a gunshot wound in his chest Saturday and was taken to the hospital in serious condition. He was found lying in the bathroom of his home at 50 Las Casas Drive, San Rafael, with a .22-caliber rifle nearby.

In Basic Training

Johnny E. Preston, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferol W. Preston of 105 Palm Drive, Novato, is undergoing nine weeks basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

San Anselmo Planners Set Record With Long Meeting

Instead of saying "good night" at the end of their meeting, San Anselmo planning commissioners were saying "good morning" to each other as the meting broke up at 3:20 a.m. today.

Commissioners slogged through 21 agenda items as the audience dwindled to only the two applicants on the last item of business.

"This is a record," James Cowperthwaite remarked dubiously later this morning. Latest previous meetings had run until about 2:15 a.m.

Adjournment hour moved commissioners to make one extra decision not on the agenda: from now on the planning commission will meet twice a month, if necessary. The regular meeting will continue to be at 8 p.m. on the third Monday of each month in the city hall. An adjourned session will be held on the following Monday if the first meeting runs late.

During the meeting the planners approved subdivision by the Lang Construction Co., San Rafael, of a piece of commercially zoned land into three parcels, located on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at the base of Redhill Avenue. Also approved was subdivision by the company into 12 parcels of a related piece of land on Sir Francis Drake for multiple unit housing use.

Both subdivisions are part of a "planned development" in the area. The commercially zoned land will be used to construct a medical-professional building, shop and offices and an outdoor tea house to operate from spring to fall.

Planning commissioners held plans for an apartment building at Center and Saunders streets to the maximum seven units instead of allowing builder Ray Nolan, San Anselmo, the eight units he had requested.

An application to demolish an existing service station and erect another on an island on the Miracle Mile near Forbes Avenue was denied. Owner Michael P. Ferro was told the land he now occupies with the station is planned for use in future widening of the street.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission also:

1. Denied rezoning from single family residential to multiple family use of a parcel of land at 51 Elm Avenue. About 20 area residents appeared at the meeting to protest the proposition, as did a petition containing 27 signatures.

2. Approved addition of three units to one-unit living quarters on land at the southwest corner of Oak Knoll and San Anselmo avenues.

3. Approved five separate applications for small subdivisions, making up a total of 20 newly subdivided lots.

GANGWAY FOR HISTORY

Mrs. Robert Murgatroyd, life member of the Marin County Historical Society, sits at the wheel (or rather tiller) of the society's 1904 Oldsmobile which members are trying to fix up through an appeal for parts and money. The car, donated to the society by the late Wilbur Thayer, a San Rafael garageman, was once used to deliver newspapers. The car is at Scripture Oldsmobile, 740 Francisco Boulevard, where James Scripture has donated engine repair. Later the car will be placed in the society's museum at Boyd Park.

Planners Approve Marin City Co-op

Marin County planning commissioners approved 56 new cooperative apartments in Marin City yesterday but were reluctant to approve a large, lighted sign advertising the apartments.

The new apartments, to be constructed on Drake Avenue, Donahue Avenue and Park Circle, are part of the apartment area included in the Marin City master plan for redevelopment. Most of them will be two-bedroom apartments.

Barrett Homes Inc., developers of the new apartments and "pole houses" in Marin City asked the commission for permission to put a 40-square-foot sign near Highway 101 and the entrance to Marin City for the purpose of attracting attention to the new development called Oak Knolls of Marin."

The sign would be placed on one of the poles used in construction of the controversial houses.

Chairman Niels Schultz Jr. said the sign was much larger and more elaborate than those usually allowed to advertise subdivisions. Other commissioners agreed the sign might set a precedent.

San Geronimo Zoning Causes Meet Uproar

A meeting of the San Geronimo Valley Assn. was broken up last night with the threatened resignation of one director and several members as the association voted in favor of retaining commercial zoning.

After the 20 to 4 vote was taken cries of "stacked meeting" rose from the floor, according to president Larry Moulton.

Moulton said "two or three people said, "I resign" and director Jean A. Bevans said "you can have my resignation." They then walked out of the meeting. Moulton said he would not consider Bevans resignation official until he got a letter.

The charge of a "stacked meeting", Moulton said, was a "moot point." The businessmen who attended were members of the association, he said.

Slightly more than 30 persons attended the three-hour meeting.

Moulton said the motion for a vote was made from the floor to clear up an "indication" in the minutes of the July 15 Marin County Planning Commission meeting that the association felt that there was too much commercial zoning in rezoning proposals made by county planning director B. D. Dobbs.

The county planning commission yesterday said that some commercial property in the Forest Knolls and Lagunitas areas might be kept commercially zoned. The commission will take final action on Oct. 7.

Meet Set Today On School Rooms

Trustees of the San Anselmo School District will meet at 8 p.m. today in the faculty room at Isabel Cook School to consider a contract with Richard Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross for classroom additions at Wade Thomas School.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said the state has approved the low bid from Zoellner.

Finding a sixth grade teacher for Isabel Cook School to replace Elizabeth Starkey, who has married, will be discussed. Trustees will also discuss a tax rate of $1.80 per $100 assessed valuation for the 1963-64 year and will hear reports on the bond and tax election scheduled for Oct. 15.

Man 'Improving' After Knifing

Willie Davis, 42, of 419 Drake Avenue, Marin City, who was knifed in the stomach Sunday night, was reported "improving" at Marin General Hospital today.

His wife, Mrs. Lee Ella Davis, 44, was arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Witnesses told sheriff's investigators the couple had argued about use of the family car, but no one reported seeing the actual knifing.

More Milk Advertising Authorized By State

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An expanded advertising campaign to sell more milk has been approved by California dairymen and milk handlers, the Department of Agriculture said yesterday.

Both groups approved raising the present $500,000 authorized for advertising to 1.5 million dollars.

Animal Control Law Approved In Mill Valley

Wayward cats and riddance of dead animals on private properties gave Mill Valley City councilmen troubles last night, but, despite this, the council introduced an animal control ordinance designed to be used on a county-wide basis.

The ordinance asks that dog licenses, now $3 remain at that fee. Councilman George Blackwell stubbornly urged this figure saying Marin County supervisors Peter Behr and William D. Fusselman "said they were not about to change the rate."

"What about cats?" asked a woman in the audience who refused to give reporters her name. "Every dog must have a license but what does that have to do with control?" she queried. She added that a neighbor's cat with seven kittens recently moved into her house.

"What do I do with them?" she asked. "Take care of them because I love them?" She said she does love cats and has her own.

The Marin County Humane Society isn't about to recommend cat licenses, said Blackwell "because of the very nature of the beasts. Another thing," he added, "cats are not considered personal property."

"Would I be within my legal rights to take the cat and kittens to the pound?" the woman asked. "I have waited seven years for this answer."

"If I were you I'd kit-nap that mother cat," commented Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks.

Councilman Michael Wornum asked for an official policy on dead animals on private property saying the Humane Society will not remove them and if you put them in a garbage can you might wait a week. "Is this handled by the street department?" he asked.

"The street department picks them up when on a city street but not on private property," said Ross Benson, head of the public works department. "That's a ridiculous state of affairs," Wornum said. "It's a health problem. We have had dead cats, dogs, deer."

"If you have a dead animal," suggested Blackwell, "you put it on the street and the street department removes it."

Council Asks 'Essential' Repair Cost

The Novato City Council building committee last night decided to get an estimate of the essential repairs for the community building to bring it up to the basic public safety requirements before presenting the program to the full council.

Fire Chief George Cavallero and Fire Commissioner Peter Ferrarese met with the committee along with Gordon Phillips, San Rafael architect, who is drawing the plans for the refurbishing.

The city has $18,500 budgeted for capital improvement to the community house. The committee wanted to keep the electrical, heating, fire proofing and new roof repairs within that figure, said city administrator J. Julien Baget.

Phillips originally had estimated $50,000 to do all the necessary repairing and repainting the building.

The committee agreed to have Fred Westfall, head of the city building department, go over the plans and report back to the committee before any recommendations would be made to the full council.

Sullivan To Replace Tobias In Marinwood

Glenn D. Tobias resigned last night from the Marinwood Community Services District board and was immediately replaced by Dr. William C. Sullivan, the district's parks and recreation commission chairman.

Tobias told the district board that his job requires him to be out of town often and he does not have enough time for meetings. The board unanimously agreed to Sullivan's appointment. Sullivan resides at 290 Elvia Court in Marinwood and was named to the commission last year.

Boyd F. Wells of 2101 Las Gallinas Avenue, former president of the Marinwood Assn., was named to replace Sullivan on the parks and recreation commission.

The CSD board approved $1,300 to be paid to Sohner Tree Service of San Rafael for pruning of oak trees at the community center site at Miller Creek and Lucas Valley roads.

The board adjourned until Sept. 11 at 8 p.m. in the Mary E. Silveira School when it will meet to consider a petition requesting annexation of sewer facilities for the new community center by the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

Muir Beach Water Meet Set Monday

Muir Beach Community Services District directors will hold a special meeting at 8 p. m. Monday "to clarify the planning in regard to water for Muir Beach and to discuss proposals for the immediate and long range solution of the water problem."

Mrs. Gates R. King, acting president, announced the meeting today saying it will be held at her home and urging people "to come out and hear the issues from the people involved rather by rumor and insinuation." She added: "This may be our last chance to work together as a community."

Mrs. King stressed the fact that the board is faced with decisions which will effect the future of the community financially as well as its "possible chances to obtain better water.

One of the proposals to be discussed is the proposed formation of the Seascape Mutual Water Co. by the Miwok Corp. which plans a 54-single family residential subdivision at Muir Beach.

Man Reports Dog Bite

Jerry Carver of 238 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, reported to police at 5:18 p.m. yesterday that while walking past a vehicle a collie dog leaned out the window of the car and bit him on the left elbow. Police said the dog is owned by Elizabeth Bates of 1441 Casa Buena, Corte Madera.

B-52 Modification Program Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said yesterday it will start a two-year, multi-million dollar modification program on virtually all of the United States' 700 B-52 bombers next month.

The program, designed to correct weaknesses in a rear fuselage bulkhead, discovered during a 3-year series of tests during which three of the bombers crashed.

A Defense Department spokesman said the weaknesses occurred because the bombers were used in ways other than had been anticipated, including low level high speed flights and flights in severe clear air turbulence.

Burglars Take Change From San Rafael Firm

Burglars took $4 in change from an ice box at the New Mission Heating and Ventilating Co. at 32 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, over the weekend, according to police.

Entry was made between 4 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 a.m. Monday by forcing back a piece of tin covering a window of the office.

Subdivision Map Granted In Novato

The tentative map of the Yanke subdivision of 17 lots on five acres south of Center Road as requested by Emil Yanke was approved last night by the Novato City Planning Commission in a special meeting to complete the previous week's agenda.

The commission also approved the preliminary map of the John A. Lee's division of 24,318 square feet of land on Simmons Lane into three lots and the Robert Ryan division of 8.5 acres of land into two parcels.

Grading plans for St. Francis Heights Units 3 and 4 and Ka Den Park (formerly Debbi Lynn) adjacent to Monte Maria subdivision, were given approval by the commission.

Purity Stores was granted a sign of 125 square feet where 218 square feet had been requested, for the store in the Nave Shopping Center.

Sept. 11 was set for the consideration of amendments to the Novato Fair master plan and to consider a request by August S. Bonsignore to rezone from duplex to multiple, a lot at 1025 Third Street.

Wounded Pastor Still In 'Fair' Condition

Rev. Ralph Claude Shanks, pastor of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, was reported still in "fair" condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Shanks, 50, suffered a gunshot wound in his chest Saturday and was taken to the hospital in serious condition. He was found lying in the bathroom of his home at 50 Las Casas Drive, San Rafael, with a .22-caliber rifle nearby.

In Basic Training

Johnny E. Preston, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferol W. Preston of 105 Palm Drive, Novato, is undergoing nine weeks basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

San Anselmo Planners Set Record With Long Meeting

Instead of saying "good night" at the end of their meeting, San Anselmo planning commissioners were saying "good morning" to each other as the meting broke up at 3:20 a.m. today.

Commissioners slogged through 21 agenda items as the audience dwindled to only the two applicants on the last item of business.

"This is a record," James Cowperthwaite remarked dubiously later this morning. Latest previous meetings had run until about 2:15 a.m.

Adjournment hour moved commissioners to make one extra decision not on the agenda: from now on the planning commission will meet twice a month, if necessary. The regular meeting will continue to be at 8 p.m. on the third Monday of each month in the city hall. An adjourned session will be held on the following Monday if the first meeting runs late.

During the meeting the planners approved subdivision by the Lang Construction Co., San Rafael, of a piece of commercially zoned land into three parcels, located on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at the base of Redhill Avenue. Butts Awarded $3 Million In Libel Damages

ATLANTA (UPI) — Former Georgia football coach Wallace Butts won $3,060,000 in libel damages today from the Saturday Evening Post which said he divulged team secrets to a rival university.

A 12-man federal jury which had deliberated seven hours and 18 minutes returned a verdict in favor of the roly poly coach in his $10 million libel suit against the nationally-circulated magazine.

Butts wept openly.

Clay Blair Jr., editor-in-chief of the magazine, was in the courtroom when the jury's terse decision was read and announced that the decision would be appealed.

"We the jury find in favor of Wallace Butts," the verdict said.

It went on to spell out that it was awarding general damages of $60,000 and punitive damages of $3 million. Butts had asked for $5 million in each category.

Curtis Publishing Co., publishers of the magazine, has 30 days in which to appeal the verdict.

It was one of the largest sums ever awarded in a libel case.

The jury's decision, in effect, upheld the steadfast denials by Butts that he had conspired with Alabama football coach Paul (Bear) Bryant to rig the 1962 Alabama-Georgia game.

Alabama, a 17-point favorite, won 35-0.

The Post, in its March 23 issue, said Butts, then serving as athletic director at Georgia, divulged vital Georgia plays to Bryant nine days prior to the game. The article was based on a statement of a man who said he accidentally heard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant.

Bryant also denied the charges and has a $10 million libel suit pending against the magazine in Birmingham, Ala.

Butts, surrounded by his family, and trailed by friends, left the courtroom about 10 minutes after the verdict and went to his hotel room for a brief rest before he talked with newsmen.

They had to pass a battery of television and other news cameras as they emerged from the post office building which has federal court rooms on the third floor. Several hundred spectators lined the sidewalks and gave a cheer when Butts came out.

Members of Butts' family sat in the courtroom with him as the decision was read. Immediately after it was revealed Butts was swamped by well-wishers who clapped him on the back and wrung his hand in congratulations.

One of Butts' attractive daughters rushed up and kissed her father as she threw her arms about his neck.

Federal Judge Lewis R. Morgan, who presided with a stern hand during the trial's 12 days —nine of which were devoted to testimony—warned before the jury returned that he would tolerate no outbursts.

The 12-man jury of businessmen — none of whom ever played college football—filed slowly into the jury box at 10:28 a. m. EDT. It had resumed its deliberations at 9:40 a. m. after failing to reach a verdict last night.

At 11:32 a. m., the decision was handed to Morgan.

The clerk read the decision:

"We the jury find in favor of Wallace Butts.

"We assess general damages for Wallace Butts in the sum of $60,000. We find that Wallace Butts is entitled to recover punitive damages in the amount of $3 million.

Marinites Refuse To Say Giants Are Dead; Here Are Some Comments

CONNOLLY

Asked what he thought of the S.F. Giants' chances of winning the National League pennant, Eddie Erdelatz, former Navy football coach and an avid baseball rooter, declared:

"They have a lot of possibilities but an inferority complex."

Another rabid Giant rooter, Al Tognoli, Marin County investor, takes an odd and unusual slant on recent events.

"St. Louis had our signals," Tognoli screams. "No club could hit all our pitchers so evenly and so well and not know what throw was coming."

The title insurance companies and lending institutions of Marin, with Roger Darrow, Paul Leahy, Ralph Croker, Jordan Martinelli, Pete Bertoni, and others, still insist they'll write "insurance policies" for every member of the Giant squad.

"They're still good risks to win the pennant, even though crippled for the nonce," spoke up Jordan Martinelli.

THOSE ARE just a few opinions of season ticket holders and Marinites who refuse to say the Giants are dead. They utter no excuses, but point out that it takes a robust-thinking club to put up such a fight in the face of such uneven odds.

From where we sit there isn't much left outside of loyalty, that can be said about the S.F. warriors. Before the Cards began catching on fire, the National League race had simmered down to what was thought to be a two club fight. But now with 39 games remaining, there are five clubs that could win it, including the Dodgers, Cards, Giants, Cincy Reds and the Phils.

But an injury-racked club such as the Giants present today has a terrific handicap to overcome, especially with the pitchers included in the hospital squad.

WHO'S TO blame? seems the prize question.

And the prize answer, strangely, seems to be NOBODY. It just happened.

Looking at the turn of events from another angle, it could be that the Giants were over-confident. They knew last April they had a gold brick of a rookie in Jim Hart, but kept him in the sticks until necessity forced them to call him up.

Hart wasn't any better hitter in July, when he joined the Giants, than he was in April. But Manager Dark and his cohorts felt confident the 1962 gang could handle the other National League clubs. They just over-rated themselves, a strictly human error, even if it is costly.

GIANT PITCHING is coming in for its share of the blame, but in my estimation the biggest drawbacks to the Giants have been the erratic hitting and the suddenly sieve-like development in their usually strong defensive play.

Most fans like to win a pennant on paper and by figuring out the chances in the remaining games on the schedule. They never stop to think that what has happened to the Giants can still happen to the Dodgers, Card, Reds and Phils.

49ers Lack That Extra Effort: Red

MORAGA (UPI) — Coach Red Hickey wants his San Francisco 49ers to make the big second effort needed to win football games.

He repeatedly told his troops to "go to the ball" until the whistle blows throughout a long, hot drill yesterday. He said that the 49er defenders had several times let Chicago Cardinal ball carriers and ends get away from them last Friday because they did not make the extra effort.

But Hickey added that he thought the team "looked better in all departments against the Cardinals than we did against the Vikings the previous week." The Cards edged the 49ers 24-22 while Minnesota piled up a 43-28 win.

HAZLETINE PRAISED

Hickey praised linebacker Matt Hazeltine and offensive linemen John Thomas, Len Rohde and Leon Donahue. He said quarterback John Brodie was throwing "not great, but good" and said that 49er receivers had dropped too many against the Cards.

He indicated that rookie stars halfbacks Kermit Alexander and Don Lisbon and tackle Chuck Sieminski might see duty at either offense or defense or both Sunday when the 49ers meet the Cleveland Browns at Kezar stadium.

The 49ers yesterday released offensive tackle John Sutro, 245-pounder from San Jose State. They now have 45 men in camp, not counting holdout Ted Connolly, and must reduce to 43 after the Browns' game.

New 'Champ' Lane Anxious To Meet Ortiz For World Title

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Kenny Lane finally has recognition as world lightweight champion, if only in the 58,266 square miles of Michigan, and he's anxious to fight Carlos Ortiz anywhere for the title covering the rest of the globe.

"Ortiz can call me the challenger, I don't care," said Lane after winning the Michigan version of the lightweight championship by outpointing Paul Armstead in a unanimous 15-round decision last night.

"But I'll call him the same thing," Lane added.

Lane, the World Baxing Assn.'s No. 2 contender from Muskegon, Mich., received strong backing on the cards of all three officials in his victory over the first-ranked Armstead from Los Angeles.

Referee Lou Jallos gave Lane, 134¾, a total of 146 points in Michigan's 10-point must system, to 143 for Armstead, who weighed 135. Judge Don Dilley gave Lane the verdict 147-141 and Judge West Tebeau scored it 146-138. The Associated Press card favored Lane 145-144.

"We'll give Ortiz plenty of offers and see what he comes up with," said Lane. "We'll have to see what comes out of the WBA now."

Lane, a southpaw counterpuncher, has charged Ortiz and the WBA with giving him a run-around in bids for a title fight. Because of it, Michigan withdrew from the WBA in June. The WBA also stripped Ortiz of his title in June for failure to defend, but restored the championship Sunday.

Ortiz was reinstated as champion with the stipulation he sign by the end of the year to fight the Lane-Armstead winner.

O'Dell To Hurl Opener Of Candlestick Series

The Giants—and their opponents—didn't follow Manager Alvin Dark's road trip script, and as a result the team is back home in what politicians would term a "crisis posture."

In other words, following yesterday's disheartening 8-7 loss to St. Louis, the Giants have their backs to the wall in the fight to retain the National League pennant.

The defeat dropped them six and one-half games behind league-leading Los Angeles, and one game back of the second-place Cardinals. And Philadelphia is zooming up only one and one half games to the rear of the San Franciscans.

It was in Houston early in the road trip that Dark said: "If we can go home no farther back of the Dodgers than we are now and stay that close until we meet them head-and-head, when we'll be okay."

The Giants were five games out of first at that point.

Dark added that he hoped to win the last two in Houston, three out of four in Philadelphia, two out of three in Cincinnati and two out of three in St. Louis.

Instead, they split the final two in Houston, followed the script to go 3-1 in Philly and 2-1 in Cincinnati—and lost all three in St. Louis.

The Giants take on Milwaukee tonight, with Billy O'Dell, 11-6, set to oppose Ray Sadowski, 2-5. The Dodgers and Cardinals meet in Los Angeles in a series that could benefit the Giants—if they win. Dark will get his head-to-head meeting with the Dodgers in Chavez Ravine starting Aug. 29. Yesterday's game, which put the road trip at 8-8, seemed won when Felipe Alou's ninth inning triple scored Willie Mays and Ed Bailey to make it 7-5. The runs came off eventual winner Sad Sam Jones, the ex-Giant just back from the minors.

FIVE HURLERS

But Billy Hoeft, the fourth of five Giant hurlers, walked Bill White to lead off the ninth. Ken Boyer then hit his second two-run homer of the game, and it was 7-7. Jack Fisher came in to retire two men, but Julian Javier singled and Jack McCarver's soft blooper plopped onto the wet turf in right. Alou bobbled it and Javier scored the winning run.

Jack Sanford, who lasted six and one-third innings and yielded five runs on nine hits, doubled in the third and came in on Chuck Hiller's single. The Giants tied it at 3-3 in the sixth with two walks and a single in Mays, who had doubled, in the eighth. Mays drove in Harvey Kuenn to tie it 5-5 in the fateful ninth.

Nash Scores Victory In National Sail Meet

The course for the 110 Class National Championship was a windward - leeward twice around with the finish on the third windward leg and was in the area between Richmond and Angel Island.

The winds were near normal, blowing 12-15 miles, and Gordie made the most of it; a familiar breeze, his home waters and with a knowledgeable crew, wife Joselyn, it was a winning gambit all the way.

Unfortunately, none of the other bay sailors was among the leaders. In fact, the next to finish was Bob Klein, Richmond, in the 10th spot.

Novatan's 77 Qualifies For Title Shot In Norcal Golf

Novato High ace Barry Hachmyer fired a 77 yesterday to qualify for the championship flight in the Northern California Golf Assn.'s Junior Amateur Championship tournament at San Francisco's Olympic Club.

He had the best score of the 12 Marin County youths entered in the tournament and was the only Marinite to qualify for the championship flight.

Hachmyer opposed Ron O'Connor in today's opening round of match play. O'Connor qualified with an 80 yesterday.

Medalist honors yesterday went to San Jose's Rich Logan who fired a 72, one over par.

Two Marin Countians qualified for the first flight—Ray Leach of Novato with an 80 and Doug Ferguson of San Rafael with an 81.

Placed in the third flight with an 85 was Hank Noble of San Rafael.

Rick Timmer, also of San Rafael, gained a berth in the fourth flight with a qualifying 89.

John Zimmerman and Rick Webb of Kentfield and Bob Schefer of Larkspur qualified for the fifth flight—Schefer and Webb each with a 90 and Zimmerman with a 93.

Four Marinites wound up in the sixth flight. They are John McKay (98) of Kentfield, Jim Brown (94) of Mill Valley, Craig Ballentine (97) of San Rafael, and Bob Richeda (95) of San Anselmo.

Match play will continue through the week with finals on Friday.

Unbeaten Army Held To Tie In Softball

With Two-Rock Army (3-0) needing a victory to cinch a tie for the championship in the San Anselmo Invitational Softball Tournament, upset-minded Country Club Bowl (1-1) held the Soldiers to a 2-2 tie in a game called after 10 innings because of darkness last night.

After Country Club tallied twice in the third on Bob Rosson's home run to knot the score, the two teams battled scorelessly until the contest was called.

Because the Army nine has previous commitments next week, Tournament Director Frank Quinn announced late last night that the two teams would replay the game this Friday. The contest between North Bay Flag and Country Club Bowl, originally scheduled for Friday, will now be played Tuesday, Aug. 27.

In tonight's action, Old Mill Tavern (0-3) will tangle with North Bay (1-1) at 6:30 at San Anselmo's Memorial Park.

Two-Rock's only two runs off righthander Earl Lowe came in the first inning on two hits and a pair of sacrifice flies.

Lowe then blanked the Soldiers on five hits while striking out 10 and walking one.

Two-Rock's main threat came in the fifth when the Soldiers put runners on second and third with no outs. But Lowe fanned the next three batters on 10 pitches.

Sandy Saunders hurled the first nine innings for Two-Rock, limiting the opposition to four hits. Denny Langford pitched the 10th.

Butts Awarded $3 Million In Libel Damages

ATLANTA (UPI) — Former Georgia football coach Wallace Butts won $3,060,000 in libel damages today from the Saturday Evening Post which said he divulged team secrets to a rival university.

A 12-man federal jury which had deliberated seven hours and 18 minutes returned a verdict in favor of the roly poly coach in his $10 million libel suit against the nationally-circulated magazine.

Butts wept openly.

Clay Blair Jr., editor-in-chief of the magazine, was in the courtroom when the jury's terse decision was read and announced that the decision would be appealed.

"We the jury find in favor of Wallace Butts," the verdict said.

It went on to spell out that it was awarding general damages of $60,000 and punitive damages of $3 million. Butts had asked for $5 million in each category.

Curtis Publishing Co., publishers of the magazine, has 30 days in which to appeal the verdict.

It was one of the largest sums ever awarded in a libel case.

The jury's decision, in effect, upheld the steadfast denials by Butts that he had conspired with Alabama football coach Paul (Bear) Bryant to rig the 1962 Alabama-Georgia game.

Alabama, a 17-point favorite, won 35-0.

The Post, in its March 23 issue, said Butts, then serving as athletic director at Georgia, divulged vital Georgia plays to Bryant nine days prior to the game. The article was based on a statement of a man who said he accidentally heard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant.

Bryant also denied the charges and has a $10 million libel suit pending against the magazine in Birmingham, Ala.

Butts, surrounded by his family, and trailed by friends, left the courtroom about 10 minutes after the verdict and went to his hotel room for a brief rest before he talked with newsmen.

They had to pass a battery of television and other news cameras as they emerged from the post office building which has federal court rooms on the third floor. Several hundred spectators lined the sidewalks and gave a cheer when Butts came out.

Members of Butts' family sat in the courtroom with him as the decision was read. Immediately after it was revealed Butts was swamped by well-wishers who clapped him on the back and wrung his hand in congratulations.

One of Butts' attractive daughters rushed up and kissed her father as she threw her arms about his neck.

Federal Judge Lewis R. Morgan, who presided with a stern hand during the trial's 12 days —nine of which were devoted to testimony—warned before the jury returned that he would tolerate no outbursts.

The 12-man jury of businessmen — none of whom ever played college football—filed slowly into the jury box at 10:28 a. m. EDT. It had resumed its deliberations at 9:40 a. m. after failing to reach a verdict last night.

At 11:32 a. m., the decision was handed to Morgan.

The clerk read the decision:

"We the jury find in favor of Wallace Butts.

"We assess general damages for Wallace Butts in the sum of $60,000. We find that Wallace Butts is entitled to recover punitive damages in the amount of $3 million.

Marinites Refuse To Say Giants Are Dead; Here Are Some Comments

CONNOLLY

Asked what he thought of the S.F. Giants' chances of winning the National League pennant, Eddie Erdelatz, former Navy football coach and an avid baseball rooter, declared:

"They have a lot of possibilities but an inferority complex."

Another rabid Giant rooter, Al Tognoli, Marin County investor, takes an odd and unusual slant on recent events.

"St. Louis had our signals," Tognoli screams. "No club could hit all our pitchers so evenly and so well and not know what throw was coming."

The title insurance companies and lending institutions of Marin, with Roger Darrow, Paul Leahy, Ralph Croker, Jordan Martinelli, Pete Bertoni, and others, still insist they'll write "insurance policies" for every member of the Giant squad.

"They're still good risks to win the pennant, even though crippled for the nonce," spoke up Jordan Martinelli.

THOSE ARE just a few opinions of season ticket holders and Marinites who refuse to say the Giants are dead. They utter no excuses, but point out that it takes a robust-thinking club to put up such a fight in the face of such uneven odds.

From where we sit there isn't much left outside of loyalty, that can be said about the S.F. warriors. Before the Cards began catching on fire, the National League race had simmered down to what was thought to be a two club fight. But now with 39 games remaining, there are five clubs that could win it, including the Dodgers, Cards, Giants, Cincy Reds and the Phils.

But an injury-racked club such as the Giants present today has a terrific handicap to overcome, especially with the pitchers included in the hospital squad.

WHO'S TO blame? seems the prize question.

And the prize answer, strangely, seems to be NOBODY. It just happened.

Looking at the turn of events from another angle, it could be that the Giants were over-confident. They knew last April they had a gold brick of a rookie in Jim Hart, but kept him in the sticks until necessity forced them to call him up.

Hart wasn't any better hitter in July, when he joined the Giants, than he was in April. But Manager Dark and his cohorts felt confident the 1962 gang could handle the other National League clubs. They just over-rated themselves, a strictly human error, even if it is costly.

GIANT PITCHING is coming in for its share of the blame, but in my estimation the biggest drawbacks to the Giants have been the erratic hitting and the suddenly sieve-like development in their usually strong defensive play.

Most fans like to win a pennant on paper and by figuring out the chances in the remaining games on the schedule. They never stop to think that what has happened to the Giants can still happen to the Dodgers, Card, Reds and Phils.

Tonight the Giants go at it again and against a good ball club with a strong desire to win.

New 'Champ' Lane Anxious To Meet Ortiz For World Title

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Kenny Lane finally has recognition as world lightweight champion, if only in the 58,266 square miles of Michigan, and he's anxious to fight Carlos Ortiz anywhere for the title covering the rest of the globe.

"Ortiz can call me the challenger, I don't care," said Lane after winning the Michigan version of the lightweight championship by outpointing Paul Armstead in a unanimous 15-round decision last night.

"But I'll call him the same thing," Lane added.

Lane, the World Baxing Assn.'s No. 2 contender from Muskegon, Mich., received strong backing on the cards of all three officials in his victory over the first-ranked Armstead from Los Angeles.

Referee Lou Jallos gave Lane, 134¾, a total of 146 points in Michigan's 10-point must system, to 143 for Armstead, who weighed 135. Judge Don Dilley gave Lane the verdict 147-141 and Judge West Tebeau scored it 146-138. The Associated Press card favored Lane 145-144.

"We'll give Ortiz plenty of offers and see what he comes up with," said Lane. "We'll have to see what comes out of the WBA now."

Lane, a southpaw counterpuncher, has charged Ortiz and the WBA with giving him a run-around in bids for a title fight. Because of it, Michigan withdrew from the WBA in June. The WBA also stripped Ortiz of his title in June for failure to defend, but restored the championship Sunday.

Ortiz was reinstated as champion with the stipulation he sign by the end of the year to fight the Lane-Armstead winner.

O'Dell To Hurl Opener Of Candlestick Series

The Giants—and their opponents—didn't follow Manager Alvin Dark's road trip script, and as a result the team is back home in what politicians would term a "crisis posture."

In other words, following yesterday's disheartening 8-7 loss to St. Louis, the Giants have their backs to the wall in the fight to retain the National League pennant.

The defeat dropped them six and one-half games behind league-leading Los Angeles, and one game back of the second-place Cardinals. And Philadelphia is zooming up only one and one half games to the rear of the San Franciscans.

It was in Houston early in the road trip that Dark said: "If we can go home no farther back of the Dodgers than we are now and stay that close until we meet them head-and-head, when we'll be okay."

The Giants were five games out of first at that point.

Dark added that he hoped to win the last two in Houston, three out of four in Philadelphia, two out of three in Cincinnati and two out of three in St. Louis.

Instead, they split the final two in Houston, followed the script to go 3-1 in Philly and 2-1 in Cincinnati—and lost all three in St. Louis.

The Giants take on Milwaukee tonight, with Billy O'Dell, 11-6, set to oppose Ray Sadowski, 2-5. The Dodgers and Cardinals meet in Los Angeles in a series that could benefit the Giants—if they win. Dark will get his head-to-head meeting with the Dodgers in Chavez Ravine starting Aug. 29. Yesterday's game, which put the road trip at 8-8, seemed won when Felipe Alou's ninth inning triple scored Willie Mays and Ed Bailey to make it 7-5. The runs came off eventual winner Sad Sam Jones, the ex-Giant just back from the minors.

FIVE HURLERS

But Billy Hoeft, the fourth of five Giant hurlers, walked Bill White to lead off the ninth. Ken Boyer then hit his second two-run homer of the game, and it was 7-7. Jack Fisher came in to retire two men, but Julian Javier singled and Jack McCarver's soft blooper plopped onto the wet turf in right. Alou bobbled it and Javier scored the winning run.

Jack Sanford, who lasted six and one-third innings and yielded five runs on nine hits, doubled in the third and came in on Chuck Hiller's single. The Giants tied it at 3-3 in the sixth with two walks and a single in Mays, who had doubled, in the eighth. Mays drove in Harvey Kuenn to tie it 5-5 in the fateful ninth.

Unbeaten Army Held To Tie In Softball

With Two-Rock Army (3-0) needing a victory to cinch a tie for the championship in the San Anselmo Invitational Softball Tournament, upset-minded Country Club Bowl (1-1) held the Soldiers to a 2-2 tie in a game called after 10 innings because of darkness last night.

After Country Club tallied twice in the third on Bob Rosson's home run to knot the score, the two teams battled scorelessly until the contest was called.

Because the Army nine has previous commitments next week, Tournament Director Frank Quinn announced late last night that the two teams would replay the game this Friday. The contest between North Bay Flag and Country Club Bowl, originally scheduled for Friday, will now be played Tuesday, Aug. 27.

In tonight's action, Old Mill Tavern (0-3) will tangle with North Bay (1-1) at 6:30 at San Anselmo's Memorial Park.

Two-Rock's only two runs off righthander Earl Lowe came in the first inning on two hits and a pair of sacrifice flies.

Lowe then blanked the Soldiers on five hits while striking out 10 and walking one.

Two-Rock's main threat came in the fifth when the Soldiers put runners on second and third with no outs. But Lowe fanned the next three batters on 10 pitches.

Sandy Saunders hurled the first nine innings for Two-Rock, limiting the opposition to four hits. Denny Langford pitched the 10th.

Pheasant Hunting In Nebraska; Fishing News Both Hot, Lukewarm

STEVENS

I have known for a long time that many of our ardent nimrods traveled to other states for big game. Hundreds, maybe thousands hunted in Colorado, Montana, Utah and Nevada, for deer, elk and mountain sheep; some even invaded Alaska and Mexico for a chance at big game. I have wondered, though, how many visited these other states for upland game. Like for example: Pheasants some years ago in South Dakota, and the past few years in Nebraska.

Apparently some do. There was a memo on my telephone desk, left with my wife in my absence, reading tersely: "What is the outlook for pheasants in Nebraska this year—when does the season open?"

I am happy to reply through the paper. The setting of bag limits on pheasants and other upland game has not been officially set . . . Will be this month, but I have been advised that the season on pheasants in Nebraska will again this season (opens on Oct. 26) be the longest in the nation. Bag limits expected to be about the same as last year. Quail season opens the same day as pheasants.

All hunters wishing full particulars are invited to write for the "Hunting Packet." Address: Nebraska Hunting, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska (68509).

FISHING NEWS from the local front is both hot and only lukewarm. Salmon trolling dropped to spotty, probably account of rough water and a scattering of the huge schools that were infesting the shore side off Duxbury and environs. Sid McMullin of Caruso's place in Sausalito reported a slight slowdown, but claimed close to a two-fish-per rod average landed on Saturday. That doesn't read like very slow fishing to this writer—but perhaps it is by comparison to the red hot results of last week. Also, from Lee Anderson's in Oakland, I learned that one boat, the Privateer, came in on Saturday with 21 salmon to 24 pounds. So, let's call salmon trolling still good and hope for more clement weather.

BAIT FISHING continues out of this world in the Alcatraz, Racoon Strait-South Tower and Sand Pile areas. The boat Cherokee took easy limits trolling Pet Spoons and Hula Skirts lures; the Keesa returned with limit catches for all aboard two days running, drift fishing.

RUMOR HAS it there has been some fast late-evening trolling for bass off the Sisters and that general area, but the balance of the San Pablo Bay has been stingy on both sides—on bait and artificials.

I NOTE that young Lowell Biagi with his stepdad, Herb Lessley and his famous mother, Nadine Lessley, creeled nice limits of trout from Horse Minnow Creek, tributary of the Trinity River. Congrats, Lowell.

Kirkpatricks Win Mr., Mrs. Tourney

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Kirkpatrick with a net of 58 were the winners Sunday of the annual Mr. and Mrs. Marin golf tournament at the Marin Country Club.

There were about 100 players in the best-ball twosome action. Other winners were Mr. and Mrs. William Wieland, 60; Col. and Mrs. John Weltman, 61; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Murray, 62; Mr. and Mrs. O. Oliphant, 62.

Champions Answer The Challenge

Manager Joe Anselmo of the Billings-Hutchison Builders, champions of the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League this year, has answered the challenge of Ed Vigno, manager of the Tiburon Pelicans, an independent team.

Vigno last Saturday challenged the Builders to a baseball game with a stipulation that the game would have to be played at Judge Field, home of the Pelicans.

Anselmo has told the Independent-Journal he would meet the Tiburon team in either a home-and-home two-game series or a two out of three series with the first game played in Tiburon, the second at Albert Park in San Rafael, and the field for the third game, if necessary, to be decided by a flip of a coin.

Anselmo said the money derived from the game at Albert Park would go to the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League.

"It would be ridiculous to play a single contest at Tiburon merely to aid financially a club which refused to enter the Marin league because it would not be able to play all games on its diamond," said Anselmo.

"With this in mind, and the fact that there is such a difference in the two clubs' records, I feel that the county champions should have some say as to the locations of the games," he added.

Red Hot Cards Invade L.A. Tonight For Crucial Series

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Seven weeks ago tonight the St. Louis Cardinals marched into Los Angeles as the surprise leaders of the National League.

They stumbled out of town three nights later enraged and embarrassed. They had dropped three straight decisions, including a pair of shutouts, to the Dodgers, who dislodged them from first place.

Now the Cardinals are back in the City of Angels for another three-game set starting tonight. This one can make or break Johnny Keane's upstarts, who completed a three-game sweep over the San Francisco Giants yesterday by grinding out a comeback 8-7 triumph at St. Louis.

The Cards' latest victory gave them undisputed possession of second place, 5½ games back of the idle Dodgers. With time running out in the N. L. race, they must win at least two of three from Los Angeles this time to keep their pennant hopes alive.

BYE-BYE BIRDS?

And should the Dodgers sweep this series as they did last month it will be bye-bye Redbirds.

The Cardinals, are expected to send either young Ray Sadecki or veteran Lew Burdette against the Dodgers' Johnny Podres tonight.

The Cardinals left the defending champion Giants reeling on the ropes and 6½ games off the pace before heading for California.

The Philadelphia Phillies scored their eighth straight victory and moved to within 1½ games of third place by nipping the New York Mets, 1-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Dennis Bennett in the only other N. L. game.

A pair of home runs by Max Alvis powered the Cleveland Indians to an 8-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the lone American League game.

WINNING RUN

The Phillies scored a run off Galen Cisco in the second inning on successive singles by Don Demeter, Clay Dalrymple and Bobby Wine.

That was all the margin Bennett needed as he rolled to his sixth victory in eight decisions and his first shutout of the campaign.

Alvis knocked in six runs with his pair of homers and Joe Azcue accounted for Cleveland's other tallies with a solo homer, a double and a single. Dick Stuart of the Red Sox unloaded his 31st and 32nd homers, including an inside-the-park clout, a rarity at tiny Fenway Park.

Marin Catholic Football Exams

Marin Catholic High School will give its physical examinations to football aspirants Saturday at 9 a.m. in the gym, and will also pass out uniforms, it was announced by Rev. Donald Kohles, director of athletics.

First day of practice will be next Monday at 9 a.m. The physical exams will be for varsity, junior varsity and freshmen teams.

Seven weeks ago tonight the St. Louis Cardinals marched into Los Angeles as the surprise leaders of the National League.

They stumbled out of town three nights later enraged and embarrassed. They had dropped three straight decisions, including a pair of shutouts, to the Dodgers, who dislodged them from first place.

Now the Cardinals are back in the City of Angels for another three-game set starting tonight. This one can make or break Johnny Keane's upstarts, who completed a three-game sweep over the San Francisco Giants yesterday by grinding out a comeback 8-7 triumph at St. Louis.

The Cards' latest victory gave them undisputed possession of second place, 5½ games back of the idle Dodgers. With time running out in the N. L. race, they must win at least two of three from Los Angeles this time to keep their pennant hopes alive.

BYE-BYE BIRDS?

And should the Dodgers sweep this series as they did last month it will be bye-bye Redbirds.

The Cardinals, are expected to send either young Ray Sadecki or veteran Lew Burdette against the Dodgers' Johnny Podres tonight.

The Cardinals left the defending champion Giants reeling on the ropes and 6½ games off the pace before heading for California.

The Philadelphia Phillies scored their eighth straight victory and moved to within 1½ games of third place by nipping the New York Mets, 1-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Dennis Bennett in the only other N. L. game.

A pair of home runs by Max Alvis powered the Cleveland Indians to an 8-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the lone American League game.

WINNING RUN

The Phillies scored a run off Galen Cisco in the second inning on successive singles by Don Demeter, Clay Dalrymple and Bobby Wine.

That was all the margin Bennett needed as he rolled to his sixth victory in eight decisions and his first shutout of the campaign.

Alvis knocked in six runs with his pair of homers and Joe Azcue accounted for Cleveland's other tallies with a solo homer, a double and a single. Dick Stuart of the Red Sox unloaded his 31st and 32nd homers, including an inside-the-park clout, a rarity at tiny Fenway Park.

Rights Group Seeking Probe In Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights has been urged by its California Advisory Committee to consider investigating alleged abuses in the treatment of Negroes by Los Angeles police.

In a report released yesterday, the committee suggested a series of hearings to look into the issue; and noted that police-minority group relations in the San Francisco Bay Area are "much more healthy and open" than in Los Angeles.

The committee, headed by Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of San Francisco, also contrasted the "surprisingly hostile" attitude of Los Angeles officials toward the committee to the "gracious reception" it received in San Francisco and Oakland during hearings last January and last September.

The report praised the communities of San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Richmond and San Mateo County for their "efforts . . . in community relations and officer training by law enforcement agencies" and said they "seemed to be seeking solutions to a very difficult problem."

But the committee warned that mutual prejudices can lead to "self-fulfilling prophecies—that is, if police officers and minority groups suspect the worst of each other, then problems may arise for that very reason.

The report suggested that the federal government establish an institute to train local officers in minority race relations and that charges of police brutality by reviewed by some "external" agency.

The committee also recommended that local governments launch programs to orient newcomers, especially Negroes from the South, into California communities.

Serra Monument Proposal Draws Artists, Objectors

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The line formed at the right today for artists interested in designing the state's proposed new Junipero Serra statue, a monument to the Franciscan padre who founded California's Spanish mission chain.

Another line formed for people who have their doubts about putting another statue in the big park surrounding the State Capitol, where the legislature has said it will be.

"Generally speaking, I'm not in wholehearted accord with filling Capitol Park with statues and monuments," said Albert M. Dreyfuss, chairman of the Capitol Building and Planning Commission.

"It's been a park for many years and I hope it will continue to be a park."

The 1963 legislature agreed to spend up to $30,000 if Californians who want the statue will match the state funds.

The Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West — main backers of the project — have been working hard to raise the money.

They are also first in line with a design, one prepared by a religious art studio in New Mexico.

This proposed monument shows the priest kneeling with eyes pointed toward heaven.

In his left hand, Serra holds an uplifted cross. With his right, he points to a big relief map of California on which are marked the sites of his missions.

"It's up to the governor and state officials," said Peter T. Conmy, Oakland city librarian and chairman of the Joint Junipero Serra State Committee of the Native Sons and Daughters.

Robert L. Harkness, deputy director of finance, said he hopes to organize a selection committee of "interested people, of artists and people who know something about California."

Dreyfuss' building and planning commission will also have a say in picking the final design.

"I think the statue would be impressive, realistic, so the person looking at it will get the feel of it," said Harkness.

Demo Assemblymen Ask GOP To Accept Offer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Three Assembly Democrats have urged Assembly Republicans to accept an offer which the GOP says would deprive them of "one of the few strategies neceessary to support the Republican viewpoint."

The offer was made by Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh (D-Los Angeles). Unruh said he would return the minority Republicans some say in running the Assembly if both parties agreed not to bind their members to vote as a bloc on key issues.

Unruh made the offer after majority Democrats, angered by Republican refusal to vote on the budget during the last days of the special session, stripped the minority party of all committee chairmanships and of any part in electing the speaker.

Assemblyman James Mills (D-San Diego), Charles B. Garrigus (D-Reedly) and George Zenovich (D-Fresno) urged Republicans to accept the offer and to reject the advice of Caspar Weinberger, GOP state chairman, who urged the lawmakers to turn it down.

Assembly Minority Leader Charles Conrad (R-Sherman Oaks) had said he could not support the proposal.

Big Drill Bites Into Rock To Rescue Trapped Miners

HAZLETON, Pa. (UPI)—A 60-ton drill bit into solid rock today in the delicate rescue operation to reach three miners trapped 331 feet underground by a cave-in last Tuesday. Rescuers hoped to reach two of the miners by midnight.

In six hours, the 12-inch bit being used to enlarge the six inch contact hole to two of the miners worked through 110 feet of clay before hitting the rock strata.

"We've just got into the hard rock," a mining expert said.

The rate of bore is determined by the type of earth through which the drill must bite. Rescuers hoped to reach the two miners with the 12-inch bit by midnight. Later, 18 and 24 inch bits will be used to further enlarge the hole.

Two of the miners, David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28, chatted again this morning with their wives, both named Anna, via a microphone, but the conversation was brief due to the noise of the huge drill.

San Jose Schools Registration Set

Pre-registration of children from kindergarten through the eighth grade who are new to the district, will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Aug. 26, in all schools in the San Jose Elementary School District, according to Duane V. Moeller, deputy superintendent.

A child must have been born before Dec. 2, 1958, in order to qualify for kindergarten, Moeller said. Parents must furnish proof of date of birth at the time of registration, he said.

Each child must have completed his polio immunization before entering school, according to state law, Moeller said.

Teen-Ager Develops Business Enterprise

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Unemployment during the summer months has been no problem for Karen Morrow, a 14-year-old who will be a sophomore at Novato High School next month.

Karen conducts a class of baton twirling for 20 youngsters who range in age from six to 13 years.

How did this young girl start her own business? She went door to door signing up the students.

LESSONS ARE given once a week, and she charges 50 cents a lesson. Her mother has given her a lot of encouragement, but Karen has had to be her own salesman. Her mother remarked that Karen said, "I'll never be a good salesperson." But the poise that this 14-year-old entrepreneur possesses belies her statement.

Karen and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Morrow and her sister, Kathie, 12, came to Novato two years ago when her father was transferred to the San Francisco office of the Standard Oil Co.

The young baton twirler had taken lessons from Marge Dunning Kinney in Gardena and as Karen had helped her teach in some of the classes, her instructor was very disappointed when Karen moved.

When Karen arrived in Novato, she twirled with the Wickettes, a trophy winning group, but she found that she preferred to solo. Karen lists several advantages of baton twirling lessons. "They teach the girls grace and poise, coordination of hands and is very useful to a girl who takes piano as it also encourages the use of the left hand," Karen said.

SHE SAID IT took a lot of hard work to master twirling, but she added, "life isn't all play, and it makes the girls happy to accomplish something."

Karen finds her job very rewarding as she wishes the girls to receive the same enjoyment as she has from her hobby.

The girls in her class have been taking lessons for approximately 18 weeks now. She is very thorough in keeping records of the girls' progress, so she keeps a speed chart and a progress chart. She will continue her classes during the school year, and in cold weather she uses the family garage for the practice area.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Arm Benders Society Will Honor Popular Members

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Novel are the invitations mailed to friends of the Robert Byards Jr. of Mill Valley who leave Sept. 24 for a trip to the Orient. The invitations start with a "command appearance to the farewell party given by "members of the Las Vegas Arm Benders Society" at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 12 at the "Kerlin Kafe." After a bit of sleuthing I learned that the Arm Benders belong to a bridge club which puts money in the kitty. Once a year the kitty gives it all and with this money the members take off for Las Vegas where they can pull the handles of the slot machines, arm bending for many hours. This is legal, of course, in Nevada.

The farewell is being given by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith and Mrs. Lewis Kerlin at the latter's home in Kent Woodlands. The Byards are going first to Manila then to Hong Kong where they'll meet their daughter, Mrs. Douglas Smith (Kay Byard) her husband and their children, Brandon, 10, Devon, 8, and Tia, 3, who are returning from a tour around the world, which began in Europe. The Byards, who will be away a month, will go on to Bangkok and Singapore and rejoin the Smith family in Japan, flying back to California.

Many farewell parties have been given for the Byards and more are on the social calendar. The George Goheens of Mill Valley gave one of these, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Medford will give a dinner at their Mill Valley home for the Byards, Sept. 7. Also the C. Franklin Medfords of Mill Valley will entertain at a dinner Sept. 14 for the Byards, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Herz of San Francisco have set Sept. 19 for their farewell dinner for the Byards. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Dawson of San Rafael will honor the popular couple at a dinner Aug. 21.

And that brings us up to date with travelers as Mrs. Kerlin with Mrs. John (Antoinnette) Lynch of San Rafael, who recently retired as art teacher in the San Rafael elementary schools, leave Sept. 28 for the Orient. They will sail to Hawaii, fly to Japan, Singapore, Formosa, India and travel in a leisurely way for several months then board ship for the return cruise.

THE NORMAN B. LIVERMORE Jr. and their family have been staying at Montesol, the Livermore ranch near Calistoga. Earlier this year they were at Lake Tahoe where Mrs. Livermore's parents have a summer place. While they are away the Livermores' San Rafael home is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carter Larsen.

Deb Janet DeBerry Will Be Honored At Lunch Tomorrow

JANET DeBERRY

A luncheon tomorrow at San Francisco Golf Club will honor Marin deb Janet DeBerry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick DeBerry of Tiburon. Hostess is Janet's aunt, Mrs. Gerald Trautman of Hillsborough.

The guests will include the Marin debs and some of Janet's friends as well as friends of the family. The girls will be seated at a special table and gathered at the table with Mrs. DeBerry will be Mesdames John H. Hoefer, Edward R. Rice III, Robert Bagnall, Frank King, James L. Zeigler, Harold F. Green and W. F. Witter, all of the Tiburon Peninsula.

Lorraine Cooper Will Be Bride In September

Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper of San Leandro are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Lorraine K. Cooper to Chris W. Avery of Novato.

Lorraine and Chris will be seniors at San Jose State College this fall. Chris is working on a research project at Moffett Field at Sunnyvale this summer.

The future benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Avery and the brother of Steven. He was graduated from Novato High School.

A Sept. 1 wedding date has been set.

Grocery Bill In Truth A Catchall

CHICAGO (UPI)—In estimating the total "food budget," consider that two of every 12 items that go into the shopping cart are known as "non foods" in the trade.

Young homemakers particularly are prone to include such items as phonograph records, toothpaste, children's toys, household cleaners, beach sandals and capri pants as items bought with their "grocery money," says the Super Market Institute.

A survey team from Purdue University peeked into the shopping carts of more than 11,000 Indiana homemakers to see how much general merchandise the average supermarket shopper buys.

THE REAL HAWAIIAN WAY

Roast pig, poi, coconut loaf and raw fish were among Hawaiian foods served at a Luau Saturday at Hamilton Air Force Base. The luau was sponsored by the 36 cadets from the University of Hawaii for the 200 Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets on a four-week training schedule at Hamilton. October Wedding Is Planned

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Melville of Terra Linda are announcing the engagement of their daughter, June T. Melville, to John H. Day Jr.

The parents of the future bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Day of Oxnard.

June was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended the California Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo. She is employed by the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co.

She is the sister of Mary Etta and Martha Lee Melville of Terra Linda and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. B. Travers and the late Mr. Travers of Ajo, Ariz., and of Mrs. A. E. Melville of Verona, N.J.

John was graduated from Santa Clara High School in Oxnard and attended Ventura City College. He is employed as the manager of the Catermat Corporation of America in Fort Sill, Okla.

The young couple will be married on Oct. 19 at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda.

Her mother remarked that Karen said, "I'll never be a good salesperson." But the poise that this 14-year-old entrepreneur possesses belies her statement.

Karen and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Morrow and her sister, Kathie, 12, came to Novato two years ago when her father was transferred to the San Francisco office of the Standard Oil Co.

The young baton twirler had taken lessons from Marge Dunning Kinney in Gardena and as Karen had helped her teach in some of the classes, her instructor was very disappointed when Karen moved.

When Karen arrived in Novato, she twirled with the Wickettes, a trophy winning group, but she found that she preferred to solo. Karen lists several advantages of baton twirling lessons. "They teach the girls grace and poise, coordination of hands and is very useful to a girl who takes piano as it also encourages the use of the left hand," Karen said.

SHE SAID IT took a lot of hard work to master twirling, but she added, "life isn't all play, and it makes the girls happy to accomplish something."

Karen finds her job very rewarding as she wishes the girls to receive the same enjoyment as she has from her hobby.

The girls in her class have been taking lessons for approximately 18 weeks now. She is very thorough in keeping records of the girls' progress, so she keeps a speed chart and a progress chart. She will continue her classes during the school year, and in cold weather she uses the family garage for the practice area.

Looking ahead to her college education, Karen is depositing the money for the lessons in her bank account.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Arm Benders Society Will Honor Popular Members

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Novel are the invitations mailed to friends of the Robert Byards Jr. of Mill Valley who leave Sept. 24 for a trip to the Orient. The invitations start with a "command appearance to the farewell party given by "members of the Las Vegas Arm Benders Society" at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 12 at the "Kerlin Kafe." After a bit of sleuthing I learned that the Arm Benders belong to a bridge club which puts money in the kitty. Once a year the kitty gives it all and with this money the members take off for Las Vegas where they can pull the handles of the slot machines, arm bending for many hours. This is legal, of course, in Nevada.

The farewell is being given by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith and Mrs. Lewis Kerlin at the latter's home in Kent Woodlands. The Byards are going first to Manila then to Hong Kong where they'll meet their daughter, Mrs. Douglas Smith (Kay Byard) her husband and their children, Brandon, 10, Devon, 8, and Tia, 3, who are returning from a tour around the world, which began in Europe. The Byards, who will be away a month, will go on to Bangkok and Singapore and rejoin the Smith family in Japan, flying back to California.

Many farewell parties have been given for the Byards and more are on the social calendar. The George Goheens of Mill Valley gave one of these, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Medford will give a dinner at their Mill Valley home for the Byards, Sept. 7. Also the C. Franklin Medfords of Mill Valley will entertain at a dinner Sept. 14 for the Byards, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Herz of San Francisco have set Sept. 19 for their farewell dinner for the Byards. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Dawson of San Rafael will honor the popular couple at a dinner Aug. 21.

And that brings us up to date with travelers as Mrs. Kerlin with Mrs. John (Antoinnette) Lynch of San Rafael, who recently retired as art teacher in the San Rafael elementary schools, leave Sept. 28 for the Orient. They will sail to Hawaii, fly to Japan, Singapore, Formosa, India and travel in a leisurely way for several months then board ship for the return cruise.

THE NORMAN B. LIVERMORE Jr. and their family have been staying at Montesol, the Livermore ranch near Calistoga. Earlier this year they were at Lake Tahoe where Mrs. Livermore's parents have a summer place. While they are away the Livermores' San Rafael home is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carter Larsen.

The guests will include the Marin debs and some of Janet's friends as well as friends of the family. The girls will be seated at a special table and gathered at the table with Mrs. DeBerry will be Mesdames John H. Hoefer, Edward R. Rice III, Robert Bagnall, Frank King, James L. Zeigler, Harold F. Green and W. F. Witter, all of the Tiburon Peninsula.

Lorraine Cooper Will Be Bride In September

Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper of San Leandro are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Lorraine K. Cooper to Chris W. Avery of Novato.

Lorraine and Chris will be seniors at San Jose State College this fall. Chris is working on a research project at Moffett Field at Sunnyvale this summer.

The future benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Avery and the brother of Steven. He was graduated from Novato High School.

A Sept. 1 wedding date has been set.

Grocery Bill In Truth A Catchall

CHICAGO (UPI)—In estimating the total "food budget," consider that two of every 12 items that go into the shopping cart are known as "non foods" in the trade.

Young homemakers particularly are prone to include such items as phonograph records, toothpaste, children's toys, household cleaners, beach sandals and capri pants as items bought with their "grocery money," says the Super Market Institute.

A survey team from Purdue University peeked into the shopping carts of more than 11,000 Indiana homemakers to see how much general merchandise the average supermarket shopper buys.

October Wedding Is Planned

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Melville of Terra Linda are announcing the engagement of their daughter, June T. Melville, to John H. Day Jr.

The parents of the future bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Day of Oxnard.

June was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended the California Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo. She is employed by the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co.

She is the sister of Mary Etta and Martha Lee Melville of Terra Linda and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. B. Travers and the late Mr. Travers of Ajo, Ariz., and of Mrs. A. E. Melville of Verona, N.J.

John was graduated from Santa Clara High School in Oxnard and attended Ventura City College. He is employed as the manager of the Catermat Corporation of America in Fort Sill, Okla.

The young couple will be married on Oct. 19 at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda.

THE REAL HAWAIIAN WAY

Roast pig, poi, coconut loaf and raw fish were among Hawaiian foods served at a Luau Saturday at Hamilton Air Force Base. The luau was sponsored by the 36 cadets from the University of Hawaii for the 200 Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets on a four-week training schedule at Hamilton. Rodney Anzai and Melvin Han of the University of Hawaii, in back, explain the foods and their preparation to, from left, Richard Stultz of UCLA, Sharyn Borden of Santa Venetia, John Stark of the University of California and Cathy Hodge of Hamilton. Ti leaves, orchids and the lava rocks for the imu, or pits to cook the pig, were flown in from Hawaii. (U.S. Air Force photo)

MAGIC OF SEE-THROUGH

Looking through something at something for some mysterious reason has always been more interesting than simply looking at it. Whether it's a room-divider, a window frame, a mirror, or a doorway, the subtle change in perspective adds a fascination for the viewer. Imagine the room above as one long undivided room, and you will notice how much more interesting the dining area is when seen through the arches. In this case, of course, the see-through arches serve as a means of defining the two areas without dividing the room. An arched divider was used because it is in keeping with the formal air of the furniture. The rich, red damask wall is ideal with the Old World finish of the woods and with the classic accessories. Both it, and the pure white carpeting, flow through both areas to maintain the spaciousness.

Ethlyn Ann Hansen To Become Bride In Sept. 7 Ceremony

A Sept. 7 wedding is being planned by Ethlyn Ann Hansen of Fairfax and William Bruce Reiner of the East Bay, whose engagement was announced at a recent party given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vegods of Hillsborough.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Hansen of Salt Lake City and the late Mr. Hansen. She was graduated from the University of Utah with a degree in civil engineering and is employed as an engineer with the State Division of Highways traffic department in San Francisco. She is a member of the California Society of Professional Engineers, the Institute of Traffic Engineers, Society of Women Engineers and of the board of trustees of San Rafael General Hospital.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reiner of Bayonne, N.J. The brother of Stuart Reiner of New York City and Judith Reiner of Bayonne, he was graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y., and from the University of California with B.A. and M.A. degrees in architecture. He is a director and treasurer of the East Bay Chapter, American Institute of Architects, and a director of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce.

The couple is planning to live in Terra Linda.

Three-Day Sale Is Set In Mill Valley

The annual rummage sale sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Mill Valley Methodist Church will be held Wednesday through Friday.

Mrs. Ray Young and Mrs. William Wood will be co-chairmen for the sale to be held in the fellowship hall of the church, at the corner of Sycamore and Camino Alto, Mill Valley.

On Wednesday evening, the sale will be open to the public from 7 to 9 p.m. and will continue on Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The food and baked goods sale, directed by Mrs. Dean Walton, will be held on Saturday only.

A plant a cuttings booth is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Percy Bosanko. Mrs. Gunnar Anderson is in charge of the white elephant booth. The snack bar will be operated by the Methodist Youth Fellowships.

Doctors Warning On Skin Cancer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Suntanners take warning. The American Medical Association reports that "several converging lines of evidence" indicate that ultraviolet rays in sunlight are an important factor in producing certain types of skin cancer.

The AMA said studies show that:

About 90 per cent of skin cancer is found on exposed areas, principally the face; skin cancer is rare in Negroes, who are portected by pigmentation; in the United States, there is more cancer in southern states where there is more sunshine; and skin cancer can be produced in mice 100 per cent of the time by using ultraviolet light.

However, a single overexposure to sun cannot cause cancer, said AMA, although it may cause scarring or pigmentary changes. It takes long years of being outdoors to produce any danger from sunlight.

Need Recipe For Onions, Barnacles?

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP)—"Commodore" Margaret Nehl-McLennan of the Victoria Kayak Club allows that her post is a little lonely sometimes.

She's the founder, president, secretary and membership of the One-Woman Club.

And she just can't understand why.

Kayaking is loads of fun, she insists.

Recently she and seven members of a Seattle club made a seven-day tour through the nearby Gulf Islands, camping on beaches and living off the land.

Barnacles and wild onions constituted a typical breakfast.

(And for those who don't know how on earth you eat barnacles, Miss Nehl-McLennan provides the answer. Drop a barnacle-covered rock into a fire, leave for 10 minutes, break the barnacles off the rock and eat out of the back of the shell.)

Sea Point Parlor Sale Is Planned

Sausalito's Sea Point Parlor No. 196, Native Daughters of the Golden West, will hold its annual rummage sale Thursday through Saturday at Bee Street Hall, Sausalito.

Career Seeking That Fleeting Moment

Sixth in a series of articles on Marin's working women.

By CORENA GREEN

"It's not an unusual story," says Rita Graves of Tiburon, when asked how she got her start in portrait photography. "Someone gave me a camera when I was nine years old."

But her approach to her profession is anything but usual.

Miss Graves believes that a photographed portrait should have the same status as an oil portrait and receive the same meticulous attention to detail. As a result she has developed a technique which gives her portraits the quality of a charcoal drawing. She also believes that a photograph should be as unique as a painting and she will make only one copy.

She does admit, though, when children are involved she has had to face "the grandparents problem" and will make a small copy or two.

Miss Graves live and works in a studio apartment overlooking the Tiburon waterfront. She loves the marine view and the white sailed yachts which continually parade by

SHE ALSO MAKES a sort of hobby of appearing in grand opera; has photographed the Pope during an audience; and has had tea with Pearl Mesta when she was Ambassador to Luxemburg.

Born in Montclair, New Jersey, Miss Graves moved to New York as a child and there she attended the White Plains Good Counsel Academy. She then studied English and writing at Columbia University. Following this she became managing auditor of a naval architects' house organ, an account executive with an advertising agency in New York and then decided to free lance with her writing. In this she was successful and her work was published in national magazines.

AN ARTICLE CALLED "Six Weeks Backstage at the Metropolitan" took her into close contact with the persons behind the scenes. So enchanted was she with the costumes that the wardrobe mistress let her try on one of the glamorous gowns being worn in "Carmen."

It seemed such a pity to waste the effort of getting into the gorgeous thing, they let me go on stage as a super. Rise Stevens was singing and they sent me out to be the actor who found her body," Miss Graves related.

That was the beginning and with the "theater in her blood" she later appeared as an extra in Pagliacci and Cavalleria Rusticana in New York and later in Los Angeles as one of the four duchesses in Mephistopheles.

HER THEATRICAL CAREER extended to a stint with the Cove Players, after she came to Tiburon, as a prompter. One night she went on for an actress who was unable to appear. She has also been in two Mountain Plays—as a duchess in Alice in Wonderland and as a woman in Tamalpa this summer.

It was during a four month European journey in 1951 that she accomplished the seeminly impossible by taking a picture of Pope Pius XII while he was holding an audience. She reports that he willingly gave his permission after his audience with her.

Also during this journey she called on Pearl Mesta and was graciously received and invited to tea.

Because a childhood friend has joined the order of Sacramentine Nuns, she visited with the nuns in France, some of whom had never seen an American. Miss Graves has just returned from a visit to New York, where she attended the silver anniversary of her friends entry into the order. She recalls that her friend was painting a picture of Bernandette and was unable to finish when she entered the order so Miss Graves took over, spending many hours researching to achieve the proper colors.

FOLLOWING HER TRIP she came to Pasadena to work for the Ford Foundation Television Radio Workshop. As assistant to the director of the workshop she interviewed persons for ideas and looked at films suitable for educational radio and television programs. "Omnibus" was one of the programs which resulted from the workshop: However, the office was moved back to New York and she decided to remain in California and pursue one of her first loves, photography. "I wanted a profession that would bring people to me," she says.

She studied with photographers who were leaders in the field, including William Mortensen of Laguna and William A. Garnett of Pasadena.

Advised to look for a small town, she came north and after six trips decided to locate in Tiburon, which she discovered when someone took her to lunch at Sam's. It was November, 1959.

Miss Graves aims to capture the person's personality which she terms a "fleeting thing" when she "shoots" them. Consequently she always takes three rolls of film. The first roll is to get acquainted, the second when the subject has settled down and the third in case of a contingency such as a chemical problem during the developing.

SHE SHOOTS WITHIN four feet of the subject and as a result has achieved an immensely personal quality in her portraits. Not only has she been able to achieve this "fleeting moment" with children but also with adults and family groups. Lately she has produced some very fine animal portraits.

On several occasions she has had one-man shows at the bank on the Belvedere Boardwalk.

"I have always been interested in the arts," she says. "I love my profession because I love beauty. So far I have had nothing but beautiful people as my subjects."

PERSONALITY OF her subject is the aim of portrait photographer Rita Graves, who seeks "that fleeting moment . . ."

Wyna Joan Barron of Marin City and Ulysses Brown of San Francisco were married on Sunday at the Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Louis Hensley Jr.

When the bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Barron of Marin City, was given in marriage by her father, she was wearing a floor length gown of white peau de soie and chantilly lace.

The flower girl was the bride's niece, Vicki Barron, and her nephew, Theodore Barron III, was the ring bearer.

Serving the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Brown II of Fort Worth, Tex., as best man was John Newsome of San Francisco. Ushers were the bride's brother, Theo Barron Jr. of Marin City and George Wayfer of Richmond.

A reception was held after the wedding in the church reception hall and the young couple left afterward for a week's honeymoon in Carmel. They will be at home to friends in San Francisco on Sept. 5.

The new Mrs. Brown was graduated from Tamalpais High School and holds a bachelor of arts degree and a master of arts degree in education from San Francisco State College, where she was a member of Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

She is employed as a teacher in the San Francisco Unified School District.

Her grandparents are Mrs. I. S. Barron and the late Rev. I. S. Barron of Timpson, Tex., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hillsman.

The bridegroom was graduated from Terrell High School in Fort Worth and from the University of Denver. He is a teacher and cottage supervisor at the Homewood Terrace private school in San Francisco and is doing advanced study at San Francisco State College in the field of special education.

He is the brother of Mrs. Beverly Webb and Miss Marie Brown of Fort Worth, Tex. and Lawrence Brown of Fort Worth. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie McCann and the late Mr. and Mrs. Al Brown.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

One of the wonders of babyhood is the development of manual dexterity. Busy fingers become aware of their usefulness at 3 or 4 months. Exciting to watch baby discover that fingers are fine for sucking, playing with and getting the feel of everything from nose to toes . . . toys to clothes. At 4 to 5 months he can grasp toys . . . at 6 to 7 hold his bottle securely. Eight or 9 months find those hands working together . . . and oh magic moment, at 1 year, he can pick up and pinch-hold small objects with nimble thumb and forefinger.

P.S. If baby doesn't conform to the above "norms," don't worry. He'll do these things in his own sweet time, the best time of all.

Breakfast bonanza with a flavor bonus. How about a special cereal surprise for baby? Gerber Strained Oatmeal or Mixed Cereal with Applesauce and Bananas! There's a pair with a flair for brightening an appetite. Each cereal is cooked with fruit and ready to serve. Both boast a truly delightful flavor . . . a wonderfully smooth, moist texture. As for nutrition, they're enriched with iron and B-vitamins.

Two sock stories. (1) If you've more than one tot in your house, why not initial sock bottoms with indelible ink? Saves sorting time . . . prevents mismating. (2) Remember, socks should be checked for fit as often as shoes. Tight socks can cramp tender toes, too.

Vegetable viewpoint. Babies, like grownups, should have plenty of green and yellow vegetables because they're important sources of vitamin-A value. (That's the vitamin needed to help maintain normal vision and healthy skin). Gerber Carrots, Sweet Potatoes, Creamed Spinach, Mixed Vegetables and Garden Vegetables are especially high in vitamin-A value. Like all good-tasting Gerber Foods, they're specially processed to protect precious vitamins. As for meal-appeal, Gerber Vegetables have come-hither colors and garden-true flavors. Small wonder so many babies love them and thrive on them. Gerber Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Mich.

Career Seeking That Fleeting Moment

Sixth in a series of articles on Marin's working women.

By CORENA GREEN

"It's not an unusual story," says Rita Graves of Tiburon, when asked how she got her start in portrait photography. "Someone gave me a camera when I was nine years old."

But her approach to her profession is anything but usual.

Miss Graves believes that a photographed portrait should have the same status as an oil portrait and receive the same meticulous attention to detail. As a result she has developed a technique which gives her portraits the quality of a charcoal drawing. She also believes that a photograph should be as unique as a painting and she will make only one copy.

She does admit, though, when children are involved she has had to face "the grandparents problem" and will make a small copy or two.

Miss Graves live and works in a studio apartment overlooking the Tiburon waterfront. She loves the marine view and the white sailed yachts which continually parade by

SHE ALSO MAKES a sort of hobby of appearing in grand opera; has photographed the Pope during an audience; and has had tea with Pearl Mesta when she was Ambassador to Luxemburg.

Born in Montclair, New Jersey, Miss Graves moved to New York as a child and there she attended the White Plains Good Counsel Academy. She then studied English and writing at Columbia University. Following this she became managing auditor of a naval architects' house organ, an account executive with an advertising agency in New York and then decided to free lance with her writing. In this she was successful and her work was published in national magazines.

AN ARTICLE CALLED "Six Weeks Backstage at the Metropolitan" took her into close contact with the persons behind the scenes. So enchanted was she with the costumes that the wardrobe mistress let her try on one of the glamorous gowns being worn in "Carmen."

It seemed such a pity to waste the effort of getting into the gorgeous thing, they let me go on stage as a super. Rise Stevens was singing and they sent me out to be the actor who found her body," Miss Graves related.

That was the beginning and with the "theater in her blood" she later appeared as an extra in Pagliacci and Cavalleria Rusticana in New York and later in Los Angeles as one of the four duchesses in Mephistopheles.

HER THEATRICAL CAREER extended to a stint with the Cove Players, after she came to Tiburon, as a prompter. One night she went on for an actress who was unable to appear. She has also been in two Mountain Plays—as a duchess in Alice in Wonderland and as a woman in Tamalpa this summer.

It was during a four month European journey in 1951 that she accomplished the seeminly impossible by taking a picture of Pope Pius XII while he was holding an audience. She reports that he willingly gave his permission after his audience with her.

Also during this journey she called on Pearl Mesta and was graciously received and invited to tea.

Because a childhood friend has joined the order of Sacramentine Nuns, she visited with the nuns in France, some of whom had never seen an American. Miss Graves has just returned from a visit to New York, where she attended the silver anniversary of her friends entry into the order. She recalls that her friend was painting a picture of Bernandette and was unable to finish when she entered the order so Miss Graves took over, spending many hours researching to achieve the proper colors.

FOLLOWING HER TRIP she came to Pasadena to work for the Ford Foundation Television Radio Workshop. As assistant to the director of the workshop she interviewed persons for ideas and looked at films suitable for educational radio and television programs. "Omnibus" was one of the programs which resulted from the workshop: However, the office was moved back to New York and she decided to remain in California and pursue one of her first loves, photography. "I wanted a profession that would bring people to me," she says.

She studied with photographers who were leaders in the field, including William Mortensen of Laguna and William A. Garnett of Pasadena.

Advised to look for a small town, she came north and after six trips decided to locate in Tiburon, which she discovered when someone took her to lunch at Sam's. It was November, 1959.

Miss Graves aims to capture the person's personality which she terms a "fleeting thing" when she "shoots" them. Consequently she always takes three rolls of film. The first roll is to get acquainted, the second when the subject has settled down and the third in case of a contingency such as a chemical problem during the developing.

SHE SHOOTS WITHIN four feet of the subject and as a result has achieved an immensely personal quality in her portraits. Not only has she been able to achieve this "fleeting moment" with children but also with adults and family groups. Lately she has produced some very fine animal portraits.

On several occasions she has had one-man shows at the bank on the Belvedere Boardwalk.

"I have always been interested in the arts," she says. "I love my profession because I love beauty. So far I have had nothing but beautiful people as my subjects."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

Shutout Bid Sometimes Pushes Opponent Out Over His Maximum

An opponent's shutout bid often forces you to bid more than you enjoy.

If you stay out of the bidding, the hand will be stolen from under your nose; if you get into the auction, your partner will get you too high.

Opening lead — ♣ 3

When East bid three clubs in the recent national tournament, Mrs. Jacqui Mitchell had quite a problem.

If she stayed out, North might have to pass; and East would steal the hand at three clubs.

SHE BIDS

Mrs. Mitchell actually bid, just as anybody who knows her bidding style would expect.

But then North felt compelled to make a slam try since he had no way of knowing how much his partner had already strained to bid.

East won the first trick with the king of clubs and shot back the jack of spades. It wasn't easy to win 11 tricks after this start, but Mrs. Mitchell managed it.

TAKES ACE

Declarer took the ace of spades, cashed the king of diamonds, and led a trump to dummy's nine.

She discarded a spade on the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, led a trump to the jack, and ruffed another diamond.

But this time it was clear that East had started with three diamonds, two hearts, and a singleton spade—assuming he has seven clubs for his opening bid of three clubs.

To put it another way, East had nothing but clubs left.

LEADS QUEEN

Mrs. Mitchell led the queen of clubs and discarded a spade from dummy, allowing East to win the trick.

On the forced club return, declarer ruffed, discarding dummy's last spade. The rest of the tricks were hers.

Incidentally, if you happen to be in North's position some day after an opponent has opened with a shutout bid, give your partner some leeway. She may not have Mrs. Mitchell's luck—or perhaps she may not be as superb a player.

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 20, the 232nd day of 1963 with 133 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first phase. The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1741, Danish navigator Vitus Jonas Bering discovered Alaska.

In 1914, Germany accupied the Belgium capital, Brussels.

In 1960, Russia retrieved two dogs from a space satellite — the first flying living creatures ever recovered from space.

A thought for the day — Bertrand Russell said: "A good society is a means to a good life for those who compose it; not something having a kind of excellence on its own account."

Shutout Bid Sometimes Pushes Opponent Out Over His Maximum

An opponent's shutout bid often forces you to bid more than you enjoy.

If you stay out of the bidding, the hand will be stolen from under your nose; if you get into the auction, your partner will get you too high.

When East bid three clubs in the recent national tournament, Mrs. Jacqui Mitchell had quite a problem.

If she stayed out, North might have to pass; and East would steal the hand at three clubs.

SHE BIDS

Mrs. Mitchell actually bid, just as anybody who knows her bidding style would expect.

But then North felt compelled to make a slam try since he had no way of knowing how much his partner had already strained to bid.

East won the first trick with the king of clubs and shot back the jack of spades. It wasn't easy to win 11 tricks after this start, but Mrs. Mitchell managed it.

TAKES ACE

Declarer took the ace of spades, cashed the king of diamonds, and led a trump to dummy's nine.

She discarded a spade on the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, led a trump to the jack, and ruffed another diamond.

But this time it was clear that East had started with three diamonds, two hearts, and a singleton spade—assuming he has seven clubs for his opening bid of three clubs.

To put it another way, East had nothing but clubs left.

LEADS QUEEN

Mrs. Mitchell led the queen of clubs and discarded a spade from dummy, allowing East to win the trick.

On the forced club return, declarer ruffed, discarding dummy's last spade. The rest of the tricks were hers.

Incidentally, if you happen to be in North's position some day after an opponent has opened with a shutout bid, give your partner some leeway. She may not have Mrs. Mitchell's luck—or perhaps she may not be as superb a player.

It Never Hurts To Make Try For Help In Marin

From Marin County, the chief importance of San Francisco's new tunnel project is a bare possibility that it may indirectly assist the south approaches to the Golden Gate Bridge by conferring eligibility for federal funds through linking with the interstate road system.

It never hurts to try. And chances might be better than they seemed as various reports straggled forth last week in confusing order suggesting perhaps over-pessimistically that all hope was gone.

Widening the approaches certainly would help Marin commuters who aren't expected to benefit greatly by the tunnel itself, as presently planned.

Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, one of Marin's two representatives on the Golden Gate Bridge board of directors, will miss no chance that federal aid may be drawn to this project after all as a fringe benefit. If it worked out, the fringe would be bigger in Marin eyes than the main cloth.

Not that we don't favor a San Francisco tunnel. In fact, the way things are packing up over there it may gradually become necessary to put all the traffic underground since San Francisco seems firmly against overpass extension.

The former pleasures and thrills of traveling San Francisco streets have been largely eliminated by congestion.

So maybe the solution will be not one tunnel but many, with particular attention to pointing broad entrances toward the Golden Gate Bridge so that Marin natives may scamper back home and resume normal outdoor living.

Something in Marin's climate tends to keep the spirit strong. While we're about it, congratulations to the Civic Affairs Council for its recent decision to push reintroduction to the legislature of a bill enabling this county to set up a transit district of its own.

The try in this case is thoroughly justified by belief that Governor Brown, who pocket-vetoed the last such effort, may check up on such local facts as that we got thrown out of the Bay Area district as soon as he gets through discovering that the earth is round, and kindred matters.

Suddenly, in the middle of the game, Ping called the proceedings to a halt, walked over to the grandstand and climbed laboriously to the top. When he reached the top row he bellowed, "Play ball!"

The bewildered managers rushed up to Ping and asked him what on earth he thought he was doing.

"If these people can see better up here than I can down there," he roared, "then here's where I call 'em from. Play ball!"

It's one of the easiest things in the world to sit as a spectator on the side lines, criticizing and complaining. But it's much more productive of good results to get into the thick of things and work to restore the values of Christ to the market place.

Ballot-Box Failed To Meet Test In Civil Rights Crisis

By LYLE C. WILSON

THE AMERICAN WAY of dealing with civil rights and relations between Negro and white citizens would have been a resort to the ballot box in local and state elections.

In this crisis of race relations, the American way failed to meet the challenge. This failure to cope with a great national problem is the most frightening aspect of the whole gloomy scene.

American citizens should inform themselves as to the circumstances by which they permitted themselves to be entrapped in the existing race relations deadfall. When the American way marks up a big, fat failure it is, indeed, time for all good men to come to the aid of their country.

THIS ESSAY is to propose that the major blame for the situation now confronting me and my fellow citizens shall be assessed against the shameless politicians of both major parties.

These shameless ones made to Negroes presidential campaign promises they have not redeemed. Pure humbug!

It is fair to suspect that some or all of them had no intention of redeeming the promises tossed out as bait during the presidential campaign to Negro voters.

It is reasonable to believe that some of these promises were impossible of redemption and, further, that the politicians knew this when the promises were made.

IT IS CUSTOMARY now to blame Negro leaders for taking their civil rights arguments into the streets. These Negroes own their share of blame, right enough. But what about the politicians, especially the Democratic politicians, who promised in 1960 about what the Negroes are demanding in 1963?

The 1960 Democratic platform covered the waterfront on civil rights. You name it and the platform promised it. The Democrats were able, even, to out-promise the Republicans in their bid for Negro votes.

That is no small accomplishment because the Republicans also have been playing cruel politics at the expense of the Negroes for many years, and getting away with it, too. It was not until FDR put together his New Deal combination of the have-nots and under-privileged with the Democrats of the South that the Negroes bolted the Republicans.

FDR DIDN'T OFFER Negroes much in the way of rights, either. There were kind words but more important there were federal handouts, work relief, public housing, eatin' money. The 1932 Democratic platform on which FDR stood for his first election wasted few words on civil rights. It said this: "Equal rights to all; special privilege to none."

Of course the Democrats did not really mean even that. But those eight words are not to be compared for duplicity with the outrageously flamboyant promises that political parties now freely make to obtain Negro votes.

The South is furious with the Kennedy brothers for their efforts in behalf of civil rights. But give the Kennedys credit. They did try to deal with civil rights at the ballot box, the American way.

When that did not work and the riots began in the streets, the Kennedys returned to their platform promises. They were stuck with them. With a presidential election just around the corner, there was no alternative. The voting Negroes in the North and East were ready to call their political loans.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I deplore Reporter Fradkin's seriously misquoting me in Thursday night's article concerning the Negro in Marin, (I-J, Aug. 14, 1963).

After taking virtually no notes during a one-hour interview, Mr. Fradkin invents, as a direct quotation, what amounts to a contradiction in terms. No freshman student of Aristotelian logic could see it as anything but an inept non-sequitor.

For the record, may I be quoted as never having thought of the Marin Committee for Fair Play as "fashionable." I certainly would never use such a ridiculous adjective to describe the terribly arduous—and always unpopular—work of one of Marin's most dedicated groups of responsible citizens working for an ever-more perfect community.

As for Mr. Fradkin's writing (in quotation marks again) that I had said that our committee "could become controversial," the remark says nothing. Our committee will, I suppose, always be "controversial" to some. To imply that I might feel that it would not be, and therefore might become "controversial" is, of course, absurd.

I bring this to your attention only to point up an example of exceedingly irresponsible reporting.

That is, I did until you published my letter in rebuttal to some of Mr. Wyatt's columns. Thank you for publishing it, by the way.

But mostly, thanks to whoever it was who edited that letter. It was a masterful job of editing and left the letter saying what I intended it to say in a much more succinct and clear way than I had managed to do.

A FATEFUL 'PALAIS'

Germany Still Key To Calm Europe

By PHIL NEWSOM

BONN (UPI)—In a park-like setting in Bonn stands a three-story residence of clean, white lines and quiet elegance. It is called the Palais Schaumburg.

In its withdrawn setting only the soldiers of the West German Republic standing at the gates give it the appearance of more than passing importance.

But it is, in fact, the official residence of the West German chancellor, and from it to a degree which would have been deemed impossible 25 years ago radiates an influence over the decisions of every major Western power.

It may be the force which determines whether President Charles de Gaulle of France decides to seek a second term.

IT, MORE THAN France, will determine the future course of the European Common Market.

And in these days of cautious hope for a world more at ease with itself, the United States will take careful soundings of opinion at the Palais Schaumburg before proceeding further in any effort to reach agreement with the Soviet Union beyond the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

For Germany is the prize of Europe, and remains as it has been through modern history the key to European stability.

FOR DE GAULLE, who sealed his Franco-German accord with a kiss for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the course of events since last January has been a disappointment.

In the preamble to the accord approved by the West German Bundestag, the Germans made clear their continued devotion to NATO and to close ties with the United States as opposed to de Gaulle's own grand designs for Europe.

The German decision to become a signatory to the partial test ban agreement was over de Gaulle's opposition and led to laments in French newspapers that France now stands isolated.

In its agricultural policies for the common market and in its desire that Britain also be brought into the European community, West Germany also stands in stubborn opposition to de Gaulle.

And these are the conditions which may determine de Gaulle that he and he alone can guide France through the immediate years ahead.

IN THE YEARS since the West German Federal Republic came into being in 1949, the United States carefully has nurtured West German public opinion.

A neutralist or pro-Communist Germany could determine the fate of the whole of Europe.

This is the knowledge which has helped to keep U.S. forces in Europe and has been a contributing factor to U.S. support of German demands for reunification of Germany. And it will dictate caution in the study of such Soviet proposals as a non-aggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw Pact nations for fear that it also will mean recognition of Communist East Germany.

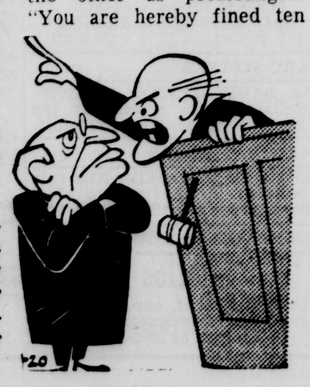
It could be, as Secretary of State Dean Rusk hopes, that the partial test ban treaty can help "frail and fearful mankind" to take another step toward world peace.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Two judges who had been at swords points for years were nailed with summonses for speeding and showed up in court simultaneously. To save time they agreed to appear before each other.

The first judge mounted the bench, glared at his fellow judge and rasped, "You are charged with grossly exceeding the speed limit. How do you plead?" "Guilty," said the other as prearranged. "You are hereby fined ten dollars," was the verdict. "Step down. Next case."



The two judges swapped places, and the same routine was repeated. Only this time, when the second judge pleaded "Guilty," the first one pointed out sharply, "This is the second case of this kind we've had here this morning. Reckless speeding is becoming far too prevalent in these parts. We've got to stop it. You are fined $25 or ten days in jail."

The producer of one of those foreign film epics, employing a cast of hundreds, plus the entire Yugoslavian infantry corps, persuaded Sam Goldwyn to attend a prevue, then asked him eagerly, "Do you think it will be a commercial success?" "Joe," replied Goldwyn heartily, "if you can only persuade every member of the cast to pay to see your picture, you've got a smash!"

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Office, Office, Who's Got It? Well, In Novato—Everyone

NOVATO CITY offices have been in the new Novato Civic Center for just a week now. One must really see these bright, spacious modern offices to see what an excellent home the city now has for its employees.

If one did not know it, one would have a hard time trying to imagine that this was a church and Sunday School building short weeks ago.

These bright new offices have already evoked their outburst of jealousy. This was not among the city employees, however, but among the city council. Councilman Lucile Cannon objected to the mayor having an office there without the rest of the council having one also.

When the designs were first drawn for converting the Presbyterian Church properties, there was no office for the mayor. Some people said he needed one.

THE MAYOR does have more duties at city hall than the other councilmen. He must sign most of the official papers for the city. In addition, he must meet visiting officials from Hamilton Air Force Base and cities in his official capacity.

In the old city hall, he signed papers on the desks of anyone who was not using it at the time. And he met visitors by just standing in the center of the city hall, which was an old bank building.

City Administrator J. Julien Baget said that many people felt the mayor needed a place to carry on these functions. So one storage room was turned over to him and he was given one of the surplus desks which the city bought from Marin County.

Mrs. Cannon objected to that at last Tuesday night's council meeting. She wanted an office for other members of the council. Silva offered his office saying that he didn't want it. Councilmen John Angeloni and Everett Pozzi said that if people wanted to see them, they could come to the council meetings.

Oil was cast on the troubled waters by decision that all council members could use the office as well as the mayor.

APARTMENT DWELLERS are not supposed to be gardeners, but most people, including those who live in apartments, like to measure the change of the seasons by the growing plants.

I am no exception to that rule, and so have a small garden about four times the size of my desk. When I left for vacation, I had a few small tomato plants tied to the base of some stakes and some beans just starting up strings. Of course there were other things in it too, such as beets, wax beans, cucumbers, peppers, radishes and lettuce.

Our good neighbor, Mrs. Andrew Bretz, wife of the manager of the chamber of commerce, kept the garden watered for us while we were gone. She must have done an excellent job too.

Imagine our surprise to come home to a veritable jungle. The tomato plants had reached the top of the stakes and the beans climbed to the top of the strings. And the radishes made the most beautiful row of flowers seen in a long time.

AN AD in the I-J "Lost" column told of a calico cat with a half-black and half-tan or yellow face, offering a reward.

The ad could not give the whole story of Candy, 10, Randy, 8, and Laurie, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson of 1563 Buchanan Street, Novato, who lost the cat. The children were very fond of it and of course were brokenhearted.

The family had just moved from Reno, Nev. The cat was unfamiliar with its surroundings and disappeared, apparently for keeps.

Not trusting in advertising alone, the children took a pan of food and went door to door in their Rancho Village neighborhood, knocking on doors.

"Have you seen our kitty?" they asked.

Have you?

Shy Legislators Balk And Fret At Sight Of Tape Recorder

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Legislators are "gun shy" about a lot of things, including items that might react against their popularity with constituents.

But lately they've become shy in another field. Now they're "recorder-shy."

The whole story stems from an effort made by a reporter (the writer) to use a modern piece of equipment known as a portable tape recorder to cover a committee meeting during the regular legislative session this year.

Use of a recorder saves taking notes, and assures the public a wholly accurate report of what goes on in a committee. But the electronics device apparently is too modern for some backward legislators, and for some unknown reason, it has aroused the ire of some of the legislators.

THE FIRST was Assemblyman Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley) who is chairman of the assembly public health committee.

Assuming that use of a tape recorder was no different than using a pencil and paper, the reporter uncorked the machine and made ready to record the testimony.

But Chairman Rumford had different ideas. He asked if a recorder was in use, and immediately put the question to the committee as to whether it should be allowed. Rumford failed to get enough votes to throw the recorder out, but the reporter left anyhow, rather than offend even a minority of the committee.

Next, Sen. Virgil O'Sullicent, D-Colusa, in a senate committee hearing, who was acting chairman, said no recorders could be used without the permission of the chairman, who wasn't present.

MUCH LATER, the rules committees of both houses were asked to rule on use of the device. The assembly committee said no use would be permitted unless every member of the committee agreed that such use was proper. The senate said it was the responsibility of the joint rules committee.

But a letter to the joint rules committee, headed by Assemblyman Thomas Bane, D-North Hollywood, brought back the astounding information that "this appears to be a subject which should be resolved by the individual houses, and the matter has been referred to the Senate and to the Assembly Rules Committees for consideration."

Results? Right back where we started from!

One assemblyman, Myron Frew, D-Hanford, said he was afraid some unscrupulous radio reporter might take tape and splice it up to give the appearance a legislator was saying something other than what he said.

I certainly would never use such a ridiculous adjective to describe the terribly arduous—and always unpopular—work of one of Marin's most dedicated groups of responsible citizens working for an ever-more perfect community.

As for Mr. Fradkin's writing (in quotation marks again) that I had said that our committee "could become controversial," the remark says nothing. Our committee will, I suppose, always be "controversial" to some. To imply that I might feel that it would not be, and therefore might become "controversial" is, of course, absurd.

I bring this to your attention only to point up an example of exceedingly irresponsible reporting.

You Are Much Too Kind

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have noticed lately in your columns that writers of letters to the editor have asked that their letters not be edited or cut. This is the cry of all writers, of course, and I sympathized with them. That is, I did until you published my letter in rebuttal to some of Mr. Wyatt's columns. Thank you for publishing it, by the way.

But mostly, thanks to whoever it was who edited that letter. It was a masterful job of editing and left the letter saying what I intended it to say in a much more succinct and clear way than I had managed to do.

A FATEFUL 'PALAIS'

Germany Still Key To Calm Europe

By PHIL NEWSOM

BONN (UPI)—In a park-like setting in Bonn stands a three-story residence of clean, white lines and quiet elegance. It is called the Palais Schaumburg.

In its withdrawn setting only the soldiers of the West German Republic standing at the gates give it the appearance of more than passing importance.

But it is, in fact, the official residence of the West German chancellor, and from it to a degree which would have been deemed impossible 25 years ago radiates an influence over the decisions of every major Western power.

It may be the force which determines whether President Charles de Gaulle of France decides to seek a second term.

IT, MORE THAN France, will determine the future course of the European Common Market.

And in these days of cautious hope for a world more at ease with itself, the United States will take careful soundings of opinion at the Palais Schaumburg before proceeding further in any effort to reach agreement with the Soviet Union beyond the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

For Germany is the prize of Europe, and remains as it has been through modern history the key to European stability.

FOR DE GAULLE, who sealed his Franco-German accord with a kiss for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the course of events since last January has been a disappointment.

In the preamble to the accord approved by the West German Bundestag, the Germans made clear their continued devotion to NATO and to close ties with the United States as opposed to de Gaulle's own grand designs for Europe.

The German decision to become a signatory to the partial test ban agreement was over de Gaulle's opposition and led to laments in French newspapers that France now stands isolated.

In its agricultural policies for the common market and in its desire that Britain also be brought into the European community, West Germany also stands in stubborn opposition to de Gaulle.

And these are the conditions which may determine de Gaulle that he and he alone can guide France through the immediate years ahead.

IN THE YEARS since the West German Federal Republic came into being in 1949, the United States carefully has nurtured West German public opinion.

A neutralist or pro-Communist Germany could determine the fate of the whole of Europe.

This is the knowledge which has helped to keep U.S. forces in Europe and has been a contributing factor to U.S. support of German demands for reunification of Germany. And it will dictate caution in the study of such Soviet proposals as a non-aggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw Pact nations for fear that it also will mean recognition of Communist East Germany.

It could be, as Secretary of State Dean Rusk hopes, that the partial test ban treaty can help "frail and fearful mankind" to take another step toward world peace.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Two judges who had been at swords points for years were nailed with summonses for speeding and showed up in court simultaneously. To save time they agreed to appear before each other.

The first judge mounted the bench, glared at his fellow judge and rasped, "You are charged with grossly exceeding the speed limit. How do you plead?" "Guilty," said the other as prearranged. "You are hereby fined ten dollars," was the verdict. "Step down. Next case."

The two judges swapped places, and the same routine was repeated. Only this time, when the second judge pleaded "Guilty," the first one pointed out sharply, "This is the second case of this kind we've had here this morning. Reckless speeding is becoming far too prevalent in these parts. We've got to stop it. You are fined $25 or ten days in jail."

The producer of one of those foreign film epics, employing a cast of hundreds, plus the entire Yugoslavian infantry corps, persuaded Sam Goldwyn to attend a prevue, then asked him eagerly, "Do you think it will be a commercial success?" "Joe," replied Goldwyn heartily, "if you can only persuade every member of the cast to pay to see your picture, you've got a smash!"

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Office, Office, Who's Got It? Well, In Novato—Everyone

NOVATO CITY offices have been in the new Novato Civic Center for just a week now. One must really see these bright, spacious modern offices to see what an excellent home the city now has for its employees.

If one did not know it, one would have a hard time trying to imagine that this was a church and Sunday School building short weeks ago.

These bright new offices have already evoked their outburst of jealousy. This was not among the city employees, however, but among the city council. Councilman Lucile Cannon objected to the mayor having an office there without the rest of the council having one also.

When the designs were first drawn for converting the Presbyterian Church properties, there was no office for the mayor. Some people said he needed one.

THE MAYOR does have more duties at city hall than the other councilmen. He must sign most of the official papers for the city. In addition, he must meet visiting officials from Hamilton Air Force Base and cities in his official capacity.

In the old city hall, he signed papers on the desks of anyone who was not using it at the time. And he met visitors by just standing in the center of the city hall, which was an old bank building.

City Administrator J. Julien Baget said that many people felt the mayor needed a place to carry on these functions. So one storage room was turned over to him and he was given one of the surplus desks which the city bought from Marin County.

Mrs. Cannon objected to that at last Tuesday night's council meeting. She wanted an office for other members of the council. Silva offered his office saying that he didn't want it. Councilmen John Angeloni and Everett Pozzi said that if people wanted to see them, they could come to the council meetings.

Oil was cast on the troubled waters by decision that all council members could use the office as well as the mayor.

APARTMENT DWELLERS are not supposed to be gardeners, but most people, including those who live in apartments, like to measure the change of the seasons by the growing plants.

I am no exception to that rule, and so have a small garden about four times the size of my desk. When I left for vacation, I had a few small tomato plants tied to the base of some stakes and some beans just starting up strings. Of course there were other things in it too, such as beets, wax beans, cucumbers, peppers, radishes and lettuce.

Our good neighbor, Mrs. Andrew Bretz, wife of the manager of the chamber of commerce, kept the garden watered for us while we were gone. She must have done an excellent job too.

Imagine our surprise to come home to a veritable jungle. The tomato plants had reached the top of the stakes and the beans climbed to the top of the strings. And the radishes made the most beautiful row of flowers seen in a long time.

AN AD in the I-J "Lost" column told of a calico cat with a half-black and half-tan or yellow face, offering a reward.

The ad could not give the whole story of Candy, 10, Randy, 8, and Laurie, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson of 1563 Buchanan Street, Novato, who lost the cat. The children were very fond of it and of course were brokenhearted.

The family had just moved from Reno, Nev. The cat was unfamiliar with its surroundings and disappeared, apparently for keeps.

Not trusting in advertising alone, the children took a pan of food and went door to door in their Rancho Village neighborhood, knocking on doors.

"Have you seen our kitty?" they asked.

Have you?

Shy Legislators Balk And Fret At Sight Of Tape Recorder

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Legislators are "gun shy" about a lot of things, including items that might react against their popularity with constituents.

The whole story stems from an effort made by a reporter (the writer) to use a modern piece of equipment known as a portable tape recorder to cover a committee meeting during the regular legislative session this year.

Use of a recorder saves taking notes, and assures the public a wholly accurate report of what goes on in a committee. But the electronics device apparently is too modern for some backward legislators, and for some unknown reason, it has aroused the ire of some of the legislators.

THE FIRST was Assemblyman Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley) who is chairman of the assembly public health committee.

Assuming that use of a tape recorder was no different than using a pencil and paper, the reporter uncorked the machine and made ready to record the testimony.

But Chairman Rumford had different ideas. He asked if a recorder was in use, and immediately put the question to the committee as to whether it should be allowed. Rumford failed to get enough votes to throw the recorder out, but the reporter left anyhow, rather than offend even a minority of the committee.

Next, Sen. Virgil O'Sullicent, D-Colusa, in a senate committee hearing, who was acting chairman, said no recorders could be used without the permission of the chairman, who wasn't present.

MUCH LATER, the rules committees of both houses were asked to rule on use of the device. The assembly committee said no use would be permitted unless every member of the committee agreed that such use was proper. The senate said it was the responsibility of the joint rules committee.

But a letter to the joint rules committee, headed by Assemblyman Thomas Bane, D-North Hollywood, brought back the astounding information that "this appears to be a subject which should be resolved by the individual houses, and the matter has been referred to the Senate and to the Assembly Rules Committees for consideration."

Results? Right back where we started from!

One assemblyman, Myron Frew, D-Hanford, said he was afraid some unscrupulous radio reporter might take tape and splice it up to give the appearance a legislator was saying something other than what he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

"My wife has an over-active thyroid gland that is making her nervous and shaky. She is becoming more irritable and complains of palpitation.

"Since she is only 26, our physician decided medicine might work but when we returned to his office he changed his mind when told she is pregnant. Now he wants to operate and we can't understand why this is necessary," writes M. F. This couple has a real problem but it can be solved.

Pregnancy complicates the hyperthyroidism picture because the unborn child must be taken into consideration. The three drugs employed most frequently in the medical treatment of this disease are propylthiouracil, tapazole, and itrumil.

They interfere with the manufacture of thyroid extract and I assume this woman's physician was going to prescribe one of these products. But they cannot be given during pregnancy because they also depress the thyroid gland of the fetus, which might cause cretinism.

THE USE OF radioactive iodine (I131) also is unwise even though it is an excellent remedy for overactive thyroid. It is taboo in women under 30 years of age because of the chance that it might lead to a malignancy in the decades to come. In addition it reaches the unborn baby and might destroy his thyroid gland.

Surgery is the lesser of two evils and is recommended usually when the diagnosis of hyperthyroidism is made within the first four months of pregnancy. Ordinary iodine (Lugol's solution) is given for a few days, followed by thyroidectomy. This procedure can be done safely during pregnancy.

REMOVAL of the gland has an adverse effect on development of the baby's thyroid unless the mother takes desiccated thyroid or thyroxin daily throughout pregnancy. The child picks up this thyroid and develops in a normal way.

The exception to this plan is the development of hyperthyroidism late in pregnancy. Lugol's solution can be used when the disease is mild and propylthiouracil if it is severe. But the baby is protected, when thyroid extract is taken concomitantly.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

CONVULSIONS

R. F. writes: What disorders, other than epilepsy, are associated with convulsions?

REPLY

Among the conditions that may lead to convulsions are various infections, tumors, and blood vessel disorders of the brain. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on convulsions.

HEROIN OUTLAWED

J. P. writes: Is the notorious drug, heroin, ever used legally by physicians or hospitals?

REPLY

No, even though it is a more potent pain killer than morphine. The manufacture and sale of heroin has been outlawed in this country because it is likely to produce serious addiction.

RESTLESSNESS HINT

Mrs. P. H. writes: I find some of your health hints tantalizing — for instance, "Restlessness can kill." I must know more.

REPLY

Restlessness is damaging if it raises blood pressure, leads to peptic ulcer, or interferes with appetite and sleep.

HEART HELPERS

E. C. writes: Does medicine help an enlarged heart?

REPLY

Yes. Drugs that lower blood pressure, for example, may reduce the size of the heart. Digitalis and diuretics are useful when dropsy ensues due to enlargement of the organ.

Today's Health Hint—Avoid overmedication.

Blesses School

OHAHA, Neb. (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, dedicated an elementary school named for him at Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, Neb., saying: "God bless the fine military people who made this possible."

Tuberculosis Increasing In Marin

Despite the impression that tuberculosis is on the decline, more Marin residents had the disease in 1962 than in 1961.

The increase, five more cases last year than in 1961, is not statistically important. But it does indicate, said Dr. Richard S. Hahn of San Rafael, that the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. is short of its goal, "complete erradication" of the disease.

"There is still a large reservoir of active tuberculosis," said Hahn, who is president of the TB association. "We are considerably short of the national average of TB cases. We're proud of that, but nothing short of complete erradication is satisfactory.

"The concept of a haggard, consumptive, coughing individual with TB doesn't hold up anymore. The normal person with TB now who doesn't know about it looks perfectly healthy. He is working and feels completely well; maybe he's a little tired and a few pounds in weight, but who doesn't have these symptons, especially if he smokes a lot? The average patient is astonished when the doctor says he has tuberculosis.

"That's why x-rays and skin tests are so important to detecting TB. An early diagnosis on a broad enough scale can decidely lower the percentage of cases by protecting others from exposure."

The increase in reported cases in Marin, from 19 in 1960 to 21 in 1961 and 26 last year is partly due to an increase in population, Hahn said. But the case rate per million persons is up from 13.4 in 1961 to 15.6 in 1962.

"The more astute and perceptive we can make our psysicians and public, the more cases we'll find," said Hahn in explanation.

Of the TB cases reported in the county last year, 20 were men and six were women. Three cases in the primary stage of the disease were also reported in three children six and under. Among both men and women, most of the reported cases occurred in persons 30 through 60 years old. The oldest patient was an 85-year-old woman, the youngest a 27-year-old man, reported Dr. Mary Jo Tonelli, assistant county health officer. "More men have the disease," she said, "because they're exposed more often than women to others with it."

The TB association, reported Hahn, spent $35,582 from March, 1961, to March, 1962, for detection, education and research on tuberculosis.

In May, 1962, the County Health Department and Marin General Hospital took over financing part of the x-ray detection program, freeing $7,000 of the association's money to begin a TB skin test for Marin school children.

A total of 1,002 pupils in the first and ninth grades of San Rafael schools were tested in February this year.

Eleven of those children were "positive reactors. None had TB, but all had active TB germs in their body and must be tested frequently to make sure they don't come down with the disease.

The association, which is financed chiefly through Christmas seal donations, expects to expand the student testing program to two high schools in Marin.

The association also offers aid to TB patients at Ross General Hospital and has planned symposiums for doctors and nurses on the disease.

More than 275 volunteer workers spent 4,000 hours working for the association.

Old Bellwethers Fooling Experts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Half way through the traditionally dull third quarter of the year the course of business and industry again is fooling the experts. The latest figures show that the economy continues to zig when by the rules it should have zagged.

In July steel and auto output both dropped. By the textbooks this should have dragged the Federal Reserve Board's industrial production index down. It didn't. The index rose to a record high. Other kinds of industrial activity were just too strong for the old-time bellwethers to lead to the downward path.

Employment, especially in manufacturing, was unusually good this summer, when a large seasonal decline was expected. Better than ordinary gains for the time of year were reported in services, trades and construction. The rise matched the increase in the labor force.

So the output of goods (other than basic steel and autos) was too good and prospects for sales too bright for the decline in the economy that had been feared with the advent of hot weather and mass vacations.

Steel making fell off because customers were still using up out-size inventories stacked high when a new labor contract was being hammered out.

Auto activity started its seasonal slowdown while production lines were being set up for new models.

Auto production should climb again shortly. Steel activity is expected to quicken in another month or so.

Meantime, the rest of the economy is strong enough to shine without them. Output of most consumer goods, other than autos, has increased. So has production of business equipment.

The goods continue to move into the hands of consumers.

In the last four weeks department store sales have increased in every one of the 12 federal reserve districts (ranging from a gain of 1 per cent in the Richmond district to 12 per cent in New York). Retail sales in general are ahead of last year in all classifications except apparel. Back-to-school promotions, now starting, should perk up clothing sales.

Personal income has held to a fairly steady upward trend. While individual savings totals have swelled, so have consumer expenditures. Outstanding installment debt is at a record high, indicating both consumer confidence in future incomes and business confidence in consumer ability to keep up with the payments. Many corporations have reported record earnings.

Home building continues at a high rate. Commercial construction has slackened but industrial building shows signs of quickening. Outlays for public projects run ahead of a year ago.

All of this has led the nation's official crystal gazers to upgrade earlier predictions.

They are now foreseeing a record national output of goods and services this year of $580 billion or better. The annual rate of this gross national product in the first three months was $572 billion. This rose to $579 billion in the April-May-June period. Some think the pace may hit $590 billion in the final three months of the year.

Already the better-than expected performance of the economy has paid off for the U.S. Treasury. Tax collections have been higher than first hoped. The estimate of the treasury deficit has been trimmed.

The economy isn't as strong as many would like. But it's a lot healthier than some viewers-with-alarm were predicting.

Clausen Sees Better Northern Air Service

Airline service to Santa Rosa and Crescent City will be "strengthened" by a new airline subsidy reduction program announced by the Civil Aeronautics Board, Rep. Don Clausen (R-Crescent City) said today.

"Not only will this proposed new program cut airline subsidies by 75 million dollars in the next five years, it will strengthen the position of smaller cities which have two to four round trips daily. The savings will be made in areas where there are more than seven round trips per day," Clausen said.

He said "the proposed new program also will tend to guarantee two round trips daily to smaller cities."

Pacific Air Lines, Inc. filed an application last January to cut its service to Santa Rosa and Crescent from two to one round trip daily. This application still is awaiting a decision by the CAB.

The CAB program announced by President John F. Kennedy, provides for a minimum of two daily round trips between practically every city in the feeder airline system and a major traffic center. It would go into effect next January providing it runs into no major objections.

Pending its final adoption, CAB congressional relations director John W. Dregge said it was "a fair assumption that the board is conscious of what it proposed" and he would expect the board to be "very cautious about granting that permit to cut service to one trip daily."

Clausen also is forming a group of Congressmen into an informal committee to guide the progress and financing of a proposed "poor-man's" instrument landing system for use in cities whose size and airport operations cannot justify the cost of present instrument landing systems.

Clausen proposed such a system in the North Coast area to Najeeb Halaby, director of the Federal Aviation Agency, in March. Two "poorman's" instrument landing systems, costing less than half the $300,000 cost of present systems, now are being tested.

"The installation of adequate landing aids at Crescent City and Santa Rosa is the only guarantee for reliability of schedule and the subsequent maximum utilization of airline service," Clausen said. "Better facilities at these points will conribute to the improvement of service throughout the Redwood Empire," he said.

Error In Assessment Is Fixed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 135-million-dollar error in total assessed valuation for Los Angeles County has been corrected, dropping the tax basis to its lowest increase since 1950, County Auditor Roscoe Hollinger said today.

The final figure is $13,407,829,706, a rise of 385,860,441 over the $13,021,969,265 of last year.

The 2.96 per cent rise contrasts with increases of 5 to 7 per cent in the past decade, Hollinger said.

The part of the tax rolls under control of County Assessor Philip E. Watson amount to $12,208,021,196, after deductions were made for a 135-million-dollar computation error in which some assessments were duplicated.

Warehouse Burns In Redwood City

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — One of Redwood City's oldest downtown landmarks, a 70-foot freight storage depot beside the South Pacific tracks was destroyed by fire yesterday.

The almost empty building was owned by S.P., but was under lease to a freight company as a warehouse.

Tremor In Greece

PATRAS, Greece (AP) — A strong earth tremor shook this Peloponnesean city early today, throwing it into total darkness and sending residents and tournists panic-stricken into the streets.

Committee Will Meet

A meeting of the Citizens Committee Against Unification of the Tamalpais District as a Whole will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the library of the Adaline Kent School, College Avenue and Stadium Way, Kentfield.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

"My wife has an over-active thyroid gland that is making her nervous and shaky. She is becoming more irritable and complains of palpitation.

"Since she is only 26, our physician decided medicine might work but when we returned to his office he changed his mind when told she is pregnant. Now he wants to operate and we can't understand why this is necessary," writes M. F. This couple has a real problem but it can be solved.

Pregnancy complicates the hyperthyroidism picture because the unborn child must be taken into consideration. The three drugs employed most frequently in the medical treatment of this disease are propylthiouracil, tapazole, and itrumil.

They interfere with the manufacture of thyroid extract and I assume this woman's physician was going to prescribe one of these products. But they cannot be given during pregnancy because they also depress the thyroid gland of the fetus, which might cause cretinism.

THE USE OF radioactive iodine (I131) also is unwise even though it is an excellent remedy for overactive thyroid. It is taboo in women under 30 years of age because of the chance that it might lead to a malignancy in the decades to come. In addition it reaches the unborn baby and might destroy his thyroid gland.

Surgery is the lesser of two evils and is recommended usually when the diagnosis of hyperthyroidism is made within the first four months of pregnancy. Ordinary iodine (Lugol's solution) is given for a few days, followed by thyroidectomy. This procedure can be done safely during pregnancy.

REMOVAL of the gland has an adverse effect on development of the baby's thyroid unless the mother takes desiccated thyroid or thyroxin daily throughout pregnancy. The child picks up this thyroid and develops in a normal way.

The exception to this plan is the development of hyperthyroidism late in pregnancy. Lugol's solution can be used when the disease is mild and propylthiouracil if it is severe. But the baby is protected, when thyroid extract is taken concomitantly.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

CONVULSIONS

R. F. writes: What disorders, other than epilepsy, are associated with convulsions?

REPLY

Among the conditions that may lead to convulsions are various infections, tumors, and blood vessel disorders of the brain. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on convulsions.

HEROIN OUTLAWED

J. P. writes: Is the notorious drug, heroin, ever used legally by physicians or hospitals?

REPLY

No, even though it is a more potent pain killer than morphine. The manufacture and sale of heroin has been outlawed in this country because it is likely to produce serious addiction.

RESTLESSNESS HINT

Mrs. P. H. writes: I find some of your health hints tantalizing — for instance, "Restlessness can kill." I must know more.

REPLY

Restlessness is damaging if it raises blood pressure, leads to peptic ulcer, or interferes with appetite and sleep.

HEART HELPERS

E. C. writes: Does medicine help an enlarged heart?

REPLY

Yes. Drugs that lower blood pressure, for example, may reduce the size of the heart. Digitalis and diuretics are useful when dropsy ensues due to enlargement of the organ.

Today's Health Hint—Avoid overmedication.

Tuberculosis Increasing In Marin

Despite the impression that tuberculosis is on the decline, more Marin residents had the disease in 1962 than in 1961.

The increase, five more cases last year than in 1961, is not statistically important. But it does indicate, said Dr. Richard S. Hahn of San Rafael, that the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. is short of its goal, "complete erradication" of the disease.

"There is still a large reservoir of active tuberculosis," said Hahn, who is president of the TB association. "We are considerably short of the national average of TB cases. We're proud of that, but nothing short of complete erradication is satisfactory.

"The concept of a haggard, consumptive, coughing individual with TB doesn't hold up anymore. The normal person with TB now who doesn't know about it looks perfectly healthy. He is working and feels completely well; maybe he's a little tired and a few pounds in weight, but who doesn't have these symptons, especially if he smokes a lot? The average patient is astonished when the doctor says he has tuberculosis.

"That's why x-rays and skin tests are so important to detecting TB. An early diagnosis on a broad enough scale can decidely lower the percentage of cases by protecting others from exposure."

The increase in reported cases in Marin, from 19 in 1960 to 21 in 1961 and 26 last year is partly due to an increase in population, Hahn said. But the case rate per million persons is up from 13.4 in 1961 to 15.6 in 1962.

"The more astute and perceptive we can make our psysicians and public, the more cases we'll find," said Hahn in explanation.

Of the TB cases reported in the county last year, 20 were men and six were women. Three cases in the primary stage of the disease were also reported in three children six and under. Among both men and women, most of the reported cases occurred in persons 30 through 60 years old. The oldest patient was an 85-year-old woman, the youngest a 27-year-old man, reported Dr. Mary Jo Tonelli, assistant county health officer. "More men have the disease," she said, "because they're exposed more often than women to others with it."

The TB association, reported Hahn, spent $35,582 from March, 1961, to March, 1962, for detection, education and research on tuberculosis.

In May, 1962, the County Health Department and Marin General Hospital took over financing part of the x-ray detection program, freeing $7,000 of the association's money to begin a TB skin test for Marin school children.

A total of 1,002 pupils in the first and ninth grades of San Rafael schools were tested in February this year.

Eleven of those children were "positive reactors. None had TB, but all had active TB germs in their body and must be tested frequently to make sure they don't come down with the disease.

The association, which is financed chiefly through Christmas seal donations, expects to expand the student testing program to two high schools in Marin.

The association also offers aid to TB patients at Ross General Hospital and has planned symposiums for doctors and nurses on the disease.

More than 275 volunteer workers spent 4,000 hours working for the association.

Old Bellwethers Fooling Experts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Half way through the traditionally dull third quarter of the year the course of business and industry again is fooling the experts. The latest figures show that the economy continues to zig when by the rules it should have zagged.

In July steel and auto output both dropped. By the textbooks this should have dragged the Federal Reserve Board's industrial production index down. It didn't. The index rose to a record high. Other kinds of industrial activity were just too strong for the old-time bellwethers to lead to the downward path.

Employment, especially in manufacturing, was unusually good this summer, when a large seasonal decline was expected. Better than ordinary gains for the time of year were reported in services, trades and construction. The rise matched the increase in the labor force.

So the output of goods (other than basic steel and autos) was too good and prospects for sales too bright for the decline in the economy that had been feared with the advent of hot weather and mass vacations.

Steel making fell off because customers were still using up out-size inventories stacked high when a new labor contract was being hammered out.

Auto activity started its seasonal slowdown while production lines were being set up for new models.

Auto production should climb again shortly. Steel activity is expected to quicken in another month or so.

Meantime, the rest of the economy is strong enough to shine without them. Output of most consumer goods, other than autos, has increased. So has production of business equipment.

The goods continue to move into the hands of consumers.

In the last four weeks department store sales have increased in every one of the 12 federal reserve districts (ranging from a gain of 1 per cent in the Richmond district to 12 per cent in New York). Retail sales in general are ahead of last year in all classifications except apparel. Back-to-school promotions, now starting, should perk up clothing sales.

Personal income has held to a fairly steady upward trend. While individual savings totals have swelled, so have consumer expenditures. Outstanding installment debt is at a record high, indicating both consumer confidence in future incomes and business confidence in consumer ability to keep up with the payments. Many corporations have reported record earnings.

Home building continues at a high rate. Commercial construction has slackened but industrial building shows signs of quickening. Outlays for public projects run ahead of a year ago.

All of this has led the nation's official crystal gazers to upgrade earlier predictions.

They are now foreseeing a record national output of goods and services this year of $580 billion or better. The annual rate of this gross national product in the first three months was $572 billion. This rose to $579 billion in the April-May-June period. Some think the pace may hit $590 billion in the final three months of the year.

Already the better-than expected performance of the economy has paid off for the U.S. Treasury. Tax collections have been higher than first hoped. The estimate of the treasury deficit has been trimmed.

The economy isn't as strong as many would like. But it's a lot healthier than some viewers-with-alarm were predicting.

Clausen Sees Better Northern Air Service

Airline service to Santa Rosa and Crescent City will be "strengthened" by a new airline subsidy reduction program announced by the Civil Aeronautics Board, Rep. Don Clausen (R-Crescent City) said today.

"Not only will this proposed new program cut airline subsidies by 75 million dollars in the next five years, it will strengthen the position of smaller cities which have two to four round trips daily. The savings will be made in areas where there are more than seven round trips per day," Clausen said.

He said "the proposed new program also will tend to guarantee two round trips daily to smaller cities."

Pacific Air Lines, Inc. filed an application last January to cut its service to Santa Rosa and Crescent from two to one round trip daily. This application still is awaiting a decision by the CAB.

The CAB program announced by President John F. Kennedy, provides for a minimum of two daily round trips between practically every city in the feeder airline system and a major traffic center. It would go into effect next January providing it runs into no major objections.

Pending its final adoption, CAB congressional relations director John W. Dregge said it was "a fair assumption that the board is conscious of what it proposed" and he would expect the board to be "very cautious about granting that permit to cut service to one trip daily."

Clausen also is forming a group of Congressmen into an informal committee to guide the progress and financing of a proposed "poor-man's" instrument landing system for use in cities whose size and airport operations cannot justify the cost of present instrument landing systems.

Clausen proposed such a system in the North Coast area to Najeeb Halaby, director of the Federal Aviation Agency, in March. Two "poorman's" instrument landing systems, costing less than half the $300,000 cost of present systems, now are being tested.

"The installation of adequate landing aids at Crescent City and Santa Rosa is the only guarantee for reliability of schedule and the subsequent maximum utilization of airline service," Clausen said. "Better facilities at these points will conribute to the improvement of service throughout the Redwood Empire," he said.

Error In Assessment Is Fixed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 135-million-dollar error in total assessed valuation for Los Angeles County has been corrected, dropping the tax basis to its lowest increase since 1950, County Auditor Roscoe Hollinger said today.

The final figure is $13,407,829,706, a rise of 385,860,441 over the $13,021,969,265 of last year.

The 2.96 per cent rise contrasts with increases of 5 to 7 per cent in the past decade, Hollinger said.

The part of the tax rolls under control of County Assessor Philip E. Watson amount to $12,208,021,196, after deductions were made for a 135-million-dollar computation error in which some assessments were duplicated.

Warehouse Burns In Redwood City

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — One of Redwood City's oldest downtown landmarks, a 70-foot freight storage depot beside the South Pacific tracks was destroyed by fire yesterday.

The almost empty building was owned by S.P., but was under lease to a freight company as a warehouse.

Tremor In Greece

PATRAS, Greece (AP) — A strong earth tremor shook this Peloponnesean city early today, throwing it into total darkness and sending residents and tournists panic-stricken into the streets.

Committee Will Meet

A meeting of the Citizens Committee Against Unification of the Tamalpais District as a Whole will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the library of the Adaline Kent School, College Avenue and Stadium Way, Kentfield.

200 Entries For Club Horse Show

More than 200 entries have been received for the fourth annual Ross Valley Kiwanis Horse Show to be held at Sleepy Hollow Stables Saturday and Sunday at 9 a.m.

Participants are from California, Nevada, Oregon and Washington. The event usually draws 500 horses and riders who compete for 30 trophies and 180 ribbons.

Last year, about $2,000 was raised by the Kiwanis. The money is used for scholarships, summer camps and donations to charitable organizations.

Events on Saturday will include 14 English classes. On Sunday 15 Western events will be held.

Women Round Table Members Approved

Two Marin County women have been approved for membership in the Women Leaders Round Table of the National Association of Life Underwriters, an organization recognizing the achievements of women agents in the life insurance business.

Members from Marin County are Mrs. Louise Lamb, Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, 495 Chapman Drive, Corte Madera, and Miss Marilyn Miller, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., 4144 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

Sausalito 'Workreation' Under Way

Five youths carrying rakes, paper jobbers and debris sacks started Sausalito's first summer teen-age "workreation" program yesterday.

The crew cleared the litter from a bank near the entrance to the Army Engineers San Francisco Bay model.

City Manager Charles A. Brown said the teen-agers will be working for the next two weeks, weeding parks and walkways and perhaps, painting guard rails.

The youths will receive $1 an hour and the youth foreman $1.25 an hour, working from four to six hours per day.

The city council authorized $350 for the program, similar to a youth work project in Mill Valley.

Brown said he hopes that the program will be established next year at budget time.

26 Foreign Students For Marin College

The freshmen are:

Jacques de la Croix, from France, who attended Novato High School under the American Field Service program and will major in architecture; Yuji Imada, architecture major, Noriko Kano, history, and Yasumasa Yoshida, business, all from Japan; Ralph Leonard Joeck, pre-dentistry, and Carsten Kristensen, science, both of Canada;

Buon Hee Kang, economics and science, Korea; Parvis Labib, chemical engineering, Iran; Edward Mark Lijooki, teaching, and Arthur W. Maindi, social science, both of Kenya;

Juan Gabriel Ospina, economics, Colombia; Chiu-Lim Paan, pre-medicine, Hong Kong; Vladana Maria Prazak, liberal arts, born in Czechoslovakia but now from Peru; and Ananta Ratanaphichetchai, engineering, Thailand.

Boiler Repairs To Be Sought

The Larkspur School District board will be asked to approve repairs to the boiler at Larkspur-Corte Madera School at a 7:30 p.m. meeting today in district headquarters, 20 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

The board wil be asked to approve the recent completion of six new rooms at Neil Cummins School and two rooms at San Clemente School, Corte Madera. Hiring of three new teachers will be recommended.

Principal Robert Johnson of San Clemente School will represent Supt. Milton S. Cohen, absent on vacation.

Sausalito Taxi Rate Increase To Be Sought

Sausalito city councilmen will hear a request at their meeting at 8 p.m. today asking that the minimum 50-cent taxi rate be raised a dime and a request that Sausalito taxi service be permitted to install meters in taxis. Requests are from Mrs. Hazel Thomas, firm owner.

Also on the agenda is a planning commission recommendation for approval of a use permit for Franklin Anderson to permit him to sell garden supplies on a portion of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad freight station yard at Bridgeway and Litho Street.

San Rafael Officers Attending Course

Lt. Cmdr. Freeland E. Romans of 138 Chula Vista Drive, San Rafael, a member of the Navy Ready Reserve, is attending a two-week course in oceanography at the Naval Oceanographic office in Washington, D.C.

Firemen's Ball Set Friday For Belvedere

The 14th annual Belvedere Firemen's Ball has been set Friday at the Corinthian Yacht Club, according to Jerry Gillin, general chairman. Dancing will be from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. and the traditional midnight supper will be the highlight of the evening.

"All residents of Belvedere have been sent invitations, but it is not necessary to attend in order to make a financial contribution," Gillin said. "Naturally we shall be happy to accept a check supporting the all volunteer department." Tickets will be available at the door.

Proceeds from the annual dance are used to support the social and community projects of the department, such as the annual beer bust for all Belvedere men and the annual root beer bust held for the children during Fire Prevention Week. Last year, according to Gillin, the money was used to help refurnish the expanded fire house facilities and purchase a movie projector. A contribution was also made to the Tiburon Peninsula Little League.

College Of Marin Alumni Dinner, Dance Sept. 14

Invitations to a College of Marin alumni dinner and dance to be held Sept. 14 at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael, have been mailed to 2,000 former students, W. W. Van Winkle, chairman of the organizing committee, announced today.

Kaehler-Farrar Building Slabs Going On Face Of Structure Soon

"Sidewalk superintendents" who may have been unemployed lately because they couldn't follow the inside progress at the Kaehler-Farrar Building, Fourth and C Streets, San Rafael, should report for work again this week.

Four-ton concrete slabs are being moved into place on the face of the building. Since 168 of them have to be erected, neck-craners should have an (un)comfortable period of employment. It's their last chance to supervise a big construction phase here, according to Reuben. W. Kaehler, president of the development firm. The job is expected to be finished by next weekend.

The pre-stressed slabs of white concrete with river-washed rock exposed aggregate are being swung directly into place from trucks as they arrive from a Petaluma casting yard. Some street traffic—at least on C Street — will be partially blocked during the operation.

After the facing, remaining operations on the building include partition walls, acoustical ceiling and laying terrazzo floors. Exterior plate glass, tinted gray and glare resistant, should be in place by the end of the month, Kaehler says. By the middle of November the building should be ready for tenants.

Not seen from the street level but under construction on the roof is the 3,000-square-foot penthouse which will be the new home of attorneys Pendergrass and McKenney. Another tenant of the building will be a local office of the FBI.

THE MARKEY CORP., a new Marin firm organized to buy businesses, build them up and sell them, has filed incorporation papers in Sacramento. J. Robert Norberg, and Marguerite J. Norberg, 1340 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, are the principals. No location for offices has been chosen.

ALONG THIS LINE, many small businesses fail because of poor management, according to J. H. Feller and Associates, management consultant firm recently opened at 20 H Street, San Rafael. Feller splits its consultation service between small businesses and medical and dental practices.

AND WE NOTICE that Bank of America's latest issue of the Small Business Reporter deals with bars and cocktail lounges. Anyone already in this line or contemplating entering it should give it some study. Copies available at Bank of America offices.

DOUGLAS LITSTER of Sausalito has been appointed general manager of the Marin Apartment Owners Assn., with general offices at 1800 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

GOLDEN GATE CHAPTER of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers will have its annual Marin County meeting at Dominic's, 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 11.

Assemblyman William Bagley will be the speaker. He will review highlights of 1963 legislation pertaining to real property appraisals and condemnation proceedings.

Also on the agenda is a planning commission recommendation for approval of a use permit for Franklin Anderson to permit him to sell garden supplies on a portion of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad freight station yard at Bridgeway and Litho Street.

San Rafael Officers Attending Course

Invitations to a College of Marin alumni dinner and dance to be held Sept. 14 at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael, have been mailed to 2,000 former students, W. W. Van Winkle, chairman of the organizing committee, announced today.

Reservations may be obtained from the dean of students office. A constitution and bylaws will be presented at the event.
